ENJOY PRESENTATION
OF GIRL IN THE TAXI

Thompson-Woods Company Have
Catching Production For This Week at Opera House

The Girl in the Taxi was presented at the Opera House last night by the Thompson-Woods stock company. The play is replete with humorous situations which, with catchy songs, gave a well-filled house the opportunity for enjoyment. Like made, another presentation of the kind there is no well-defined plot, the story consisting of a series of complications, in which the dashing taxi girl and Bertie Stewart, a banker's son, an innocent boy who longs for the gay White Way, figure most prominently. To say that the company has again shown its ability to adapt itself to almost any form of stage entertainment, from drama of the severe type to farce, is, perhaps, only repeating what has already been said about it. At the same time this well-balanced organization is entitled to more than a word of commendation for the versatility it has shown during its career at the Opera House.

The principal work, that of portraying the character of Bertie, seemed to fall to the lot of Sam A. McHenry, whose witty remarks and repeated roars of laughter. The ease with which he was able to borrow "ten-spots" from the most anybody delighted the audience immensely, as did the facility with which he disposed of men and refreshments. Miss Frances Brandt had also quite a lot to do, and in the character of Mignon, the taxi girl, fulfilled the expectations of those who knew that she would experience no difficulty in a role so different to some of the parts hitherto allotted to her. Her vivaciousness and general aptitude pleased all.

Reuben Wexler, as J. Stewart, the banker and father of Bertie, was very funny and received the well-merited plaudits of the audience, whilst the popular Miss Winona Bridges seemed quite at home as Mrs. Stewart, the banker's wife.

The role of Percy Peters, the banker's nephew, was undertaken by Edwin Dodge, who seems capable of doing justice to any part that may be assigned to him in this organization, and although he had but little to do, as Mary Peters, Percy's wife, was very good, a remark which applies without any sort of qualification to Miss Marion Davis, who represented Marjetta, Stewart's maid. Kenneth Fleming made a capable friend of Stewart in the character of Walter Watson, Mike, a policeman (Daniel Fager) acted like a real "cop" and the parts of Rosie and the other characters undertaken respectively by Misses Kathleen Walker and Blaise Bishop, received fine interpretation.

The part of the blustering Frederick Smith was well taken by Allan St. John, whilst Miss Edith Dwyer, as Mary Peters, Percy's wife, was very good, a remark which applies without any sort of qualification to Miss Marion Davis, who represented Marjetta, Stewart's maid. Kenneth Fleming made a capable friend of Stewart in the character of Walter Watson, Mike, a policeman (Daniel Fager) acted like a real "cop" and the parts of Rosie and the other characters undertaken respectively by Misses Kathleen Walker and Blaise Bishop, received fine interpretation.

MUSICAL FEATURE
HIT AT IMPERIAL

Military Maids Score Success—
Good Show Throughout

A trio of dashing maidens and a soldier man were the central attraction at the Imperial yesterday and will remain throughout the week. These folks are The Military Maids and Stewart, one of the cleverest musical teams on the Keith circuit, and their work at the opening of the week in this town received hearty commendation. Scenery is shifted three times during the act, the chief "set" being a camping scene on the field of battle—very pretty and effective. Costumes are rich and novel, the playing of the four instrumentalists of a high order, and their selections suited to all tastes. It is a smart up-to-date offering, very New York-like and one worth seeing, more than once.

The Imperial changed its style of special film feature this week to the old-time domestic drama, a sweet tale called "The Gatlins".

He left the Institute a new man, with confidence in himself, and no more desire for alcoholic drinks, and this was accomplished in a few days. The Gatlin Institute has effected the cure of many men when their friends thought them incurable. No case is too difficult for this treatment, even the most confirmed drinker. It is easy to take, has no disagreeable features, leaves no bad after-effects. It never fails to cure and the cure is permanent. Every privacy is maintained with private room and nurses in attendance.
