Watter Axtell, aged eighteen, serving six months for thett, said he did not think the jail gang had enough food for the work they did.—'A hunk of bread, molasses and the cells. He spoke of Marchthur's father coming to see his son, and saying that he had heard he was sick. The turnkey said to him he could not see him without the sheriff's order. On the right of April 22, he saw McArthur doubled up, sitting on the side of his bed, in great pain. When the coach came the prisoner walked downstairs without help.

Frank Bowes, guard with the chain gang, said that he took orders from Guard Beckett. He handcuffed McArthur to a post on his prefusing duty, and the man was kept there for two hours through a storm. He had also been punished previously for refusing to work. On March 21, at Beckett sorders, Bowes handcuffed McArthur to a post for refusing to work. His best batting average was .338 with Washington in 1897, when he played in 76 games. His best fielding percentage was .964 with New York in 1904.

He was purchased by the Boston Americans in June, 1907, to succeed Jimmy Collins as manager. He resigned in the latter part of August, 1908, and was succeeded by Fred Lake. In September he was secured by Cleveland, with whom he has been since.

NEW YORK POLICEMEN FORM HUMAN LADDER

Heroic Work in Rescuing Women and Children at a Fire

New York, May 5—Policemen Fleming, Singer and Casey made a human ladder of themselves after rescuing Joseph Schumacher, 70 years old, and his aged wife, who were threatened with suffocation in the basement of 370 St. Nicholas avenue, during a fire which started in the fivestory apartment house in which they live. Mounting each other's shoulders, the policeman climbed up to the first floor fire escape balcony on the north side of the building. Fleming smashed the windows with his night stick as he went from landing to landing, warning the tenants in the house.

The panic-stricken tenants fled to the

CARRIE NATION AGAIN

Threatens Visit to Spokane and to Bring Her Hatchet

Spokane, Wash., May—Following the defeat of the Hayden ordinance, designed "to regulate hotels, restaurants and cafes" in Spokane, by a vote of three to two at a recent meeting of the city commissioners, comes a letter from Mrs. Carrie Nation, reformer and saloon-smasher, to E. H. Rankin, at whose home she visited during her last stay in this city, advising that she will arrive in Spokane with her hatchet on May 15, health permitting.

The Hayden ordinance was declared to be too drastic, by the commissioners voting against the measure and was opposed by a majority of the electors. Mrs. Frank Atkinson, president of the local federation of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and other officers of the organization, declare they have heard nothing of Mrs. Nation's visit, but they admit it is likely she will come to the northwestern country some time during the year.

OPERA HOUSE. A packed house greeted the Helen Grayce Company at the Opera House last evening in what proved to be one of the most popular of their performances. The Little Brother of the Rich is a racy offering de-picting New York Society life at its best—

Ruth Blake, as the much married woman, shared honors with the star, who also appeared to good advantage and on the whole the production was much enjoyed. Tonight The Squawman will be given and this afternoon when Knighthood Was in Flower is being presented. There is great interest in tonight's performance and a bumper house is expected. THE GEM.

Tomorrow afternoon the usual Saturday matinee will be given for the little patrons of the Gem, each of whom will receive a dainty souvenir. The bill prepared for the week-end comprises three films announced as leaders in their class, in which "The Sheriff' () Daughtep' takes first honors. It is a love drama of the prairies in which the charming daughter of a gruff old sheriff is in love with a bandit, and when her love is learned by her father, trouble soon brews. What follows is particularly sad and touching. The Biograph Co. favorites are to be seen in the film, "The Rose O' Salem Town," a story of a group of Puritan pilgrims in the early days of settlement. A rippling comedy of a mistake in valentines sent by a young man to his sweetheart is shown in the Vitagraph hit, "Billy's Valentine." Miss Leola Allen will sing, "When the Robin Sings Again," and there will be new pieces by the orchestra.
