30 PERCHERONS

Also Shires, Hackneys and Clydes, have just arrived with our new importation from Scotland, England and France, of high-class stallions and mares. Many of them prizewinners in their native lands. Bred by the best breeders. Percherons, blacks and grays, weighing 1,800 to 2,000 pounds. Shires at two years old weighing 1,700 pounds. Clydes, bays and blacks, 4 and 5 years old, weighing 1,800 to 2,000 pounds. Our Hackneys are bays and chestnuts, combining size, quality and breeding that cannot be beaten. We have a few first-class young stallions that we will sell at cost, to make room for our next importation; and all for sale at reasonable prices.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Veterinary.

TUMORS.

Horse has hard small lumps from the size of a pea to that of a hickory nut on his shoulders where the collar rests. Occasionally one forms matter and breaks.

S. K.

Ans.—These are little fibrous tumors, and the only effective cure is to dissect each one carefully out, and dress the wound, three times daily, with a five-per-cent. solution of carbolic acid until healed. External applications do no good.

V.

PIGS COUGHING.

Pigs, four months old, continue extreme coughing. They sleep in an elevated bed, kept dry, over a cement floor; are fed pulped roots, with some wheat and oatmeal scattered on it. They are not too fat. Kindly advise treatment to avoid coughing.

DURHAM SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—Coughing is often due to constipation, but the feed given should not cause this. Feed laxative foods, and keep mixed charcoal, ashes and salt in a low box, where they can take it at will.

RED WATER—DIARRHOEA.

1. Cow has red water. She urinates frequently and little at a time, and the last that passes each time is quite red.
2. Pigs are troubled with white scours after weaning.

P. M.

Ans.—1. Purge her with 1½ lbs. Epsom salts and 1 ounce ginger, dissolved in two quarts warm water, and given as a drench. Follow up with .4 drams chlorate of potash, and 1 dram each of sulphate of iron, gentian, ginger and nuxvomica, three times daily, as long as necessary. Feed well on food of first-class quality.

2. Add to their milk about one-sixth of its bulk of lime water. If necessary, to check the diarrhoea, give each one .15 drops laudanum in a little warm milk every six hours, until diarrhoea ceases.

HORSE DENTISTRY.

Could you inform me whether it is possible to get a course in horse dentistry alone in the Ontario Veterinary College or the O. A. C.? If so, how long would such a course be likely to last and what would it cost?

YOUNG INQUIRER.

Ans.—Neither the Ontario Veterinary College nor the Ontario Agricultural College gives a special course in horse dentistry. The only way for a student to acquire the diploma of the Ontario Veterinary College is to attend the course and pass the examinations. Hitherto, this course has covered only two years' work, but it is now being extended to three years. Students entering on or after October 1st, 1907, will be obliged to begin work on a three-years' course. Those who entered in 1906 will be permitted to qualify and graduate in two years' time.

Miscellaneous.

DRAINING A CELLAR.

I have a stone cellar (arch built), located on the side of a clay bank. The frost gets in, and heaves up the cement floor. I have drains built in. It seems as if the drains, somewhere, are closed up.

1. Can you tell me the proper drains to put in so as not to fill up?
2. How would I build a f.o.-proof floor, i. e., a floor that will not break up any concrete inside fixings?
3. How best to keep out frost?

A. L. G.

Ans.—1. Tile drains in clay, with proper fall and outlet, should not fill up. If it is sandy at the bottom, covering the tiles with surface earth or straw will hinder filling. If your drain were all around cellar inside the wall, and down two feet, we think you would have no trouble.

2. Take out the earth to a depth of six inches or more, and fill up again with gravel or cinders. Lay your concrete floor on this.

3. Have double doors. A few inches from exposed walls, erect a slat or board wall, and fill space between with straw or horse manure. Cover roof in severe weather with straw.
