

All Schools

... Are Not Alike

Schools of the same class differ in reputation, in influence, and in results produced, just as they differ from schools with entirely different courses of study. You admit this! Then why not attend the Forest City Business and Shorthand College, London, Ont., and get the best of everything? You will take a course of this kind but once.

RESCUED FOUR BOYS.

Hamilton, Aug. 3. — While fishing near Mazill's Island, W. Anstey and Logie Kappele noticed a rowboat upset off Huckleberry Point. They made at once for the scene of the accident, and were in time to rescue four Shackville boys, who were clinging to the upturned boat, and what might have been an other drowning accident was averted by the energy and promptness of the rescuers.

A Rodney correspondent writes: It is expected that running arrangements will be made between the L. E. and D.
R. R. and M. C. R., whereby the former will run over the Canada Southern from Ridgeway to St. Thomas, in which case the M. C. R. will double-track from Dutton to Ridgeway. But such an arrangement will not be satisfactory to the people between these points.

of Port Huron, retired from the position of supreme record keeper of the Knights of the Maccabees, and George J. Siegle, of Buffalo, N. Y., took formal chief clerk in the record keeper's office is to be abolished for the present, Mr.

Siegle intending to personally look after the affairs of his department. The STORY OF A CAVE.

It is reported that a cave has been discovered on Mr. J. Pocock's property, opposite Springbank. Some boys found what they supposed to be a ground-hog's hole. They began to dig the ground-hog out, and stumbled on a cave. Leading from the entrance is a tortuous passage of some 50 feet in length, which widens out into a hall of considerable size, in which is a large sheet of water. On the right side of the hall is another passage, but how far it extends has not yet been ascertained. Such is the unverified report.

VOYAGE OF THE NANCY

Rescued Two People From Drowning and Was Deserted By Part of Her Crew.

The Nancy, Dr. Hutchinson's sailing yacht, had a very eventful cruise on Sunday last, when she took a party of Londoners on a trip to Port Burwell from Port Stanley.

The excitement of the journey started soon after the boat left the Port Stanley lighthouse, when a small rowboat, containing two youths named Thorn and Stanton, of the Port, was seen to capsize. Capt. Hal Hutchinson ordered two of the crew away in the "dingy" to the rescue. When the rowboat was reached its erstwhile occupants were seated aside of the upturned craft in a wet and forlorn condition. They were taken aboard the dingy and their boat righted, and the work of towing it into the harbor commenced, when to the satisfaction of all concerned the lifeboat was seen approaching. A transfer was quickly made, and the original rescuers made for their yacht, which was quickly tacked around and brought up to the wind by her skipper.

The rest of the voyage to Port Burwell was a fast and pleasant sail, and after a hearty dinner the party started back. A heavy sea had come up the wind was dead ahead, and after a hard effort to reach Port Stanley it was decided to put back to Port Burwell until the wind and sea went down.
It was this attempt to tow the dingy couple of the party to come to the conclusion that yachting was not always pleasant, and that it would be safer and pleasanter to trust to their legs rather than to the fickle wind and a frail boat in a rough sea. It was a case of "Mr. Captain, stop the ship. I want to get out and walk."

And walk they did. It was 25 miles to Port Stanley, but the ground was nice and solid underfoot. After the dead tramped thirteen miles of the 25 their courage rose, or they got tired, and, happening on a friendly fishing-tug, they again ventured on the vasty deep and made the last twelve miles of their nocturnal journey with comfort of body and some little trepidation of soul. Those of the party who stood by the Nancy remained overnight in Port Burwell, and had an uneventful sail back to Port Stanley in the morning.

THE GROWTH OF LONDON

Necessitates an Extension of the Fire Limits—Meeting of No. 3 Committee.

No. 3 committee decided last night that there should be an extension of the fire limits in the city. Since the present boundaries were fixed the outlying portions of the city have been greatly built up, and the step is necessary to protect property by suiting new territory to severer regulations. Chief Roe, a City Engineer Graydon will report.

A request for an electric light at the corner of Wilson Avenue and Alexander street was filed.

Ald. Malloch criticised the market clerk for allowing fruit dealers to sell their fruit any place on the market other than that set out by the committee as a fruit market. Mr. Wilson was making fish of one and flesh of another. Ald. Malloch said, and that there was no use of the committee doing anything. He (the market clerk) would do just as he pleased, anyway.
Mr. Wilson said the place set out as a fruit market was a ditch.

Mr. George Sippl, whose wheel was smashed while he bravely saved a little girl from being run over by the fire wagon, will be paid the cost of repairing the bicycle. All the members were present.

Mr. Wm. Higgins, baker, Wrex-

Rheum on my foot right from the

I could hear of, but they all failed and the itching got so intense I could not stand it. I must have spent $200 in trying to get cured.
"Hearing of Dr. Chase's Ointment, I began to use it, and am now as sound as ever in my life. My foot is perfectly clear of sores and itching. I really can't say enough in favor of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and am ready to answer any correspondence regarding my cure. I am an old settler, well known here, and recommend this remedy to all suffering in the same way."
