

society; and, further, that it direct the governing bodies and faculties of theological colleges to provide that the students in their care be taught the social principles of the Gospel, and trained in methods of applying these principles to the needs of the localities in which they shall be called to minister.

(3) "That the General Assembly hereby urge all the members of our Churches to give serious study to social problems, and to avail themselves of their opportunities for social service; to bring the sense of justice and righteousness which is fundamental in Christianity to bear upon matters of every-day life, in business, in society, or wherever their influence may extend, and to create a Christian public sentiment demanding the removal of wrong wherever found.

(4) "That copies of this statement be printed and distributed throughout the Church, and that ministers be urged to further the circulation of this statement in any way they may deem feasible."