The lady was making comments on clothing worn by some other ladies at church.

"The finest garment a woman can wear," said her husband, "is the mantle of charity."

"Yes," she retorted, "and it is the only dress that some husbands want their wives to wear, judging by the fuss they make over the bills."

NOW! Safety First

Protect yourself on your supply of Soft Coal by letting us fill your bins with Broad Cove or Old Mine Sydney now.

The indications are that the prices on these coals will be considerably higher later, and it seems probable that it will be very difficult later in the season to obtain a supply of these coals at any price.

To have your own bin full is the only way to be sure of a supply.

The Old Mine Sydney we are getting now makes a splendid coal for cooking stoves as well as for grates, and it kindles easily and lasts a long time.

AUSTRIANS MOW DOWN COMRADES

Kill Their Own Men in Desperate Fighting Bridge

The Russians at Lipa

Correspondent Gives Details of Victory—German Prisoners Refuse to Believe News of British Advances

London, July 25.—In a despatch dated southwest front, July 16, a correspondent sends the London Times a description of the latest Russian victory, in which General Sakharoff's army captured 19,000 prisoners and advanced seven miles to the River Lipa. He says: "I reached the headquarters of a certain Siberian corps, about midnight on July 16, to find artillery preparation in full blast. By midnight ten breaches were made in the barbed wire, each approximately twenty paces broad and the attacks were ordered for three o'clock in the morning.

"Rising at 5 a. m., I accompanied the commander of the corps to his observation post on the ridge. The attacks had already swept away the resistance of the enemy's first line.

"Thousands of prisoners were in our hands, and the enemy was retreating rapidly. We moved forward and began to meet from the battlefield, first, the lightly wounded, then Austrian prisoners helping our heavily wounded.

"At quite an early hour the entire country was alive. Every department of the army was beginning to move forward. All roads were choked with ammunition, batteries, and transports following up our advancing troops, while the stream of returning caissons, wounded and prisoners equaled in volume the tide of advancing columns. The commander took up his position on the ridge which but a few hours before had been our advanced line. Thence the country could be observed for miles. Each road was positioned with moving troops, pushing forward on the heels of the enemy, whose field gun shells were bursting on the ridges.

"Just beyond here I met the commander of the division and his staff. Evidently the size of our group was discernible from some distant enemy observation post, for within five minutes came the howl of an approaching projectile, and a six-inch shell burst with terrific crash in a neighboring field. Its arrival, which was followed at regular intervals by others, was completely unnoticed by the general, whose interest was occupied with pressing his advance.

"Before and beneath us lay the abandoned line of the Austrian trenches separated from ours by a small stream, where since daylight the heroic engineers had been laboring under heavy shell fire to construct a bridge to enable our cavalry and guns to pass in pursuit. Our troops had forced the line here at 3 a. m., wading under machine gun fire, and in water and marsh above their waists, often to their arm pits.

"The bridge of the bridge was a horrible place, as it was congested with dead, dying and horribly wounded men, while as the ambulances came on the other side of the river, could not be moved. A number of German ambulance men were working furiously over their own and the Austrian wounded, many of whom, I think, must have been wounded by their own guns in an attempt to prevent the bridging of the stream. A more bloody scene I have not witnessed.

"I encountered about fifty captured Germans armed with about a dozen of them. Certainly none of them showed the smallest lack of morale or even depression. All seemed to feel as if their personal lot on this day had been unfortunate, and that the war would be won by the Germans shortly. When told of the British success, a single one was in the least moved. All laughed, stating they did not believe it.

"One officer said: 'Possibly the British have taken a single mile of line, but if they have we shall drive them back tomorrow, while the French are utterly beaten now, and we expect to take Verdun in a few days.'

"All of these men were attached to the Twenty-second Reserve Corps and came from Verdun two or three weeks ago. They describe the battle there as terrible, especially the French artillery fire.

"My own impression is that the Austrians simply are refusing to fight now, after the initial resistance, and surrender in blocks rather than risk being cut to pieces in retreat by the cavalry, which is rendering extraordinary service in all these movements. The fact that we captured two commanders of regiments, with one entire regimental staff, indicates that the officers are hardly more enthusiastic for war than the soldiers.

"One commander took command of his regiment only at noon, and was taken prisoner at daylight the following morning."

Naval Slang

A writer in the London Evening News gives some specimens of Navy slang: An officer may be a "pukka" officer or one of the "Hungry Hundred"—that is to say, a Royal Naval Reserve man who has been given a commission in the R. N. Or again, he may belong to the "Ragtime Navy," the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve. If he is in a torpedo boat he speaks of her as an "old wad"; if in a bigger ship she is either "a pake" or "a steamer." When ashore he hates "poodle-faking" or going out to afternoon teas, but he often takes his "cues" for a "drop" of golf. The officer who affects female society is a "bloke of the Flossies." He speaks of the crew as his "braves" or his "mate-lots." Anything that really pleases him is "Ormolu," and when he asks for "a good one" you must give him one of the cheapest brands of Virginia cigarettes.

To Equip Soldier For Civil Life

President of Montreal Khaki League Studying Methods in England—Make Each an Asset

CHAIRMAN'S ANSWER TO TAYLOR & SWEENEY

Fairville, N. B., July 22, 1916. To the Editor of the Times:—

Sir:—Permit me to make some remarks in regard to a letter from Messrs. Taylor & Sweeney, which appeared in the Times July 20. First—they say the assessors could give answers to questions about certain subdivisions. Do Messrs. Taylor & Sweeney expect the assessors to keep in their memories all particulars concerning these subdivisions?

We make up the assessor's book according to laws laid down, and it is filed in the County Secretary's office on the first of May in every year, and all information that is required is recorded in it, and the book is public property and can be seen at any time. They say it is a work with the assessors.

That subdivision Messrs. Taylor & Sweeney represent was purchased from Mr. Coster. They subdivided it into lots 25 x 100 ft., and the whole, totalling up, amounts to $33,750. Well now, when Coster owned the property, you could buy a lot on the front street for from $300 to $400, and those lots were 40 x 200 ft., twice the size Messrs. Taylor & Sweeney will sell now, for more than the same price. We placed a valuation on the property of $36,000, so that it is half what they are holding it for.

I want it understood that I am not opposed to speculation in lands for this reason: the laboring class are principally the ones who buy the lots to erect homes for themselves, so that it is the laboring class who suffer from such speculation.

Furthermore, they say: "Mr. Robert Calderwood admitted that the property would still be assessed for $7,000, provided the Coster estate still owned it." I say positively that assertion is untrue. Why? Because we do not know what valuation may be placed on any property near to a year.

Again, they say the Woods' property, adjoining it, is only assessed for $3,000. Mr. Woods first bought the place for $8,000. Then he sold on the front of it, lots, which amounted to $10,000, and which he now holds cost him $10,000, and it is assessed for $10,000, and he is satisfied. I know what I am talking about, because I called on Mr. Woods this morning, and got his statement. Furthermore, Mr. Woods says he never was offered $80,000 for it, but some company wanted an option on it, which Mr. Woods wisely refused.

Then they speak of the Hatheway farm. Well, the place was first sold for $14,000. We placed a valuation on it of $18,000, were considered very near right. It has been disposed of by lottery, and I have no way of knowing what it brought, but others have done a lot in it, will be assessed next year. They say, also, Councillor O'Brien is one of the assessors. The fact is, Councillor O'Brien is not an assessor.

Again it seems to me that if Messrs. Prefontaine & Bedard had any complaint to make they would have applied to the chairman of assessors, or some one of that board, as others have done. It looks to me as though Messrs. Taylor & Sweeney are trying to make themselves popular with Messrs. Prefontaine & Bedard.

Last year they brought up the same matter in the County Secretary's office, and while they were conducting their argument in the County Secretary's office, a telegram was handed the County Secretary, saying they had sent a check for it. Messrs. Taylor & Sweeney held up the check, and the collector was obliged to get an execution to recover it from them.

Now, Mr. Editor, I do not intend, when I set down to write a long letter, and this appears to be about all that is required, only I would advise Messrs. Taylor & Sweeney, when they write for publication to state nothing but facts as I have done, and which I am prepared to prove. I am not going to wear any more of Messrs. Taylor & Sweeney's letters in the papers.

Thank you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space. I remain, Yours truly,
ROBERT CALDERWOOD,
Chairman of Assessors.

P. S.—I omitted to state that Mr. Hargrave is assessed for $400 for his part of the Hatheway farm, which makes a total assessment on the Hatheway farm $17,000.

RECENT DEATHS

On Monday, Stephen McMullin, of Hartland, died, aged 69 years. He was a son of the late Rev. Charles McMullin, a Free Baptist preacher well known in the old days. His grandfather was the first white settler in what is now Hartland. The deceased's wife, who survives him, was Miss Ruth Bradley, and two children survive, W. P. McMullin, with whom he lived, and Mrs. G. E. Boyer, of Hartland.

RECENT DEATHS

The death occurred, Monday afternoon, at his home, 58 High street, of Thomas Barry Leach. Although in poor health for some time, his death was unexpected. Mr. Leach was born in Sussex, but has been a much respected citizen of the North End for a number of years. News of his death will be a great shock to many friends. He is survived by his wife, Mary A., also two daughters, Miss Clara J. and Mrs. Allan French, both of this city. The funeral will be held from his late residence, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment in Cedar Hill.

John Crenar, assistant manager of the Bank of Montreal in Calgary, is deceased. He started his career as a bank clerk in Chatham, Ont., in 1896, and subsequently worked in Ottawa, St. John, Newfoundland and other eastern cities. Mr. Crenar was thirty-eight years of age. He was well known in Fredericton, having been accountant in the Bank of Montreal in 1910-11. He was a prominent member of the Fredericton Curling Club. He was a son of a well known Hamilton, Ont., lawyer, and a brother of Mrs. Nell, wife of Charles R. Nell, formerly of Fredericton, now general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada.

In Amherst on Sunday evening, Mrs. Clara Rayworth died, aged sixty-eight years. She was a daughter of the late William Thompson, of Upper Sackville. She leaves three sons, Arthur and Lorne of Redvers, Sask., and Prof. Joseph Rayworth of St. Louis, Mo. One sister, Mrs. James Steves of Petrolia, and one brother, Conductor Milledge Thompson of Moncton, also survive.

A TRUSTED CLERK WHO STOLE $75,000

Name is Carefully Guarded in New York
New York, July 25.—National Bank examiners and officers of the National Coal and Iron Bank of this city have been conducting an investigation into the embezzlement of approximately $75,000 of a trusted employee of the bank.

His name is being carefully guarded, and, according to President Spronk of the bank, there is no present intention of prosecuting him.

"It is true," said Mr. Spronk, "that one of our employees stole about $75,000, but the bank is fully protected by bonding companies, which have already made good their obligations. As far as the incident is concerned, the incident is closed. We do not intend to prosecute unless the bonding companies request us."

According to Mr. Spronk the defalcations were discovered on June 21 when a small discrepancy in the company's books led to an investigation that disclosed the embezzlement of small sums over a long period of years.

The embezzler himself took the most prominent part in the investigation and is endeavoring, it is said, to make restitution to the bonding companies. In the event that he does, it is understood he will not be prosecuted and his identity will be kept secret.

THE BEST THING FOR DYSPEPSIA

WHY PEPSIN, PANCREATIN, ETC., SO FREQUENTLY FAIL.
An international specialist, whose articles on stomach trouble have been printed in nearly every language, recently stated that to treat the average case of stomach trouble, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc., by dosing the stomach, killing the pain with opiates, or by the use of artificial aids to digestion such as pepsin and pancreatin, was just as foolish and useless as to attempt to put out a fire by throwing water on the flames. Instead of the fire, he claims, and facts seem to justify his claim, that nearly nine-tenths of all stomach troubles are due to acidity and food fermentation, and that the only way in which to secure permanent relief is to get rid of the cause, i. e. to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation. For this purpose he strongly recommends the plan now generally adopted throughout Europe of taking a teaspoonful of ordinary liquidated magnesia in a little water immediately after eating or whenever pain is felt. This immediately neutralizes the acid, stops the fermentation and permits the stomach to do its work in a normal manner and thus by removing the cause, enables nature to quickly restore the inflamed stomach lining to a perfectly healthy natural condition. For the convenience of travellers it may be noted that most druggists are now able to supply liquidated magnesia in 4 grain tablets, 2 or 3 of which will almost instantly relieve the most violent attacks of indigestion.
