WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 26. The newly-organized Independent The newly-organized Independent cal-Democratic party in Germany cial-Democratic party in Germany has become almost as strong as the Government Socialists, according to information reaching Government officials here today from Germany. The new independent party was founded last April, during what is known as the Gotha conference, and is represented as now having 120,000 members. The Government Socialist party had over a million members when the war began, but this has dwindled to less than 200,-000 members, and it is between the latter and the Berlin Government that serious difficulties are reported to have arisen as a result of the circumstances under which the armistice was con-cluded between Germany and the Max-imalists of Russia.
