

Times Call For Thrift

Mrs. Arthur Meighen Believes in Carrying Her Own Parcels; Her Twelve-Year-Old Boy Will Herd Sheep This Summer

MRS. ARTHUR MEIGHEN.
Wife of the Minister of the Interior.

"The war has done us good in many ways. Before it broke out women were simply staying at home and waiting for the men to come home. Now we are doing the work of the men, and it is better for us all. It will mean the building up of a new womanhood."

MRS. ARTHUR MEIGHEN.

Mrs. Arthur Meighen regards the food conservation question from two angles—through her own and her children's eyes. She believes that just as the children of Europe are suffering cruelly as a result of the war, so the children of Canada should be taught by their mothers to have some share in working or sacrificing for the sake of the little brothers and sisters across the sea.

She is the exponent of this principle in her own home, for her three children are enthusiastic young patriots who are doing their share by adding their small quota to the food supply of the country. Behind the Meighen home is what is called the "backyard farmyard," where there is lively competition between the hens and the garden, and the decision is still in abeyance. Last year the children built the hen-house themselves, and they looked after the chickens diligently and enthusiastically. In fact, it is a standing grievance with them that "there is never any garbage" for their chickens. Mrs. Meighen heartily endorses the Soldiers of the Soil movement, and is pleased with the way the boys are signing. She thinks it is an excellent thing, both for the boys and for the country. Her eldest boy is just twelve years old, and although too young to enroll with the S. O. S. boys, he is going to do his share this summer on a farm in Manitoba, where he will live with friends and act as a youthful shepherd. The youngster is immensely keen over the prospect of herding sheep. As Mrs. Meighen explained, when turned out on the stubble, with no fences in Manitoba, the sheep need a good deal of shepherding.

A hearty advocate of the cash and carry system is the wife of the minister of the interior. She carries home all her own parcels, unless their size makes this out of the question. In discussing it, she laughed as she pictured herself starting out to do her shopping with a huge bag over her arm. She finds it more profitable, however, than shopping by telephone, but the main advantage, in her opinion, is the fact that if every woman once got into the habit of doing this, the delivery system would be simplified and the money would be released for the farms, where they are going to be badly needed this year. Mrs. Meighen seems rather to like the idea of shopping in the good, old-fashioned way with a modern edition of the market basket.

She speaks from practical experience of girls' ability to do farm work, declaring that any girl of average strength can run a hay rake or mower and do any number of "jobs" on a mixed farm. Personally she has run a hay rake and knows how to throw over the gears of this implement. Mrs. Meighen thinks that a great many girls who are living at home now and others who are engaged in non-essential industries would be well advised to go on the farms. She referred especially to the numbers of girls who spend so much time in the tea-rooms when they would be better employed in learning how to cook in their own homes. "In saying that I think afternoon tea and extra meals should be cut out, I am not speaking merely from the standpoint of food economy. There is the other consideration that they tend to give girls an excuse for gadding around at a time when all their energies are needed for practical work. It is appalling how little some girls know about domestic economy. They might be learning a whole lot these days in the kitchen—because the kitchen is of the first importance now. I really think the tea-rooms should be closed, for you can hardly blame the girls for going to them so long as they remain open. There is no doubt that they are tempting. Afternoon tea in the home as a social custom is all right if judgment is exercised in the use and abuse of food. I like afternoon tea myself, but I think the tea room is a distinct temptation that might be done away with."

Mrs. Meighen thinks that the new waste and hoarding regulations issued by the Canada Food Board are excellent. She believes that women will be scrupulous in reporting any cases of hoarding or waste they hear of, and that there will be some of these as she is certain. In her own home as much economy is practised as possible. Graham or cornmeal muffins have taken the place of bread at breakfast time, and war bread is baked once a week. The use of beef and bacon has been reduced to the minimum, and every possible source of waste is carefully watched.

"When you stop to think of how people are suffering in Europe and of how fortunate we are, it's astonishing that we can be so indifferent," said Mrs. Meighen. "The latest war news comes with such a shock that I think it rather pulls us up. Certainly the spirit of self-sacrifice which has characterized our women in other ways is now spreading by slow degrees to material things. For one thing, I believe women are reading the papers more than they ever did, and this

SAILINGS OF U. S. TROOPS SPEEDED UP

Training With British Forces Now Instead of French, is the Order

Washington, April 12.—Transportation of American troops to France already is proceeding at the accelerated rate contemplated by the speeding up measures taken after the battle of Picardy began. Acting Secretary Crowell made this statement, but would give no details.

For military reasons the extent of the increased troop movement has not been made public. Following the conferences between Secretary Baker and Allied officials, orders were given under which a British official statement was issued saying that American forces were to be brigaded with British troops in order to hasten American participation in the war.

Officials explained today that the process to be followed was similar to that adopted in placing American troops in the front lines with the French for training. It has been estimated that thirty days' training of this character with American battalions assigned with the British organizations will fit the newcomers for active duty at the front. All divisions now moved from this side are composed of men who have had several months of preliminary training and who need only final instructions to take their full share in the fighting.

The training process will be quicker with the British than with the French, it is believed, because the language difficulty does not exist. American units will find every veteran an instructor and there will be no need for interpreters.

It was indicated that the new plans call for a more extensive training scheme with the British army than has been the case with General Pershing's original force. There probably will be no attempt to set up a purely American force within the British ranks as has been done with the French.

The Americans are to be withdrawn when trained and turned over to General Pershing as part of his army. They will share fully with their British comrades the battles on the front, and the belief here is that they will not be withdrawn as long as there is pressing need for their service with the British lines.

At the closing session of the Anglican synod of the diocese of Fredericton at the capital yesterday, the following delegates were elected to attend the dominion synod at Winnipeg to meet Sept. 11: Ven. Archdeacon Newnam, Rev. Canon Neales, Rev. G. A. Kuhring, Subaltern, Rev. Canon Crowfoot, laymen, M. G. Teed, W. S. Carter, J. P. Burchill, Chas. Coster, G. O. D. Otty, Mr. Puddington.

On motion of Rev. Mr. Kuhring it was decided that a committee should be appointed to take up the question of scripture reading in the public schools.
