

Doctor Brigham Says

MANY PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womanhood is not because it is a stimulant, not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and reconstructive ever discovered to act directly upon the generative organs, positively curing disease and restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures and physicians who have recognized the virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due.

If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience it can be relied upon to effect a cure. The following letter proves it.

Dr. S. G. Brigham, of 4 Brigham Park, Fitchburg, Mass., writes:

"It gives me great pleasure to say that I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound very efficacious, and often prescribe it in my practice for female difficulties. My oldest daughter found it very beneficial for uterine trouble some time ago, and my youngest daughter is now taking it for a female weakness, and is surely gaining in health and strength."

"I freely advocate it as a most reliable specific in all diseases to which women are subject, and give it honest endorsement." Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, bloating (constipation), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that bearing-down feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. No living person has had the benefit of a wider experience in treating female ills. She has guided thousands to health. Every suffering woman should ask for and follow her advice if she wants to be strong and well.

THE HANDY PAIL.

A Useful Item in Camping and Light Housekeeping.

Except when in camp few people use a pail for cooking and regard pails as only for carrying things or, possibly, for storing food temporarily, remarks the Boston Cooking School Magazine in making the following suggestions: For light housekeeping and for gas stoves anywhere pails will be found very convenient. A long handled agate dish does not balance so well, and the handle protrudes dangerously when one has to work in limited space.

An agate pail is very useful to make apple or cranberry sauce, as the close fitting cover keeps in the steam, so that the fruit cooks quickly. Dumpings may be made and added to a stew of vegetables, as well as meat. The writer knew of one little mother who made four or six dumpings on a platter, as she had no molding board in her tiny flat and cooked them in her hot apple sauce very satisfactorily. Cold meat bought at a delicatessen store can be made into a stew and dumpings be added.

The pail makes a double boiler for a custard or cereal as an earthen bowl is set in the top. This is far more satisfactory than placing any bowl or dish in an open pan, from which the water boils away so much faster. The cover of the pail answers for a cover for the bowl. The expense of a separate farina kettle or double boiler is thus saved, and the bowl and pail are useful separately. A long handled agate dish may be used instead of a bowl for the top part of such an improvised double boiler, for it is more easily lifted off than a bowl, to keep the water replenished. This will atone for the handle being in the way sometimes.

NO NEW CLOTHES.

The Latest Notion in Paris—Jaunty Suits For the Surf.

"Do you know the most desired effect of every costume that the elegant wears? It is that of being already worn a hundred times. No one wears new dresses except in the privacy of her home. It is not that shabby or soiled clothes are desirable, but it is absolutely necessary that the new, uncreased effect of materials be blotted from a toilet before a well dressed woman cares to appear in it. Even freshly laundered linens and ducks are smarter a bit crumpled, so that everything settles into the habitual lines of the figure, and one looks as though not dressed up especially for the occasion. One sees on every occasion that tulle scarfs, chiffon boas, cravats, gloves and boots, though not soiled, have declined marks of having been intimately a part of the feminine toilet for many wearings." So writes the Paris correspondent of Vogue, in which journal also appear the accompanying jaunty designs for bathing suits.

A white mohair bathing suit is trimmed with stitched bands and disks of pale blue mohair, while pale blue predominates in the tie of Scotch plaid silk. The skirt is in seven box plaited gores, the plaits stitched to half the skirt depth. The waist is attached to the skirt beneath the corselet girdle.

The other suit is of navy blue taffeta trimmed with bands of cardinal taffeta in design, the edges stitched in navy blue. The buttons are also covered in cardinal, and the detachable shield is of this color embroidered with navy blue polka dots.

Tapioea Pudding.

Soak one tablespoonful of tapioea in cold water overnight. Put the tapioea in a quart of boiling milk, boil half an hour, beat the yolks of four eggs with a cup of sugar, add three tablespoonfuls of prepared coconut, stir it in and boil ten minutes longer. Pour it into a pudding dish, beat the whites of four eggs to a stiff froth and stir in three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Put this over the top of the pudding and sprinkle coconut over the top and brown for a few minutes.

Household Wrinkles.

When the boiler springs a leak, put the solder on the inside, not on the outside.

Boil the sugar corn just twelve minutes; no more, no less.

A bit of nice salt pork tastes good even in warm weather. Freshen it, roll it in flour and fry to a crisp.

If any one is so unfortunate as to "get into" the sticky fly paper, a liberal rubbing with butter will dissolve the sticky stuff so that it can be washed off.

Who knows? Perhaps the baby is thirsty for just a drink of cool water.

Table linen should not be starched, but ironed while quite damp with hot irons until dry. If not damp enough when ironed it will be too limp.—Farm Journal.

DURNAN BEATS SULLIVAN.

Fifteen Boat Lengths Ahead For the Championship of America.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Eddie Durnan of Toronto defeated Tom Sullivan of London, England, over the bay course yesterday by 15 lengths for the sculling championship of America.

It was as pretty a race as ever contested for half the distance and then the Englishman collapsed.

Approaching the turning stake Sullivan was leading by two lengths, when he discovered that he was exactly in Durnan's water, or 150 feet out of his course. Sullivan not only lost his two lengths lead, but two more on rounding and he was all in when they straightened out for home.

The return journey was a procession and the sightseers were quick to learn what the result would be.

Durnan was greeted with whistles from the steamboats, toots from the launches and cheers from the myriads of all sorts of boats and sails.

Sullivan seemed game, though tired, and he finished with a 27 clip, though far in the rear.

The time—20:55 4-5—was remarkably good, considering wind and weather, and Toronto Rowing Club men say that Durnan can easily do the course a minute faster.

It was a race between two perfect scullers. Durnan had the longer reach, and probably put in his sculls with better effect. Sullivan had the more powerful stroke and therein gained his advantage to the turn.

Durnan's part of the stake—$1,000—was put up entirely by L. Solman. Wright turned over the $2,000 to Mr. Solman, who in turn transferred the entire amount to Durnan, along with $500 he won in a side bet.

Teemer beat Hanlan the last American championship race over the same course in 1882, though it was somewhat less than three miles. The world's record is held by Jake Gaudaur, made in the Austin, Texas, regatta. Time, 19:01 1-2.

Coler. Their Proper Treatment and Cure.

Commonly, the first symptom of a "cold" is a chilly feeling, accompanied by sneezing, or a tickling in the throat. The most frequent of external causes are draughts, wet or cold feet, or going from hot rooms suddenly into cold ones. More frequently there is an inner cause—namely the stagnation of the blood caused by constipation or biliousness. Almost the first symptom is the feeling of cold in the feet and increased discharge from the nose.

No one ever takes cold unless constipated, or exhausted, and having what we call mal-nutrition, which is attended with impoverished blood and exhaustion of nerve force. Tonics consisting of large portions of alcohol, iron or cod liver oil do not bring the desired changes in the blood, because they do not enter the system and are not absorbed into the blood, with the exception of the alcohol, which shrivels up the red blood corpuscles when it does come in contact with them. We recommend the botanical extract of Dr. Pierce because it contains no alcohol, and offers a reasonable and scientific method of treating the blood, by improving the nutritive functions of the patient. The "Golden Medical Discovery" accomplishes this, by first restoring the enfeebled digestive organs, so that food, the natural tissue builder, will be digested and assimilated.

Accept no substitute for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.

BOX GARDENS.

The Happy Outcome of an Anxious Disappointment.

An August disappointment resulted in subsequent satisfaction last year and added helpful facts to my window garden experience. A new and wonderful ever blooming daisy had been recommended by a local florist as especially adaptable for summer window garden culture. It proved to be of the same general nature as our native daisies, producing luxuriant bloom in the early summer and taking a season of rest during August in order to be ready to produce a second scanty supply of flowers in the autumn. During late July and August, just when it was most desirable to have the summer window boxes at their best, it was a flat failure.

In disgust at the dilapidated appearance of the long window box from which so much had been expected and so little obtained I rooted out the plants completely, not even leaving a few for autumn display. The box was filled with fresh soil, and thrifty geranium slips from the lawn beds were set rather close, with periwinkle and ivy, well rooted, set along the edge of the box and trained up over it, to give a green appearance while the geraniums were getting a start. With copious watering and judicious shading from the hot midday sun, the sturdy, reliable geraniums quickly responded, and two flourishing potted geraniums, full of bloom, were set at each end of the box to produce the color display while the slips were growing into blooming size.

A Winter Window Box.

When potting time came and frosty nights made it necessary to hasten the winter bloomers inside each August slipped geranium had made such flourishing growth and gave such promise of abundant bloom that it seemed unwise to disturb the roots. The summer window box was therefore converted into a winter window box without any further ceremony whatever.

As the box itself was covered with bark in quaint, rustic effect it was especially ornamental for the main shelf of the winter garden, and, fortunately, of just the right size. The two potted geraniums, which were nearly exhausted with their all summer blooming, were removed from the box to give the flourishing young plants more room. The winter blooming set in with most satisfactory vigor as soon as the plants were taken inside and continued throughout the winter and spring.

Again a Summer Box.

It seemed that the plants must surely be exhausted by the following summer, but that experimental box garden was the surprise of the neighborhood during the spring and early summer. The well developed plants were simply a mass of bloom when the weather became sufficiently warm and settled to give the box its old position for summer window display outside. At the time when other window boxes were getting their first straggling start into future loveliness this box garden was at the height of its beauty, and the plants did not demand a rest until the other summer window boxes were well filled with bloomers, and this could be spared for recuperation.

Now Is the Day to Start Slips.

Geranium slips started early in August produce more rapid and flourishing growth than at any other season if carefully watered and intelligently shaded until well rooted. This is the best time to start the winter window boxes, if it is desirable to have luxuriant blooming from the time they are first taken inside.

Suitable vines and trailers add materially to the success of box gardening. German ivy, climbing nasturtiums and ivy geraniums are all abundantly satisfactory and form thrifty trailers as well as climbers.—Phebe W. Humphreys in Good Housekeeping.

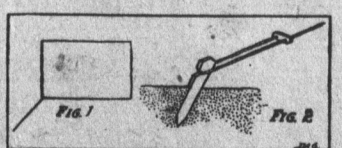

Jellied Lamb Chops.

This chandfried is a particularly appetizing hot weather dish, says the Ladies' World. Trim neatly the required number of French chops and saute in hot butter, put between two plates and press until cold. Make an aspic jelly by adding an eighth of a box of gelatin to a cupful of highly seasoned beef broth. When thickened add an equal amount of mayonnaise, coat the chops thickly and set away in a cold place until wanted.

When Camping.

Our experience with wet weather when camping taught us that beds should never touch the wall, nor should other articles of furniture, as the tent will not shed the rain, but wet through in such places, says a Good Housekeeping correspondent.

In order always to have a dry floor even when it rains, dig a small trench around the tent, and from that one an outlet down the slope (according to Fig. 1), for a tent should always be on an elevated spot. Stake the bottom edge of the tent down all around;

DITCH AND STAKE.

then, if the ends are closed, you will be quite safe even in a strong windstorm. Stakes should be driven with head slanting toward the tent, as Fig. 2 indicates. They will stand more strain. Just before a rain examine the stakes to see that they are firm, then slightly loosen the ropes, as they shrink when wet and either pull up stakes or tear the canvas. Above all, take woolen blankets. There is nothing so comforting when the weather is damp.

His Idea of Happiness.

Here's an old time citizen's idea of summer happiness:

Lots of trouble in life I see,
An' I dunno where 'twill lan' me,
But I've found a place 'neath a shady tree—
A fine old garden where mint grows free,
An' the ju'ep's sweet as sweet kin be,
An' a cool west wind to fan me!

No Trust.

"Well, anyway, I know for a fact that Heapeck's wife doesn't trust him."
"Nonsense! Why, he's the meekest and most harmless little man!"
"That's all right, but I heard him ask her to lend him 25 cents until his next pay day, and she wouldn't do it!"

Older the Better.

"Yes," said the old man to his young visitor, "I am proud of my girls and would like to see them comfortably married, and as I have made a little money they will not go penniless to their husbands. There is Mary, twenty-five years old and a really good girl. I shall give her $1,000 when she marries. Then comes Bet, who won't see thirty-five again, and I shall give her $3,000. And the man who takes Eliza, who is forty, will have $5,000 with her."

The young man reflected a moment and then inquired:

"You haven't one about fifty, have you?"—Judge.
