Ottawa, October 17, 1939

My dear Mr. Minister,

I am sure that you will realize the impossibility of my writing a comprehensive memorandum on a matter of such enormous importance in such a short time. This is the barest outline of what I have in mind. When I return to my office I will make a detailed study and send it to you. In the meantime should you care to have me return to Ottawa for a conference I am available at any time.

Thanking you for your courtesy,

I am, Sir,

Respectfully yours,

Ned. Stevenson.
