Ashes and Iron for Flowers. The observation of practical and experimental gardeners seems to confirm the fact that, to procure by illient colors in forces it. brilliant colors in flowers, it is necessary to supply the soil with an abundance of ferruginous constituents and silica. The latter supplies a matertial (says S. E. Todd in one of his foreign exchanges) which is of that brilliancy of the petals and the dark grass luster of the leaves. a crop, it decomposes very slowly and we fail to get the whole benefit of it for the first crop and may lose some of its value. But when it is made completely available before it is applied, the first crop is enabled to appropriate all that it wants and the surplus remains for the next crop. To get the greatest benefit from it, therefore, manure for shallow-rooted plants, such as wheat, oats, etc., should be applied near the surface and mixed with the soil by harrowing, just before the seed is sown, so that the young plant can reach its food when it will do it the most good. and we fail to get the whole benefit the manure should be covered with a light furrow in the drill, and a little extra fine fertilizer be placed near the seed.—American Agriculturist, rist.

BEE KEEPING FOR BOYS.—Boys on the farm can lay up a nice little sum of money every year by keeping a few stocks of bees. Quinby, the C. RICHARDSON, best authority on bees that ever lived in this country, says that a stock of bees is better than a hundred dolit. Ten dollars a stock is a very reasonable estimate of profits from a well conducted apiary. The lessons in nature that the care of bees could inculcate, would almost pay for all the trouble experienced. Every farmer's boy, old enough to take care of them, ought to have a stock of bees in a movable-comb hive, to commence with. If the father possesses the requisite knowledge to direct in the care of this stock, it might be the foundation of a substantial fortune.—Bee Keeper.
