THE SILVER CROSS FOR SOLDIERS' MOTHERS
(Toronto Star)
A number of correspondents have written letters to The Star endorsing the suggestion made by Mr. Fraser that a silver cross be awarded by the government to every Canadian mother who loses a son in the war. But several of these correspondents have suggested that the award should be made to the wives as well as the mothers of the fallen.
This idea was not overlooked by Mr.
Fraser before making his proposal public, and in a letter to The Star he explains why he adheres to the belief that the silver cross should be exclusively awarded to the mothers of sons lost in the war. Mr. Fraser says:
"Motherhood is the holiest thing pretaining to man; it is the most sacred; it is the mainspring of existence. God commanded: 'Honor thy father and thy mother,' then He gave that sacred promise: 'That thy days may be long in the land.' And so it is of nations. The days are numbered for a nation that does not serve and place above all things its motherhood.
"The Spartans were a brave people.
To foster fortitude and bravery, they destroyed the higher attributes of motherhood, the guardianship of the child, and the result was that Sparta never produced one great man—never a Themistocles, or a Pericles, nor beautiful monuments, nor did she contribute to art or literature. Even bravery in the field, as it is the most sacred, it is the mainspring of existence. God commanded: 'Honor thy father and thy mother,' then He gave that sacred promise: 'That thy days may be long in the
its motherhood.
