ONE SUGGESTED PLAN FOR AFTER-WAR SETTLEMENT

Enormous Increase in Exports of Anima Products

Some suggestions were thrown out by Dominion Commissioner of Agriculture Black in an interview while at the To-ronto fair, in regard to after-the-war ronto fair, in regard to after-the-war land settlement.

"What I would propose," said Mr. Black, "would be the creation of a board of settlement in each province having lands for settlement. Three members would be sufficient for each of these boards, two to be appointed by the provincial and one by the dominion authorities. To these boards there should be given power to expropriate such unimproved lands as could be settled in any given year, say a dozen blocks in different sections. As soon as the lands first expropriated were all allocated and settled upon further powers of expropriation could be exercised.

"By thus limiting the powers of expropriation settlers would not be spread out here, there and everywhere; they would be planted in solid blocks, thus ensuring early provision of roads, schools, and all other essentials necessary to proper conditions of living. In order to prevent holders of other unimproved lands, to be expropriated later, from profiting by the unearned increment it could be provided that the price to be paid in later expropriations should be based on the value existing when expropriation of the first blocks took place. Land Bonds. "As a means of financing the scheme land bonds, based on the value of the land expropriated could be issued, with provision for the annual payment of principal and interest spread over twenty or thirty years.

"Such lands could be made available "Such lands could be made available for returned soldiers and civilians alike. As a means of preparing returned soldiers, not accustomed to farm life, for work on the land, they ought to be given, in the first place, a few weeks of practical training in actual farm work on some of our dominion or provincial farms. Following this, they could, as Premier Stewart of Alberta has suggested, be sent to farm homes to which soldier soms of farmers return, for further training. By this means they would learn whether they really care for farm life or not. Finally, by locating them among ordinary settlers, from the United States and elsewhere, they would have the benefit of lessons to be learned from neighbors who have been accusfrom neighbors who have been accuratomed to farming all their lives long."
