MARKHAM COUNCIL PAYS THRESHER

F. Stephenson's Outfit Went Thru Brown's Corners Bridge and Was Damaged

GRANT TO RED CROSS

Municipality Will Pay Over Sum of Three Thousand Dollars Next Month

Markham Township Council held a special session yesterday in the Village of Unionville. Steve Nigh presided, with all the members present.

A communication was received from the British Red Cross Society stating that in view of the fact that the committee were only temporarily in charge, the amount of $3000 voted by council would require to be paid in full by January 15. The generally understood idea of council was to pay over the grant, $1000 in instalments of $100 each. In instructions were given the treasurer to pay the $3000 on the date specified.

Thresher Gets Damaged. F. Stephenson, who two months ago, while driving his traction engine and separator over the Brown's Corners bridge on the fourth concession broke thru, damaging his machine, but not the bridge, for $100, and was allowed $75 by council. Subsequent to the accident a contract was entered into by council with the firm of Brownlee & Atkinson of Unionville, for the building of new concrete bridge at a cost of $945. The job has been completed and accepted by council.

A large number of accounts were presented for payment. Beeve Nigh, who as present also occupies the position of warden, is retiring from active municipal life. The present deputy, Geo. B. Fudge, will contest the reevehip and Councilor Rescor is also known as likely to be a candidate for the highest office in the city of the township.

WILL DEMAND SHELTER AT ST. CLAIR AVENUE

Bariscount Ratepayers Are to Press Matter Before the City Council.

Owing to the near approach of winter weather and the utter lack of shelter accommodation at the junction of the Toronto Street Railway, particularly in connection with the travelling public of the northwestern section of the city. Requested applications to the city council have been made, but without avail, by several ratepayers' associations in the district from time to time, requesting the erection of a shelter to protect the waiting passengers, particularly women and children, from the cold and damp weather. The cost of such a shelter, and the expense of its maintenance, is a matter which has been discussed in the past, but it is not deemed worthy of consideration by the organization.

STOUFFVILLE MISSES ITS CHRISTMAS FAIR

Other Demands for Contributions Make it Impossible to Collect Prize List.

STOUFFVILLE, Nov. 29.—The ladies of Christ Church intend holding their annual bazaar on Thursday afternoon and evening, Dec. 2. In the afternoon a sale of home-made cookies, candy, and sewing with fish pond for the young folks; and in the evening the Rev. Canon Morley will give two lantern lectures, "Subjects: Fire and Sword in Belgium," and "The British Navy."

Stouffville will not hold the annual Christmas Fair this year owing to a difficulty in procuring a first-class prize list, as many of the contributors have subscribed liberally to the Patriotic Fund. The usual Christmas market will be held.

LONG BRANCH SCHOOL'S NEW BUILDING STARTED

Will Cost Twenty-six Thousand, and Site Cost Ten Thousand.

The big new $36,000 public school at Long Branch is now fairly under way. The building will cost $26,000, and $10,000 will be spent on the site, which occupies more than two acres.

PASTOR WILL REMAIN

Rev. W. A. McTaggart, pastor of Wyckwood Presbyterian Church, Wyckwood and St. Clair avenues, has decided to remain with his present parish at the urgent request of his congregation. Mr. McTaggart has a substantial increase in salary. Rev. W. A. McTaggart was Church, Woodstock, of which Rev. R. B. Cochrane was the former pastor.

REJECTED CHURCH UNION

By a vote of 120 to 30, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church members and adherents in Newmarket last night rejected the proposed basis of church union. The opposition to union is more pronounced, and the vote recorded is said to be considerably larger than when taken three or four years ago.

MAPLE LEAF FAIR

Everyone should visit the Maple Leaf Fair and Luncheon in the Bond Building on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week from 2.30 p.m. to 10.30 p.m. Funds are in aid of Red Cross and other patriotic charities.

FREE ACCESS SOON TO C. P. R. SUBWAY

Last Obstruction at North Yonge Street to Be Removed Today or Tomorrow.

The 20,000 pedestrians who daily pass to and fro thru the new C.P.R. subway at North Toronto, as well as those interested in vehicle traffic, will learn with pleasure that the last obstruction to free access will be removed today or tomorrow.

Chief Engineer Ripley said last night that the subway is practically finished, and that it would not be long before the company's right of way to the east of the subway would be paved and ready to drive upon.

This section will not be required for some time yet, however, the big C.P.R. and C.N.R. Union Station being a long way from completion. Some delay has occurred in the delivery of the steel from the Bethlehem works, but outside of this everything is moving along nicely.

The chief engineer has stated on two or three occasions that the roof would be on the new station by Christmas Day, and last night he reiterated it. From 15 to 20 feet of the walls yet remain to be built, and this will be completed by the end of the month. The tower will be 150 feet high, the most outstanding point in all the northern part of the city. But this will go on later, and may not be started before spring.

The entire bridge area will have an umbrella cover built of steel, and this work will be carried on during the winter and spring. It is a big contract, and will take a lot of time. Just when the new station will be thrown open to the travelling public of 1916 ought to be known, but Dominion Day of 1916 ought to see everything in good running order.

YOUNG PEOPLE ENTERTAIN

WONDERFUL ACTING IN "CARMEN" PICTURES

Geraldine Farrar Scores as Decided Success on Screen as She Did in Africa.

Had Geraldine Farrar never become celebrated as an operatic singer she would have been known to fame as one of the world's greatest actresses. In the pictureization of Carmen which was produced for the first time in Toronto at Massey Hall yesterday she has scored a notable success as a moving picture artist.

Her playing of the part of the voluptuous charming girl of the moulin, who for whose love men steal and commit murder, is a revelation of power and subtle delineation. From the time that she decides to help the young officer who stands in their way to the climax, when she falls into his hands, with the exclamation "you have killed me, Jose, but I am still free," she is the incomparable Farrar. Her characterization is carried out with unfettered freedom and grace, the Carmen whose love is her own, readily given and as readily refused.

The picture introduces a great arena in which an infuriated bull fights for life with the daring Escamillo, while the victor is receiving the plaudits and bouquets of the vast concourse outside the gates his beautiful Carmen is dying in the arms of Don Jose, who was determined she would never fall dead by his own hand over her prostrated body at the time when Escamillo comes for her to share in his triumph. In this scene Miss Farrar reaches the height of her art; by her portrayal of the woman who faced death rather than be bound by love.

From beginning to end she occupies the centre of the screen, and when she lent in some one's arms about to be kissed she is in a mix-up in a tavern or a factory. Her "brav" with one of the cigar makers is realistic. When this scene was produced before the Philadelphia censors it created some what of a sensation. In the confusion of the general encounter the clothes of the combatants get less as the fight proceeds, but just when one expects the startling scene is changed. The great prima donna is well supported and the whole is real vivid acting.

The following telegram was received yesterday by the Famous Players Film Company from Samuel Goldfish, general manager of the Jesse L. Lasky Company, New York:

"Geraldine Farrar has no interest in Carmen, nor does she receive royalties from her picture. Her services were paid for when she appeared in picture. That ended her interest in same."

"FOR THE LOVE OF MIKE" AN AMUSING PLAYLET

Sketch is Ably Presented by James Kennedy and Company at Hippodrome.

"For the Love of Mike" is the title of an amusing playlet which won the approval of large audiences that attended Shea's Hippodrome yesterday afternoon and evening. The piece, which was ably given by James Kennedy and company, showed the efforts of an unprincipled scoundrel to obtain the property of an orphan girl, but was frustrated by a quick-witted Irishman, who played a humorous role and evoked roars of laughter.

The Exposition Jubilee Four were a quartet of colored entertainers, and rarely have such excellent singers been heard in the popular theatre. Two girls and a man, the Leach Quinlan Trio, performed remarkable feats, the latter manoeuvring on a tight rope suspended from the girls' teeth. The scenic dancing and droll stories were the feature of Swan and O'Day's act, which registered a hit. Broughton and Turner appeared in a skit, "Just Landed," and Ball and Wall were singers and dancers of merit. Another installment of "Neal of the Navy," and a film version of "Jane Eyre" completed a good bill.

BRIGHT MUSICAL COMEDY FEATURED AT LOEW'S

Miniature Review Heads a Variety Offering of Uniform Excellence.

The Miniature Revue, one of the brightest juvenile musical comedy sketches of the Marcus Leow Circuit, heads the bill at Loew's Yonge Street Theatre this week. The performance takes the form of a revue, in which several American vaudeville stars are mimicked by different members of the company of 17. For over an hour and a half a capacity audience was kept in good humor by the good singing and eccentric dancing.

The remainder of the bill is far above the average. Emmett and Hugh have a finished act in ventriloquism. Roger and Wood, "The Buster Brown Girls," have a lively singing and dancing act. The Kilkenny Four are dispensers of Irish humor and sing several old Irish melodies. Fort and Delaney, singers; Freddy James, burlesque juggler, and the movies round out the bill.

VIOLATED SMOKE BYLAW.

In the police court yesterday Magistrate Kingsford convicted John Price & Co., brick manufacturers, Greenwood avenue, on a charge of violating the smoke bylaw and imposed a fine of $25 and costs.

"I understood that the charge was withdrawn," said Mr. Price. "I understood that the property commissioner ordered it withdrawn."

"That's a deliberate attempt to evade the law," said the magistrate. "Well, that's not justice," returned Mr. Price. "If you say that again I will make the fine $50," said Mr. Kingsford.

Declares H Treated Not Onl But Run

A sudden and unannounced visit yesterday evening to the residence of Ald. McBride, who has not been for some time in the city, was made by the Hon. J. D. Spence, who, not altogether without cause, with little but a compliment.

The protest to the dinner, Warren from his motion picture, for the purpose of pointing a fire coat to the same taken a year ago.

Following the fore the meeting, the Hon. J. D. Spence, who was evidently far from satisfied with the Ald. McBride motion, offered to give an address on the subject of the Patriotic League, which was accepted by the Ald. McBride.
