here. All these dear ones sleeping about us helped to lay the foundation of our homes, and by degrees built up what we are now enjoying. Those others who lie overseas, gave their lives to perpetuate the results of the work and energy of their forefathers.

No words of mine can eulogize those who have gone before. Whether their lives were spent in the upbuilding of the community and Empire or in the fight for liberty, we honor them, and in the memory of their lives, and through their death, we have been brought closer to the Master Builder who has called our dear ones to their reward.

Tribute to Fallen Heroes by Daughters of the Empire

The message by the Princess of Wales Chapter, I.O.D.E., was delivered by the Regent, Miss L. M. Brice, and was as follows:

"As Daughters of the Empire we desire to express our great appreciation of the grand and glorious service rendered by our 'Fallen Heroes' for righteousness and liberty in the service of their King and Country. Canada, in days to come, cannot fail to be inspired by the memory of the men who went out from her shores, as the brothers we personally honor to-day, to play the man even in the valley of the shadow of death. Our Saviour Himself has said: 'Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.' They have made the supreme sacrifice for the freedom and the higher life of the world, and the freedom that by reason of their efforts, we shall never cease to enjoy, will be their imperishable monument."

"They died the noblest death a man may die."

Fighting for God and right and liberty."

And such a death is immortality."

In the name of Canada and the Empire we place this wreath in remembrance of duty done. May God ever protect and bless our Country, our homes and our people."

Captain Macintosh among other things said: "Comrades, and citizens of this great country of ours, I am sure that we are all impressed with the impressiveness of the occasion to-day. We realize how so many of the occasion when we are assembled to pay tribute to the deceased men who gave their lives and gave them gladly in defence of liberty and justice. We are impressed with the fact that they went out to protect the weak and to enable us to fulfill our obligations to the weak. We thought it would be worth the price and we still think so."

The Captain impressed the fact that history showed that so long as nations followed God they would continue to prosper, mentioning that of the Israelites, as soon as they forgot God in their prosperity adversity set in.

"Thus it was with a nation in this great war which became the victim of weak statesmen and had now to be put through trial and tribulation."

He said that one should be thankful that the British people had not forgotten God and that in the past the statesman of the Empire had laid the foundations of the Empire on solid foundations. The Empire to-day held a world position on which the sun never set. The speaker drove home the point that in order to have the Empire's position in the future assured, devotion to God and loyalty to Him had to be retained. Disloyalty to Him could end only in disaster.

"And a word to the thousands of citizens of Kitchener who are assembled here to-day. Your attendance in such large numbers is indication of sentiments of patriotism, devotion and loyalty to the nation," Captain Macintosh remarked.

"And as to you comrades, assembled here to-day, on this impressive occasion when we pay tribute to those who we left behind over there and who gave their lives, and gladly gave them, we recall the times when we laid them away to the last resting places. To-day we bow our heads in reverence to them and we will always remember them. Their devotion and self-sacrifice will always stand out for us who are alive there is a duty to perform. We must see that the principles for which they fought and died will be carried out and maintained now that peace has come," Captain Macintosh remarked.

Rowell Declares

Mr. MacKenzie of Edmonton: "Mr. MacLeod stated that collective bargaining was still an issue in Winnipeg."

Dr. Michael Clarke: "How far are the three firms of employers now prepared to concede what was at first asked?"

Mr. Rowell drew attention to the circular issued by them about a week ago and published in the papers. "They defined collective bargaining," he said, "in substantially the same terms as are now in use in the various railway organizations."

Hon. Rudolph Lemieux: "When will the trial take place of the men arrested?"

Mr. MacLennan: "No date has been set."

Mr. Peter Manion, of Muskoka: "Is it the intention of the Government to give a speedy trial? It seems to me that it would be in the public interest to do so."

Hon. Arthur Meighen answered that the Government had no control over whether the trial should be speedy or not.

Is Married Life a Drudgery?

Never before was the world faced with this question as it is to-day.

The scarcity of domestic help has made it absolutely necessary for the modern housewife to do most, if not all, of the menial labor that goes with the brighter tasks of home-making.

A few of our women are falling under the burdens that have been put upon them, but most of them are coming through with "flying colors." The women who are not allowing themselves to be drudges are managing their homes on a scientific basis, making themselves business managers of the worthiest institution in the world—the home.

The Free Press women's pages are the brightest spots in the life of the woman who wants to learn things. There she will find little helps that save many a step and correct many a mistake in her system of management. From the pen of women who know and who have accomplished, the novice, as well as the most experienced housekeeper, is assisted on her way.

Mingled with these little helps are stories of women, for women, with just enough fiction romance to bring a feeling of relaxation to the tired mind. The problems of these "story women" are real to the everyday woman—they are problems she has met or might meet any day and she is benefited by having them worked out for her.

Besides the personal problems, there are the many other problems that must be worked out in the order of things. Her children! Every real housewife is faced with that problem. She will gain knowledge of untold value in the articles on children's early training, part of the woman's pages.

Then, there are the ailments that arise from time to time in the family circle. The health talks and the answers to correspondence on health topics give advice to meet this problem.

See a copy of The London Free Press and look over the feature section for women. On the pages headed "Of Interest To Women" will be found articles of amazing interest, everything of interest to women, from "Beauty Chats" to bedtime stories to put the children to sleep.

CAR PLUNGES INTO DEEP DITCH ON WALKER ROAD, IN E.S. SEX COUNTY.

WINDSOR, June 22.—Sidney Stenake, aged 35, a butcher, of Walkerville, residing on Carter Place, was instantly killed late on Saturday night when the automobile in which he was riding with John Morkin plunged into a deep ditch on the Walker road between the C.P.R. Railway crossing and Tecumseh road. Morkin who is a returned soldier, is in such a serious condition at Hote Dieu that he has been unable to make a statement as to the cause of the accident. The car a Ford machine, owned by Morkin, was travelling at a fast rate, and when they left the concrete pavement and struck the ditch, so great was the force of its momentum that it climbed the steep bank on the opposite side and crumpled up against the fence.
