Eighteen Men Lose

Their Lives at Sea

Steamer Boston Runs Down

a Fishing Schooner

ONLY TWO OF CREW SAVED

Yarmouth, N. S., May 27.—The Boston fishing schooner Fame, about 90 tons, commanded by Capt. Thomas Fay, a native of Newfoundland, and carrying a crew of nineteen men, was run into and sunk on Chaspe's Bank at 9 o'clock last evening, by the D. A. R. liner Boston, Capt. McKenzie, which arrived here at 2 o'clock this morning from Boston.

Of the entire crew but two men were saved, their names being John Clark, a native of Newfoundland, residing at East Boston, and Edward Pitts, a native of Halifax, residing at 161 Bennington street, East Boston. The names of the lost as far as can be ascertained are: Capt. Thomas Fay, Bernard Dacy, Thos. Stapleton, Michael Melvin, Thos. Powery, another Thos. Powery, Thos. Murphy, all natives of Newfoundland; Michael G. Garney, Boston; William Fisher, a Nova Scotian, one Ray, a native of Salmon River, N. S.; William Bailey and Barney Cachien, of Boston. There was also on board a Frenchman belonging to Yarmouth County, N. S., but his name and those of the balance of the crew are not known to the survivors.

The Boston was proceeding at a low speed at the time of the accident, and her whistle was kept blowing. The fog was very dense, and the schooner could not be seen or heard until she was struck. The Boston went right through her just aft of the main rigging, and the Fame sank within three minutes. The steamer was immediately stopped and boats were lowered. One boat was lost overboard by mishap, but two more were in the water immediately. The cook, Pitts, was found with a life buoy around him, while Clarke was swimming about. All the rest of the crew had gone down.

According to the survivors, who were seen this morning, the Fame left Boston four weeks ago Monday on a smack fishing trip. She then had twenty-three men on board. One of the men became sick and was landed at Boothby, and on Monday a dory containing two men whose names are unknown strayed from the vessel and were not seen again. It was the captain's intention to have started for home to-day. He had a fare of 100,000 lbs.

As the time of the collision there were only the captain and three men on deck. Nine were lying in the forecastle, and the balance were in the cabin. All in the forecastle reached the deck safely but it is the opinion of Pitts that nothing was known until the Boston went right through the vessel. Pitts says that when he rushed on deck he grabbed a life buoy and put it around him. The captain was standing near by, and Pitts told him to get a life buoy, but before he could do so the vessel went down. Pitts says he became entangled in the rigging and was carried a long way down. Finally, he extricated himself, and when he came to the surface he saw four of his comrades in the water, but they all sank almost immediately. He kept himself afloat until picked up by a boat from the steamer.

Clarke told substantially the same story. He was in the forecastle at the time of the accident, and just as he reached the deck the vessel went down. Being a strong swimmer he was able to keep himself afloat for half an hour before he was picked up. Both men were thoroughly exhausted on the arrival of the steamer. They are being looked after by United States Consul Fleming.

The Fame will be remembered as the schooner which was quarantined at Shelburne N. S., for smallpox a short time ago. Subsequently she was taken to Halifax, from which place a crew of amateur yachtsmen took her to Boston.

She was long overdue on the trip, but finally arrived safely. Capt. McKenzie, of steamer Boston, says the accident occurred 104 miles east of Boston Light. It was very foggy and dark. The ship was going at moderate speed. They did not see lights until 200 feet from the schooner, and immediately reversed the engines, but it was too late to avoid collision. The steamer stayed in the neighborhood for some time after the accident.

Little Acts of Kindness

"I sometimes think we women nowadays are in danger of being too busy to be really useful," said an old lady thoughtfully. "We hear so much about making every minute count, and always having some work of course of study for spare hours, and having our activities all systematized, that there is no place left for small wayside kindnesses. We go to see the sick neighbor and relieve the poor neighbor, but for the common, everyday neighbor, who has not fallen by the way, so far as we can see, we haven't a minute to spare. But everybody who deeds a cup of cold water isn't calling the fact out to the world; and there are a great many little pauses by the way which are no waste of time.

"The old-fashioned exchange of garden flowers over the back fence and friendly chats about domestic matters helped to brighten weary days, and brought more cheer than many a sermon. "We ought not to be too busy to inquire for the girl away at school, or to be interested in the letter from the boy at sea. It is a comfort to the mother's lonely heart to feel that somebody else cares for that which means so much to her. Especially we ought not to be too busy to give and receive kindnesses in our home. May no one be able to say of us that we are too busy to be kind."

How to Test Your Kidneys

If any of your family have been troubled with kidney disease make a test of the urine and satisfy yourself whether you need a good remedy before the disease has caused serious complications.

When Lovers Quarrel

Speaking of lovers' quarrels, a clever woman remarked that when the "little rift within the lute" threatens it is the man who is the more fitted to mend it.

"It is a man's place to woo and win, and it is his place, too, to take the initiative when a quarrel has to be healed up. The man who treats a quarrel with his sweetheart in the same way as he would a quarrel with another man errs terribly, for men have a code involving reason, logic and precedent, in which women can have no part.

"Women are usually willing to be forgiven; but they cannot bear to be blamed, and they resent censure even when guilty.

"Moreover, when a woman is in the wrong, and disposed to atone for her fault, she has a way of walking round an apology and considering it made—a weakness which exasperates the foolish man and amuses the wise one. When scolded, she tries to justify herself to her own conscience, and perhaps ends by believing herself in the right. Yet, if she were gently but tactfully made to understand that she had given pain to her lover, she would be only too anxious to make amends."

Fixing Boundary Near Campobello

Engineers from Ottawa and Washington have for the past few days been engaged in the vicinity of Campobello surveying the boundary line between New Brunswick and Maine or rather the extension of it from the coast line outward. The prospect of the increasing importance of Campobello owing to the interest taken in this and other islands by a number of United States capitalists has led the State departments of the two countries to this action. What has been regarded all along as the boundary there is only
