DEATH OF WELL KNOWN LAWYER

Dr. F. J. G. Knowlton Passes Away After Brief Illness—Was King's College Lecturer.

The death of Frederick J. G. Knowlton, K. C., D. C. L., occurred last evening at his home, 184 Sydney street, after a short illness. He returned to the city a few weeks ago from White Sulphur Springs, and was apparently greatly improved in health, but developed a cold a couple of weeks ago and died last night. Dr. Knowlton was prominent in business, legal and church circles, and was regarded as an authority on insurance and constitutional law. He was one of the lecturers in the King's College Law School here. He was a senior church-warden in Trinity Church for some time and was a past grand master of the Masonic order. He was the senior member of the firm of Knowlton & Gilchrist. Dr. Knowlton was a governor of King's College.

Dr. Knowlton was born in St. John on Dec. 17, 1867, and was a son of the late Captain Daniel and Mary Grace Knowlton. He received his early education in the grammar schools of the city. In 1901 he entered King's College Law School and was graduated with the degree of bachelor of civil law in 1904, in which year he was admitted as an attorney of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick. He was called to the bar a year later.

Dr. Knowlton was chairman of the Provincial Fire Prevention Board and a former chairman of the Board of Underwriters. He was a member of the committee which drafted the Workmen's Compensation Act.

In 1890 he married Miss Emma Stewart, daughter of E. N. S. Stewart, who survives him. He also leaves two sons, Major Charles D., local barrister and insurance man, and John G., an officer of H. M. S. Resolution, R. N.; one daughter, Miriam, wife of Major Henry O'Brien, of Toronto; one brother, William G., of San Francisco, and one sister, Miss Mary E., engaged in educational work in New York.

The funeral will take place from Trinity church on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, following a private service at the home.

A Good Refrigerator Is a Summer Necessity

As soon as warm weather comes to stay, one of the greatest questions of the housewife who is trying to get along without a good refrigerator is "How can I keep food from becoming unpalatable and from spoiling?"

The answer lies in a good Refrigerator—one with proper insulation for the care of food; and for sanitary reasons every home should be equipped with one.

We are showing a beauty with hard wood (golden elm) exterior and white enamel lining. It is 29 in. wide; 19 in. deep, and 44 in. high. Ice box holds 70 lbs. It's a very special price—only $23.00.

The money thrown away from food waste when one tries to get along without such a refrigerator would very soon cover the cost of this necessity.

Have You Seen Our $55.00 Kitchen Cabinet?

We think it an extraordinary value; and it may be purchased through the Home-maker's Plan if desired.

Gingham Week Next

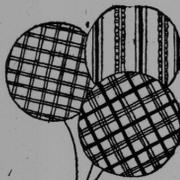

Inspiration For Clever Frocks Lies in Each Fold of The New Summery Gingham

For children's, misses or women's summer dresses, nothing can equal gingham for general utility wear. Their fresh colorings, cool crispness and wonderful washable qualities make them the peer of all summery fabrics. The new medium and small checks and blocks are much in demand and you'll find them here in great variety. Stripes and fancy plaids are also strongly featured and are often used to fine advantage alone or in combination with some harmonizing plain fabric.

Many of the newest gingham are checked with white and are showing with predominating color of rose, blue, green, red, yellow, helio, brown, pink, navy or black. These comprise the best domestic and imported makes including the well known, always reliable "Anderson." 27 to 38 in. wide, 17c. to 85c. yd.

Plain gingham and chambrays in a host of the new, fresh colorings suitable for using alone or in combination with the above mentioned fancy gingham. 27 to 38 in. wide 26c. to 60c. yd.

During June, July, August and September our stores will be closed on Saturday afternoons and open Friday evenings until 10 o'clock.

"HOME JOURNAL PATTERNS"

For making up the new gingham into clever and charming frocks, these patterns will meet your every requirement. "Home Journal Patterns" not only embody the latest and most popular of the new season's styles—they are also remarkable, easy to understand and to work with. Any woman who has an idea of the first steps of dress-making can use these patterns successfully and having once used them will reluctantly use any other kind.

"The Summer Quarterly" is now at hand and is selling very freely. Included in its pages are many very charming ideas for graduation dresses, trousseaux, children's summer frocks—and almost an unlimited number of smart dress styles into which the new gingham and wash fabric may be created.

Blouse Coats in wrappy styles are also a big feature; and Children's Capes in plain, gathered or yoke styles are for tots of two to misses sizes. Children's straight dresses made with extra skirt fullness is also a feature. The latest Embroidery Book has all sorts of novel trimming ideas bringing out the beauty of a touch of hand work.

Among others the wide cross stitch pattern is showing. This is exceptionally pretty on Rattines and such fabric. No. 15661 is a beauty. Ask to see it. June patterns now ready.

Humanity's Need Then and Now

FOR many years after the close of the Civil War in the United States, the position of the wage earner and salaried man throughout this Continent was most precarious. Unemployment was general, wages were small, money was scarce and its purchasing power diminished. The average man felt with unusual force the pressure of fears that have haunted successive generations—the fear of his inability—due to the uncertainties of life—to sufficiently provide for the future of himself and his family.

Insurance Companies there were—lots of them, but the yearly premiums in those days were beyond the purse of the average man.

As a result of these conditions, there came into being a number of Fraternal Societies, among them The Independent Order of Foresters.

It was on June 17th, 1874, at Newark, N. J., that 374 men sat in convention and organized the Independent Order of Foresters, which will in a short time celebrate its Half a Century of service.

The need for life insurance coupled with co-operative or fraternal benefits is just as great to-day as then. That the I.O.F. is meeting such need is evidenced by the fact that to-day it consists of over three thousand Courts and embraces over 160,000 members.

If you would like to have details of the many benefits of Life Insurance and Fraternity, write—Head Office, Independent Order of Foresters, Toronto, Canada.
