Use Discretion in Investing Money

The cheapest stocks are rarely the best paying investments Every share sold at a discount has to make good the discount before it can pay a dividend.

Dividend paying stocks or stocks most likely to pay a dividend are the most reliable and remunerative and most satisfactory to the investor. Therefore the higher the price at which the steck is issued by the company the less percentage of profit it has to make good before paying dividends.

Buy at a reasonable price and look for GOOD RETURNS.
