Three tired citizens—a lawyer, a doctor and a newspaper man—sat in a back room recently in the cold gray light of the early dawn. On the table were many empty bottles and a couple of packets of cards. As they sat in silence a rat scurried across the hearth into the darkness beyond. The three men shifted their feet and looked at each other uneasily. After a long pause the lawyer spoke.
"I know what you fellows are thinking," he said, "you think I saw a rat, but I didn't."

Beauty at Zenith at Forty.

There is a beauty quite apart from youth—the beauty of mature woman. Some there are that maintain that beauty does not reach its zenith under the age of 35 or 40. In a measure this is borne out by events of the antique past, which may like be paralleled with instances of our own day. Helen of Troy appeared on the scene at the age of 40. Cleopatra was 32 when she met Antony. Aspasia, married to Pericles when she was 36, was a figure brilliant in her world for 30 years after. When Diane de Poitiers was past 36 she won the heart of Henry II, and he but half her age. Anne of Austria was 38 when described as the most beautiful woman of Europe. Mile. Mar was heralded as the greatest of beauties at 45, and Mile. Recamier was at her best between the ages of 35 and 50. All these women were world-famed for their beauty, and gave the direct to that toothless old age which buzzes the power of sweet sixteen. The dew of youth and a complexion of roses it must be admitted sometimes combine in a face that is unmoving, irrefragable, utterly lacking in that expression which goes to the making of a perfectly wonderful visage.

The World's Cities.

Tokio has 8,000 public baths.
Budapest and St. Louis have the deepest water wells in the world.
London consumes over 9,000,000 tons of coal every year.
Paris possesses the largest public gardens and the largest hospital.
In Bilbao there is a law prohibiting the ringing of church bells even on Sunday.
In Tokio, workmen wear upon their jackets the name of their trade and the name of their employer.
St. Peter's, Rome, has a floor area of 227,000 square feet, the greatest of any cathedral in the world.
A London firm of electro-plate makers has in its service eighteen workers who have been with it for over fifty years.
In Vienna Museum there is a collection of coins numbering 125,000. It is said to be the finest in the world.
Of all the boy-workers in London, newsboys are the healthiest, barbers the most unhealthy—a tribute to the opened air life.

The Pure Food Law.
Secretary Wilson says, "One of the objects of the law is to inform the consumer of the presence of certain harmful drugs in medicines." The law requires that the amount of chloroform, opium, morphine and other habit forming drugs be stated on the label of each bottle. The manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy have always complied with this remedy did not contain any of these drugs, and the truth of this claim is now fully proven, as no mention of them is made on the label. This remedy is not only one of the safest, but one of the best in use for coughs and colds. Its value has been proven beyond question during the many years it has been in use. Locomotor Ataxia Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Read the Strong Testimony of a Man Who was Helpless for Years and Whom Hospital Doctors Said was Incurable.

Locomotor ataxia is a disease of the spinal cord, characterized by peculiar disturbances of the gait, and difficulty in governing the motion of the legs. As the disease progresses there is a total inability to walk. One of the earliest signs is a tired feeling particularly noted in the knees and ankles. Often a numb feeling is associated with it. As the disease is of slow growth, some cases covering a period of years, the increase and intensity of the symptoms is not noticed, but its progress is constant and gradually approaches a total lack of feeling in the legs, causing a wobbling gait and entire inability to govern the steps. As it grows the patient loses control over the bowels and bladder. A further symptom is the sensation of a pressure at the waist, as the upper parts of the spinal cord become affected. Locomotor ataxia is stubborn in yielding to treatment, and before the discovery of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was considered incurable. It has been fully demonstrated, however, that this disease can be cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The length of treatment required depends upon the stage at which it is commenced. It is dangerous to delay taking the pills after the presence of the disease is recognized, although this medicine has wrought cures in many cases of long standing. We give the following statement of Mr. Henry Furzer, a well known resident of Delta, Ont., in proof of the claims that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure this most dreaded of diseases. Mr. Furzer says: "I am deeply grateful that I am able to write you and let you know the great benefit I have derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Some years ago, while working on the Grand Trunk Railway, I injured my back while lifting a heavy weight. Gradually the trouble grew worse and I was taken to the hospital at Brockville. The treatment there seemed to help me and after some weeks I returned to work. I was only able to work a few days when the trouble returned worse than before. Again I went to the hospital, blisters were applied to my spine, but without avail. The doctors told me I had locomotor ataxia, and that there was no help for me, as I would never be able to use my legs again. I returned home in the belief that I would always be a helpless cripple, and that death only could bring relief. I gradually got worse and worse. There was absolutely no feeling in my legs. I lost control of both bowels and bladder, and suffered great torture from a grinding pain about the waist. I could scarcely sleep at night. Finally a friend asked me if I had ever tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and on my saying no, he got me a set, and I began to use them. It was quite a while before I found any benefit, but finally relief began to come. The pain about the waist ceased, I slept better and my appetite was better. Then the feeling began gradually to return to my legs, and then I was again able to stand alone. As time went on the improvement continued, and I was at last able to go about with the use of a cane, and I could get in and out of a buggy without assistance. I scarcely hope to be the vigorous man I once was, but only those who have suffered as I did can imagine the great gratitude I feel for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I strongly and sincerely advise similar sufferers to give this medicine a fair trial. You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Signboard.
I will paint you a sign, rum-seller And hang it over your door; A true and better signboard Than ever you had before. I will paint with the skill of a master And many shall pause to see This wonderful piece of painting, So like the reality. I will paint yourself, rum-seller, As you wait for that fair young boy, Just in the morning of manhood, A mother's pride and joy. He has no thought of stopping, But you greet him with a smile, And you seem so blithe and friendly, That he pauses to chat awhile. I will paint you again, rum-seller— I will paint you as you stand, With a foaming glass of liquor Extended in your hand. He wavers, but you urge him— "Drink, pledge me just this one!" And he lifts the glass and drains it, And the hellish work is done. And I next will paint a drunkard— Only a year has flown. But into this loathsome creature The fair young boy has grown. The work was quick and rapid— I will paint him as he lies, In a torpid, drunken slumber, Under the wintry skies. I will paint you the iberol of the mother, As she kneels at her darling's side, Her beautiful boy that was dearer Than all the world besides. I will paint you the shape of a coffin Labelled with one word—"Lost." I will paint you all this, rum-seller, And will paint it free of cost. The sin and the shame and the sorrow, The crime and the want and the woe, That are born there in your workshop, No hand can paint, you know. But I'll paint you a sign, rum-seller, And many shall pause to view This wonderful, swinging signboard, So terribly, fearfully true. —League Journal.

A Judge to a Saloon-keeper.
A saloon-keeper in Kenosha City was suing for divorce in the Circuit Court presided over by Judge Park. The wife of the saloon keeper was in the state asylum for the insane at St. Joseph, taken there as the result of excessive indulgence in drink. Judge Park, in delivering his opinion, said: "The salient fact of this case are that the husband used the wife for divorce because of excessive intemperance. He married her when she was a mere girl and soon after her marriage, he went into the saloon business and is to it yet. His testimony was that his wife drank before he married her, and that she loved alcohol so well that she used it in her coffee. The testimony of the witnesses for the wife tends to show that the husband is not entitled to a divorce. He took this young and innocent girl from her father's home and made her his wife. If she was then addicted to drink he ought not to have been surprised at its development later. If she was not addicted to this excessive use of drink when he married her—there is a strong testimony to show that she was not—then the fact that he is in the saloon business tends to show that he is responsible for her fall, and there is strong testimony to show that he is.
