The Joy of Giving.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

Whenever most of us think of practical philanthropy, we push a mental button labeled "Pastime peculiar to the old rich." Therein lies a fallacy that robs us of much of the joy of living; expressed in this instance, in the joy of giving. It is true that we can give not largely, perhaps, but we can give in accordance with our incomes.

The trouble with the people who constitute the class to which most of us belong, neither disgracefully rich or disconcertingly poor, is that we give in the abstract. At Christmas time and again at Thanksgiving, we hearken to the appeal of the Salvation Army. At various times during the year we respond to the need of the heathen. A famine in India, a flood in China, or a lesser catastrophe nearer at hand, wrings a dollar, or ten from us.

Strange folk that we are, we go no further. We can read "A Christmas Carol" and be divinely touched by the story of Scrooge's softening, yet we fail to grasp the lesson that Dickens tried to teach. The fact that "Tiny Tim" is but a type, and that, if sins of omission are counted, we are to be reckoned as but other Scrooges, escapes our observation.

The point of all this? I can answer best, perhaps, by telling of such things as I have observed. I know of a slimly salaried minister who devotes ten per cent of his income to helping needy families he himself searches out. I know of an old couple who would have long since been separated, the one in the poorhouse, the other in a home for the aged indigent, were it not for the charity of a girl who, from the money she herself earns, pays their rent.

I know of a crippled child who has a fairy godmother, whom you would describe as just a colorless little stenographer lady. I know of an old blind woman who prays daily—hourly. I might almost say—for a "vera bona lass" who comes to her, chats with her, and occasionally brings her the luxury she craves, tea, in quarter pound packages.

It may be that you do not know of such cases. Then you have never looked. It may be that you think it would be nice of you, but dull. You are wrong. Scrooge gave not because he believed it his duty, but because of a strange, sweet warmth that thawed his heart, and because of a strange, new pleasure with which he thrilled in the act of giving.

Far-fetched it may sound to you. But try it.

A WOMAN'S GOOD LOOKS.

Depend on her general health and freedom from pain. Many a woman looks old before her time because of those irregularities which are essentially feminine. Starting from early womanhood, she suffers from frequently recurring derangements that upset her womanly health. If she has beautiful hair that grows into that mellowness without wrinkles and crow's feet about the eyes or the blue circles underneath, it is invariably the rule that such women suffer little, or not at all, from womanly derangements which seep the health and leave in the face the tell-tale story of pain and suffering.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, the famous specialist in the diseases of women, found a prescription in his early practice that soothed the organism peculiar to womanhood—oiled the machinery, as it were, of the human system—and helped the woman to pass those painful periods that scar-lined and aged her face. This remedy became the well-known Dr. Pierce's Prescription, that has benefited thousands of women and saved them from misery and suffering at different periods in life.

Mrs. HASKELY E. FRANK, of 844 Bright Street, Sania, Ont., writes: "I am now a well woman after suffering for three years and doctoring with several different doctors, each one saying it was something different, and the last one, after passing me through a thorough examination, said I was suffering from a growth, which, in time, would result in cancer, and I said I would consent to have it removed, but I was operated upon right away. I became hopelessly discouraged but would not consent to the operation as I was too weak and too much afraid, but at last, through the advice of a friend, I tried Dr. Pierce's medicine, and after using two bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' I immediately felt a change. I also used two boxes of 'Healing Suppositories' and eight boxes of 'Lotion Tablets,' and can safely praise the name of Dr. Pierce's medicines to all who suffer from any female disease, for these medicines are all they are claimed to be, and I hope will help others as they have helped me."

Duties of the Old-Time Nurses.

Were Required to Carry Out Dead and Bury Them.

In their "History of Nursing" the authors, Miss Nutting and Miss Dock, quote from an article written in 1764 which give an insight into what was required of the trained nurse in the eighteenth century. The article says: "This occupation is as important for humanity as its functions are low and repugnant. All persons are not adapted to it, and the heads of hospitals ought to be difficult to please, for the lives of patients may depend upon their choice of applicants. The nurse should be patient, mild, compassionate. She should console the sick, foresee their needs and relieve their tedium.

"The domestic duties of the nurse are to light the fires in the wards and keep them going, to carry and distribute nourishment, to accompany the surgeons and doctors on their rounds and afterward to remove all dressings, etc.; to sweep the halls and wards and keep the persons of the patients and their surroundings clean, to empty all vessels and change the patients' linen, to prevent noise, quarrelling and disturbances, to notify the steward of everything they see which is wrong, to carry out the dead and bury them, to light the lamps in the evening and visit the sick during the night and to watch them continually, giving them every aid which their state requires and treating them with kindness and consideration."

In Aid of the Deaf.

Invention Will Make Electrical Hearing Apparatus Much Cheaper.

London, April 21.—A remarkable invention was shown recently by the National Association for the Prevention and Amelioration of Deafness.

It is an electrical contrivance for the use of doctors and aurists. By the operation of a series of levers the aurist can tell almost immediately the class of mechanical aid needed for a particular case. The instrument, according to the association's description, "raises the level of supplying aural aids and their adjustment to the level of supplying eye-glasses and their adjustment."

It was declared that one effect of the invention will be to bring about a substantial reduction in the cost of electrical hearing apparatus, a cost which is said to be excessively high on account of the time occupied in testing the extent of the defect in the ear.

A well-known cotton magnate is interested in the invention.

Caruso Sings in Big Prison.

Presented with Flowers—Ty Cobb Was Another Famous Visitor, and Was Given Great Reception by Convict Ball Teams.

Atlanta, Ga., April 24.—Enrico Caruso, the operatic tenor, and Tyrus Cobb, the baseball player, visited the federal prison here.

Caruso sang in the prison chapel at the request of Warden Moyer, made in behalf of the Italians who are serving sentences. All the prisoners were allowed to hear the noted singer, and many were moved to tears when he sang the "Sob Song" from Pagliacci.

Caruso was visibly affected at the conclusion of his programme, when his fellow countrymen in the prison presented him with two large bouquets of roses.

Cobb was given a hearty demonstration by members of the six prison baseball teams.

WILL HOLD INQUIRY.—I. G. Sullivan, accompanied by Const. Churchill, left by last evening's train for Musgrave Harbour to enquire into the atrocious case of assault that occurred there, after which the man, who is arrested charged with the deed, may be brought here for trial.
