THE FORESTRY MOVEMENT.

Toronto, Aug. 24, 1892.

To the Editor of the Catholic Record:

SIR—The general principle that an undue clearance of the timber is harmful to the fertility of the land is understood by very many people who take little practical interest in forestry, for the reason that they are unaware of the extent to which the process of stripping away the woods has been carried. It needs only a perusal of the forestry report for 1891 to convince the most indifferent that the danger from this source is by no means remote, but a peril that must be faced at once, unless our agricultural interests are to suffer greatly. To the Editor of the Catholic Record :

the shaper from this somere is by no means remote, but a peril that must be faced at once, unless our agricultural interests are to suffer greatly.

THE DEATH OF THE JUST.

OBITUARY. Mrs. Thomas D. Egan.

We are called on to perform the melancholy duty of announcing the demise of Laura C. Egan, of Orange, N. J., the wife of Mr. Thomas D. Egan, of the New York Catholic Agency, Barclay street, New York.

The late Mrs. Egan was born in Cumberland, Md., on January 25, 1849. Her parents were among the oldest and best known families of the State, her father bearing the well-known name of Hoblitzelle, and her mother the honored name of Ogle. Of such respectable lineage, Mrs. Egan proved in her life the value of congenital advantages in guiding future destiny.

The estimable lady, whose loss we mourn, was married to Mr. Egan on September 8, 1874, in St. Patrick's Church, Cumberland, Md. The celebrant of the nuptial Mass was the pastor, the Very Rev. Dean Brennan.

Mrs. Egan was the mother of eight chidren, five of whom survive her, and live to feel the crushing misfortune of a mother's loss; while the other three are gone before to bid her welcome in the radiant mansions of inmortality.

At the time of their happy union, Mr. Egan was connected with the New York Freeman's Journal, and thus having many friends throughout the country, they made their wedding tour an extended excursion through the States, lasting from September the 8th, until the 8th of May following. They subsequently settled in Yonkers, New York, but for the past eight years Mr. Egan made his home in the pretty and salubrious city of Orange, N. J.

Early last winter death began with bony finger to beckon to the members of the household, and cast his gloomy shadow athwart a threshold where nought but Joy and sunshine had ever entered. One child contracted the fell disease diphtheria, and five others were stricken down soon after.

One bright and lovely daughter, just budding into girlhood (seven years old), was snatched away on Christmas morning.

Prostrated by bodily suffering, and oppressed by multiplied afflictions, Mrs. Egan; ho

Decay's effacing fingers
Might sweep the lines where beauty lingers.

For three long months she lay upon the sick bed, a weak and uncomplaining sufferer, bearing the pains of her illness with marvellous fortitude and patience. She exhibited from first to last the courage of the true Christian, buoyed up by that hope and resignation which make death too serene for sorrow, too beautiful for fear.

Despite the prayerful entreaties of her friends that it might please kind Providence to suffer her to abide some time longer with that husband with whom she passed eighteen years of uninterrupted cumubial felicity, and those children about whom her heart-strings fondly clung; despite all the communions, Novenas and Masses offered up to the Throne of Mercy for her restoration to health, she passed away on July 31st, to that brighter and better land where her many friends hope to greet her on some bright summer's morning.

Mrs. Egan was a woman of frank, cordial and engaging manners, much beloved by her large circle of acquaintances. Though liberally educated, her mind took a practical bent, and the care of her children and her household duties were to her of paramount importance; which duties she fulfilled with unfailing regularity and indulgence.

Loved and respected by all who came within the circle of her influence, her memory will be long cherished by those who knew and prized her in life.

The funeral took place on Aug. 3rd, from St. John's Church, Orange, N. J. It was attended by relatives and friends from New York, Brooklyn, Yonkers, Canada, Maryland, and other places, and was conducted with impressiveness and solemnity. The Mass was celebrated by Rev. Jos. W. McDowell, of St. John's, Orange; Rev. Hugh P. Fleming, the rector, being deacen; and Rev. George L. Fitzpatrick, sub-deacon.

The music of the Mass was as follows: The Interitus, Sequence, Communio and Libera were sung by the Boy choir. The other parts of the Mass were sung by the regular mixed choir. After the elevation Mr. A. H. Littel sang an "Ave Verum," and after Mass Mrs. A. H. Littel sang "Qui Tollis" arranged from Millard. The other solos of the Mass were sung by Mrs. Thomas Brennan, soprano, and Mr. H. Kazenmayer, bass. The organist of the church, Prof. F. C. L. Schreiner, presided at the organ.

Letters of sympathy and condolence have come from all parts of the country to Mr. Egan in his bereavement, and include one from his own Bishop, the Right Rev. Dr. Wigger: and one also from Most Rev. Archbishop Corrigan. These sympathetic and consolatory letters contained many assurances of prayers and Masses to be offered for the repose of her soul.

Manrice F. Egan, L. L. D. of Notre Dame University, writes:

"Your wife was certainly one of those whom Solomen Puts above rubbes. I never offered for the repose of her soul.

Maurice F. Egan, L.L. D. of Notre Dame University, writes:

"Your wife was certainly one of those whom Solomen puts above rubies. I never met any woman whose qualities filled me with so much admiration and esteem. She deserved well of our Lord."

Although it may be supposed she does not stand in heavy need of our intercessory prayers, since some who knew her intimately were of the opinion that she had never committed a mortal sin; still shall we not desist from our supplications, for none but the absolutely undefield can enter the pearly portals of paradise; and as Father Faber remarks: "No prayer is unheard; none is wasted; there's none that we shall not meet again in the world to come."

The interment was in St. John's Cemetery beside the hodies of her three innocent babes, who, we make no doubt, stood ready to meet her with joyful greeting upon the shining shore. May her soul rest in peace!

"Only the actions of the just Smell sweet and blossom in the dust."

ANCIENT ORDER OF HIBERNIANS.

Toronto, Ontario, Aug. 27, 1892.

Dear Sir.—For the past few weeks the press of this city and of Hamilton have devoted a great deal of space to the conduct of the Ancient Order of Hibernians on their excursion to Hamilton, on Aug. 15. Now, Mr editor, as the press have given their version of the affair, it is only right and proper we should give the facts as we saw them, and then let the public judge. These facts we are prepared to give on oath. In the first place, we did not go to Hamilton to insult the British flag for any other flag; we went there as the invited guests of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Hamilton, to spend a day with our brothers of that city. We brought with us our banners, or the ensigns of our order; and, of course, we being an Irish society, the immortal green is our color. We did not, as stated, go there with American flags. The first appearance of the American flags was on John street, when a number of boys rushed out of a lane, carrying American and German flags. A few of the processionists purchased them, and held them in their hands. What the object was in sending those into the procession the Hibernians of Toronto would like to know. The men in charge of the Toronto contingent were on their way to ask those in possession of those flags not to wave them when the Plan of Campaign rushed out to pull down the ensign of one of our divisions. With the excitement caused by this creature of the law, we abandoned our intentions, thinking we were going to have enough to do to mind ourselves and see that none of our ensigns were pulled down. Now, Mr. editor, this is a true statement, which we hope you will publish in full. As to the return to the boat, our members tried to get to the boat quietly but many of them when they were alone were waylaid. In conclusion we are thankful to the journals who gave us a fair report.

Please publish this and oblige the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

The Peterborough Business College, Peterborough, Ont., Canada.

Peterborough, Oht., Canada.

Perhaps no other Business College in Canada sat present enjoying the success which falls to the lot of the above institution. This has been, no doubt, owing to the facilities afforded the students for a thorough, practical business training, to the success of its graduates in the different departments and to the undoubted ability of the gentlemen who are at the head of this college. Mr. Blanchard one of the Principals, is a chartered accountant of Ontario as well as a professional penunan and stenographer, whilst Mr. Bean holds his degrees from the leading Canadian and American universities.

On Thursday, the 24th inst., the pupils of Ingersoll Separate school united with the children of the Woodstock Sunday school to hold an excursion to Port Stanley. The arrangements were carried out by a committee consisting of Rev. J. P. Molphy, Michael Dunn and John Frizelle, and altogether about six hundred adults and children took the occasion to spend the day at the pleasant summer resort. All enjoyed the trip greatly. Fathers Molphy, Brady, Corcoran and Northgraves accompanied the excursionists.

blood purifiers. The sooner you beging the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Beggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no fauth that anything would cure me. I became emaclated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 Kiver st., Lowell, Mass.

hundred persons participated, who were for the most part parishioners of the congregations of Simcoe and the adjoining parish of La Salette.

A most bountiful repast was laid for the refreshment of the guests, and the tables groaned under the good things which were spread out upon them. The ladies of Simcoe deserve great credit for the successful manner in which they did their work.

The Rev. B Boubat, the parish priest, is also to be congratulated on the success which attended this his first effort to bring together the people of the parish at a social gathering, he having been but recently appointed to its charge. He has won golden opinions during the short time he has been in the parish, and is deservedly popular with all the citizens, Catholic and Protestant.

One of the principal attractions of the day was the delivery of a number of interesting speeches. Mr. J. Brown, Police Magistrate, presided during the delivery of these addresses, the first speaker who was introduced being Mr. Coulter, of Cayuga, the subject of whose address was, according to announcement, Home Rule for Ireland.

Mr. Coulter declared himself to be in favor of Home Rule for Canada as well as Ireland, and to the largest extent. He is in favor of Municipal Home Rule for the Dominion of Canada. Home Rule for the Dominion of Canada. Home Rule is the best check which can be devised against extravagant government. He described the difficulties under which Ireland has labored because she has not selfgovernment. The tenants of Ireland have not the fruit of their own labor.

He gave the history of the manner in which the present land tenure was established in Ireland when it was overrum by invaders from England during the reigns of Queen Elizabeth, Charles I., and the protectorate of Cromwell. These invasions were followed by confiscation of the people's lands, which were handed over to unworthy favorites. The rights of ownership were entirely disregarded, and now the people of the land may respected.

The people of Ireland have been struggling for three hundred years to have these acts of injustice remedied, while at the same time they have no wish to deal harshly or unjustly with their landlords. They claim reasonable when Ireland is given the liberty to govern herself.

He had been a witness of the prosperity of Uster in contrast with the poverty of the rest of Ireland; but this prosperity arises from the fact that the rights of the tenants are recognized by law in Ulster. The rights of the tenants are acred there, and they have a value equal to those of the landlords. The only means to restore prosperity to the whole country is to let an Irish Parliament legislate for the benefit of the whole people, recognizing the just claims of landlords, but laying it down as a first principle that the tiller of the soil is justly the proprietor.

The people of Ireland had been deprived of the rights of property when the country was conquered, in order that worthless favorites might be enriched. Their lands were confiscated from their true owners. Elsewhere such measures had not been adopted on the conquest of a new territory. The rights of ownership had been protected. This was the case when Quebec was captured, and later when Alsace and Lorraine had been wrested by Germany from France. The rights of property owners had been respected.

The people of Iyeland have been struggling.

Interesting Ceremony at the Catholic Church of La Salette.

On Sunday, the 28th ult., an interesting ceremony took place in the Catholic church of La Salette, viz., the univeiling and blessing of a life sized statue of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, which was recently purchased by the ladies of the League of the Sacred Heart, which is established in the parish.

High Mass was celebrated by Rev. P. Corcoran, P. P., who also delivered an appropriate discourse on the doctrine of the Catholic Church regarding the use and due veneration of sacred pricures and images. He explained that they are an aid to devotion by leading us to imitate the virtues of the saints they represent; and when the image is that of our divine Saviour, as in the present instance, it conduces towards making us understand better His love for mankind, and thus to increase our love for Him.

The devotion to His Sacred Heart, which it is the purpose of the statue of the Sacred Heart to foster, is a devotion especially tending to increase under the love for our Blessed Lord, as the Heart of Jesus loved us so intensely; and in revelation made to Blessed Margaret Mary, Christ made known that He will confer special favors upon those who keep in their houses an image of the Sacred Heart. This devotion is reality devotion to our Lord Himself, regarded in His divine characters and practice special devoton to His Sacred Heart. WESTERN FAIR, 1892.

Three weeks more and the Western Fair of 1892 will be in full swing. The Secretary and Directors, are now busy arranging all the preliminaries for this great exhibition, and we are informed that the exhibit promises to be larger, of better quality, and more instructive than has been heretofore shown.

The Directors recognize the fact that this exposition should always be in the lead as an agricultural show; at the same time they lock to it that the amusements and special attractions, for the pleasure of exhibitors, should not be lacking, and have at great expense secured some of the best that can be bad, including Madame Marantette and her stable of magnificent horses, Prof. Lyon's trick oxen. MARKET REPORTS.

London, Sept. 1.—The market was large to-day, and the Square was crowded with buyers and sellers. Wheat deliveries were fair, and prices ranged from $1.15 to $1.29 per cental, or $0.10 to $2.5 per bushel. Old oats sold at $9.6 to $1.00 per cental. Latest Live Stock Markets.

TORONTO.

Sept. 1.—If anything, there was a slight firamess to trade at Western Cattle Market, brought about in export cattle by the reduction of ocean freights. Receipts were heavy. There came in 81 carioads, including 623 sheep and lambs, 437 hogs and four calves. Close on to 69 carloads of stuff went through to the east.

CATILE.—Fat exporters show no improvement. About the only dealers handling these is Mr. Eakins. The highest price touched was 45c per lb. Stockers and short-keep cattle monopolize the shipping trade. Stockers averaging about 99 pounds a piece bring 35c per lb.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.—The sheep trade is dull. Lambs find a fair sale at from 30 to 85 per head.

CALVES.—A good deal of poor stuff offered, some of it selling as low as 81 per head. Good calves brought from 80 to 85,59 per head, though one or two choice veals touched 89 per head.

Hogs.—There was still a weakness in the hog trade, though some dealers state that it is firmer. Weighed off cars, good straight fat hogs brought from 81,59 to 85 per cwt., according to quality.

BUFFALO.

Buffalo, N. V., Sept. 1.—CATTLE—Total receipts for the week but to now. One thouseout logs brought from $1.50 to $6$ per cwt., according to quality.

BUFFALO.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 1.—CATTLE—Total receipts for the week up to noon. One thousand four hundred and sixty head; shipments during the same time, 12,800 head; 162 loads consigned through, 28 on sale. The fresh receipts were 5 cars, and fully 25 loads held over fromformer arrivals of the week. The market ruled about steady, however, to a shade firmer as there was more demand than for several days past, but all were not sold. Good 1,200 to 1,30 h. steers sold at $5.30 to $1, and fair to good lots of cows and heliers at $2.25 to $3.53 as to quality.

Hoos.—The supply was very liberal again, all of 40 loads holding over and about 29 loads of fresh receipts. The market again ruled lower and very dull, with common light grassers and light 5thin logs almost unsalable. A few loads of the best corn-fed mediums and packers hogs brought $5.25 to $5.55 early, but the bulk of the supply sold at $5.25 to $5.50, and common lof at $1.85 to $6.50, and common lof at $1.85 to $6.50, and common light grassers quote at $1.85 to $5.50, and common light grassers quote at $1.85 to $5.50, and common lof at $1.85 to $6.50, and the wasker for thin light lambs, and this kind could hardly be sold at any price and have been accumulating all the week. Good to choice wethers are quotable at $1.85 to $5.50 and the sold at $2.50 to $6.50 common to fair lots sold at $2.50 to $6.50 common to fair lots down to $6$ and $8.25.
