MAY MORNING.

FOR THE MUSICAL WORLD.

BY AMIE.

Float golden vapors thin :

The April night has vanished,

Among the leafless elin boughs

They hear the step of Summer

She is drawing nearer, nearer,

As in their nests the snow-flakes

They sang the same sweet story,

Till the red dawn shall begin;

Till thus, with blood and blossom,

If taxes be direct, the people will look prety carefully after the uses made of the money they pay. But if a great system of indirect taxation, by means of import duties, can be established, no one feels that he is paying anything. All think government a perfect mine of wealth, and the only duty of politicians is for each to make as much out of Government as he can for self and locality. This feeling also prevades the people to a lamentable extent; and Government is be The attempt to re-open the Separate School seiged with claims for money for educationquestion, and to aim a new and deadly blow al, charitable, literary, agricultural and scientific purposes, and for local improvements, with none of which objects, strictly at the common school system has excited deep feelings of alarm and indignation throughout Upper Canada. Among the dishes served at table was an uncooked fish cut into pieces. and with it was eaten boiled rice, which they conveyed very adroitly to their mouths by means of chopsticks. They also partook of a number of other dishes said to be delicate, and took their wine with great gusto. During the whole of the repast they drank prodigious quantity of warm water, for th purpose, it was said, of assisting digestion At the dessert the chief ambassador propor a toast to the health of the Emperor, which was replied to by one to the Emperor Japan. After dinner the guests were presented with fans and beautiful little Japanese pipes.
