

Colds

It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and prepares the system for the more serious diseases, among which are the two greatest destroyers of human life, pneumonia and consumption.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

has won its great popularity by its promptness in this most common ailment. It aids expectoration, relieves the lungs and opens the secretions, effecting a speedy and permanent cure. It counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia.

Price 25c, Large Size 50c.

World's Coldest City.

Yakutsk, the commercial emporium of Eastern Siberia, is said to be the coldest city in the world. It is located in the midst of a bare desert over 1,500,000 square miles in extent, where the soil never thaws to admit of cultivation. The city consists of about 100 European structures and huts of hide occupied by nomads in winter. Communication is by caravans.

Grip Quickly Knocked Out.

Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of grippe with all its miserable symptoms. My wife, Mrs. J. S. Foughton of Maple Landing, Iowa, knees and joints aching, muscles sore, head stopped up, eyes and nose running, with all the usual spells of chills and fever. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, adding the same with a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and by its liberal use soon completely knocked out the grip. These Tablets promote a healthy action of the bowels, liver and kidneys which is beneficial when the system is congested by a cold or attack of the grip. For sale by Rand's Drug Store.

He was ten years old, and when he slipped out of the house at daylight he left a note for his mother saying he was going west to fight the Indians. A discouraging combination of circumstances, in which hunger, weariness and fear all played a part, made him think better of it, and he returned to the parental roof at 9:30 p. m. He was not received with open arms. Indeed, the family met him with coldness. The clock ticked, his father's newspaper rattled, his big sister studied obtrusively, even his mother didn't seem to care whether he came back or not. Nicodemus, the cat, not being in the secret, roared and rubbed his soft side caressingly against the culprit's leg. He stooped to get him, and then with a desperate attempt to start the '20,' conversation he demanded abruptly: 'Is this the cat?'

Brachicilia Asthma a Heavy Burden.

Asthma is bad enough but when brachicilia symptoms are added the poor sufferer has almost an intolerable existence. An absolute specific is found in fragrant healing, Catarrhozone which cures chronic cases that other remedies won't even relieve. For years, writes Capt. MacDonal of Montreal, 'I lathered with the agencies of brachicilia asthma. Often I couldn't sleep for nights at a time. I spent thousands on doctors and medicines without relief, but one dollar's worth of Catarrhozone cured me. Catarrhozone can't fail; its guaranteed. Two months treatment $1.00; trial 25c.'

An aged clergyman, with silver hair, was the recipient of several simultaneous requests from young ladies for a lock of his hair. The request was complied with, the clergyman being pleased to fulfil wishes which seemed founded on a sentiment of respect, and all went well until his wife received this note. 'Dear Mrs. Won't you please ask your husband to send me a lock of his hair? We have all been taking lessons in making hair flowers. So many of the other girls asked him and he sent it to them, that I thought I would rather ask you to get it. Won't you please do this for me? It is so hard to get white hair for the ladies of the valley.'

Why Brain Workers Break Down.

Man is not a machine that keeps going as long as the steam is applied. He is a creature of blood, nerves, and delicately balanced organism. Many don't realize this, but overwork their brains and break down. Brain workers need a strong, bracing tonic like Ferrone to fortify their nerves and keep the blood pure and rich. Take Ferrone and you'll do more work. You will have the strength, the ambition and the desire for work because your system will be in first-class order. For your health and strength take Ferrone regularly. Price 50c, at druggists.

To Do Even the Most Humble Work with ability and well something more than blind mechanical service must be given. A young waitress once asked her cook about a certain recipe. 'Just how much flour do you put in, Mary?' 'Law, nun, you don't follow any rule; you just use your judgment!' 'But suppose you don't have any judgment,' returned the puzzled mistress. 'Then don't cook!' was the reply, succinct and to the point.

To Cure Fever Chills

And such complaints as 'Shivers' and ague we recommend Nervine very highly. Twenty drops of Nervine taken in hot water with a little sugar three times daily not only stops the chills but knocks out the disease completely. Nervine has a direct action on fever chills and removes the conditions causing them. It stimulates and restores Nervine.

CLEANED BY THE WAY.

Old Gentleman—I want to get copies of your paper for a week back. Clerk—Hada't you better try a porous plaster?

When you want a pleasant laxative take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by Rand's Drug Store.

Dealer—Well, sir, did that turkey do all your family? Customer—Very nearly; the doctor says he'll have to come for a week yet.

Surest Cure for Colds

'It is with pleasure that I testify to the wonderful success of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Licorice and Turpentine as a cure for colds. It is the best and so effective for coughs and colds that I have ever been able to find.—Mrs. Geo. Goss, Fitchburg, Arlington Co., Ont.

'What! My nephew in jail? Why, I allus und'rstood he was coming home!'

'Yep, that's jest it. They ketch'd him.'

Nervous Sick Headache

Mrs. D. H. H. Stone, Stone, Ont., writes—'I was troubled for a long time with headaches, which would come on about once a week with such violence that I could not eat or do my work. I tried headache powders and such cures, which did no good. About eight months ago I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I have not been troubled with headache since.'

Mrs. Dawson—Are they good neighbors? Mrs. Dawson—No, they always look sour when we go over there to use their telephone.

A Certain Cure for Croup.

When a child shows symptoms of croup there is no time to experiment with new remedies, no matter how highly they may be recommended. There is one preparation that can always be depended upon. It has never been known to fail and it has been in use for many years, viz: Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. M. F. Compton of Market, Texas, says of it, 'I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in severe cases of croup with my children, and can truthfully say it always gives relief.'

Be as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age, will occasionally eat too much or of some article of food not suited to his constitution, and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to cleanse and invigorate his stomach and regulate his liver's action. When this is done there is no reason why the average man should not live to old age. For sale by Rand's Drug Store.

The Little Ones.

Do we, as White Ribbons, working in our little obscure corner, many of us, realize that we are making history?

Once in a while it happens that something memorable, something which brings us as an organization in prominence, comes to our knowledge. Such items seem to me matters of importance not to be ignored. They thrill us through and through. They should not be forgotten or known only to a few. Let me tell you of something which happened last fall, as I heard the preacher tell it a few Sundays ago.

The preacher is young, but not so young but that he can count a half dozen years, at least, given to the fight with Ignorance. He tells plain truths, and he calls men by their names; and, thank God, he leads' forces on to victory. The preacher believes absolutely in God as one who does what he promises, as one who can be trusted, as one who works miracles to-day, if miracles are needed, very much as He did in Bible times.

The preacher is engaged in a no-license fight. Last year a similar fight had been successful. This is the second year, and the success will be repeated, if at all, against great odds. The preacher, at the conclusion of his Connecticut fight last year, had crossed over into New York into the town where he had many times won laurels in the past, until five years of no license had almost transformed the town. Five years!

You would have thought things were safe, would you not? But the preacher had been called for. All that had been achieved in the past was in danger. The open saloon was again probable. It seemed to them no one else could avert the danger, not one but this leader of old. He did not tell this on the Sunday I speak of, but I knew it, and I did wonder as I listened to him that they sent for him; I did not wonder as I listened to him that the liquor men had tried to take his life. I did not wonder that the joy-bells rang at last over another year of freedom won at desperate odds.

The preacher paused. We listened. He stooped and drew something from within the desk. He held it in his hand, and again fixed his eyes on his spell-bound audience. Then he spoke holding, as he did so, to the sight of all a bow of white ribbon wider and larger than the usual sign of our order. Upon the ends of the ribbon were ominous dark stains. Let the preacher tell the story:

'The women of the W. C. T. U. had been praying all day. As the sun went down, and the vote was counted, and it was sure that we had won, their joy was too great for words. An impromptu procession was formed, and they marched singing through the town. The leaders were ladies prominent socially and religiously.

'Way down near the end of the line was one little woman not prominent for anything, but she wanted to show in some way what she felt. So, instead of the little ribbon usually worn she put on this much larger one and marched with the rest, singing her praise and thanks to God.

'Suddenly a second story window opened, a stone was thrown with great force at the large snow-white ribbon. It struck and cut her face, and the life-blood gushed forth spitting the ribbon as you see it. Here he held it up that all might see. 'She felt senseless, but was instantly and tenderly ministered to, and the life which had been endangered was spared.

'One of the women who had been bustling about took it to throw it into the fire. Another said: 'perhaps Mr. D.—would like to have that, and so it was given to me, and I wouldn't take ten thousand dollars for it. It is more sacred than any battle flag, for the blood was shed in a holy cause. In that town it can never be forgotten, and nothing can undo the work then done for the cause of God and home and native land.'

'God bless the little woman who wore the large bow! God bless the fearless preacher! God prosper him in his warfare, and again crown him and the force of consecrated men and women whom he leads with victory.—Mrs. A. H. Sock, in The Union Signal.

EXTREME CASE OF NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Astonishing results obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. MYLES St. Woodville, Essex Co., Ont., writes—'When I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was confined to my bed with what the doctor said was nervous prostration. My stomach was very weak and I could not sleep. Nervous chills and trembling would come over me at times and I seemed to be getting weaker and weaker all the time. There were also pains on top of the head which caused me much suffering and anxiety.

'After using half a dozen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I began to gain weight and to feel stronger. Since then I have been gradually restored to a health and in looking back can say that the improvement has been something wonderful. I used in all forty boxes of this preparation and feel it a duty as well as a privilege to recommend it to all who are afflicted with nervous disorders.'

Within the town of Wolfville and neighborhood:

1. Shop and premises on Main street near opposite 'Central Hotel' now in occupation of J. W. Seifridge.
2. Parcel of land containing about one and a half acres directly opposite 'Thornleigh,' the beautiful residence of Hon. Justice Townsend. The charming location and beautiful environment of this property, with its 120 feet frontage, renders it most eligible for building purposes.
3. About 9 acres of land on west side of Highway avenue, containing about 300 apple trees just coming into bearing. This property would make fine building lots.
4. On the Wickwire dyke, five and a half acres of land near the division dyke.
5. In Grand Pie, buildings and premises lately occupied by John Robinson. This farm contains 30 acres of land, of which 10 acres are in orchard. There are 600 apple trees, the greater number just coming into bearing, besides peaches, plums and peach trees. For further particulars apply to ANDREW DICK, BARRE.
