

FIRST WARD LIBERALS RESOLUTELY CHEERFUL

Party Stronger in East Toronto Than Formerly, Thinks President Strath.

The Liberals of the first ward are in the midst of another election, but it is a very quiet, very peaceful one, and will probably end without disaster.

The meeting last night was a disappointing one; the election comes in two weeks from now. Most of the offices were fixed up last night but because some of the nominees persisted in keeping their names on the lists, a few will have to be voted on.

George Strath retains the office of president. Mr. Strath was not sure that he would be the city to direct his terms, that depending upon business arrangements. He really believed that the result of the last poll indicated that Liberalism was growing stronger in East Toronto.

The two positions of vice-president brought forward many applicants. The choices will be between Bruce Ross, James Blackburn, P. McInnes, G. W. Gibb, John Lee and A. A. Lee.

The meeting then resolved itself into a wake. Several speakers got up and said how sorry they were, and told how it all happened and tried to explain it. They all blamed the Conservatives for the defeat.

Top o' th' World At Princess

"The Top o' th' World," which opened at the Princess Theatre last night, lived up to expectations from the first to the last and it was a colossal laugh.

"As a farce 'The Top o' th' World' is a musical extravaganza." Many shows are called musical extravaganza, but this is really the best of the kind.

The cast is decidedly clever. Rae Bates as 'Maida' and Edith Ricketts as 'Kokomo' shared the honors on the feminine side. Fred J. Bailey as 'Jack-in-the-Box' and Ralph Austin as 'The Candy Kid' were the heroes on the masculine side.

The two comedians, Bailey and Austin, played their parts to the full satisfaction of all concerned. Other players deserving praise are Mr. Garry, who sang well; Wm. J. Doyle, who, by the way, is a Belleville man and well-known here; Francis Carter and Fred Wilson.

The plot of the scene was exceptionally good, some one of act two, in fact, a triumph. Several ladies shivered and looked for their wraps when the curtain disclosed the scene.

The singing was an act and like a delightful riot. It was all delightful. The chair officer was most appreciated.

NEEDED HIS PRAYERS. One of the stories told by Mr. Spencer Leigh Hughes in his speech in the house in common to the other night tickled everybody. It is the story of the small boy who was watching the speaker's procession as it wended its way thru the lobby. First came the speaker, and then the house, and then the other officers.

"Who, father, is that gentleman?" said the small boy, pointing to the chaplain. "That," said the father, "is the chaplain of the house."

"Does he pray for the members?" asked the boy. "Then thought a minute, and then said: 'No, my son; when he goes into the house he looks around and sees the members sitting there and then he prays for the country.'—Cardiff Mail.

Bureau by Nine Votes. THREE RIVERS, Que., Oct. 5.—The judicial election recently completed today gives Hon. Jacques Bueau a majority of nine over Mayor Normand. There were numerous evidences of minor irregularities. The chief of these was at St. Barthelemy, where 116 ballots were marked with pen and ink, instead of with pencil. All these were cast aside by Judge Tourigny; 63 of them were marked for Normand and 53 for Bueau.

J. F. Fraser Found Dead. The body of J. F. Fraser, formerly commissioner of lights in the marine department and who lost his position as a result of Cassels' enquiry, was found this afternoon in Rockfield Park. The dead man was lying on his back and over his right eye was a wound, which had been struck by a rock. He had evidently been lying in that position for at least two days. From his position, it would be almost impossible for him to have fallen and sustained the wound in that manner. He must either have taken his own life or been the victim of assault. A curious circumstance in connection with the tragedy is that the chief of police received an anonymous note describing where the body of a man would be found. He did not take any action, but a reporter did, with the result that the body was located in the spot described in the letter. Fraser had been missing since Monday.

The body of Charles Lavigne, a stone-cutter, who had out his throat from his car, was also found in Rockfield Park.
