OF RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS FOR CANADA UNDER ORDER 162.
DATED MARCH 30, 1916.

On the face of this form and this Company, that said Company shall not be liable for damages by error in the transmission or delivery of any unrepeatable telegram, whether happening from negligence or interruptions in the working of its lines, for errors in cypher or obscure messages, or for errors from sending the same.

Repeat back any telegram for an extra payment of one-half the regular rate, and in that case the sender to an extent not exceeding $200., due to the negligence of the Company in the transmission.

Messages can be insured by contract in writing, stating agreed amount of risk, and payment of premium and charge for repeated messages, viz: one per cent. for any distance not exceeding 1,000 miles, and for any greater distance.

The Company will accept or omission of any other Company, but will endeavor to forward the telegram by any other means, but only as the agent of the sender and without liability therefor. The Company shall not be liable for any error in the transmission or delivery of any message sent to such office by one of its agents or accepted at one of its transmitting offices; if a message is sent to such office by one of its agents or accepted at one of its transmitting offices; if by telephone the person receiving the message acts therein as agent of the sender for the sender. This Company shall not be liable in any case for damages, unless the same be caused by the negligence of the Company in the transmission.

DAY LETTERS.

Day letters may be transmitted at rates lower than its standard telegram rates, as follows: one and one-half times the rate for the transmission of fifty (50) words or less, and one-fifth of the initial rate for such fifty words or less.

Day letters may be transmitted by the Telegraph Company as a deferred service and the transmission and delivery of such DAY LETTERS shall be subject to the transmission and delivery of full-rate messages.

Day letters may be sent in English, or in French. Code language is not permitted.

Day letters may be transmitted by telephoning the same to the addresses, and such deliveries shall be a complete delivery to the addressee.

The sender's express understanding and agreement that the Company does not undertake that a DAY LETTER shall be delivered at all events; but that the Company's obligation in this respect is subject to the condition that the Company shall deliver and delivery of such DAY LETTER on the day of its date during regular office hours, subject to the conditions named above.
