

THAT DRIVE HIGH PRICES ON IS NOW AT ITS HEIGHT OF SUCCESS!

We are for Fair Prices Now and all the time!

We will continue our policy of FAIR PRICES—during this drive and AFTER it. This store has made "FAIR PRICES" its policy for over 16 years—and that will be its policy ALL THE TIME.

Here is a sale that for value cannot be approached in this city. We'll make it the most notable selling event in the store's history.

LET US PROVE IT.

Break Down the Barrier of High Prices Give the H.C.L. a Staggering Blow! It's Our Duty---and Yours!

The continued advance of HIGH PRICES MUST BE CHECKED. Merchants, manufacturers and the public must work hand in hand to accomplish it. We must ALL do our share. We are doing our's by completely disregarding former costs—or even present costs. We are cutting down ALL prices, bringing them down to something like they were in days gone by. Now it's up to YOU—the Public—to take advantage. Now it's up to YOU to come here, buy what you need and SAVE. Here are values that WE KNOW cannot be approached. Here is a selling event you MUST not overlook.

Methodist Conference

Monday, June 28.

Work was resumed, and after the devotional exercises the minutes were read and confirmed. Rev. Wm. Swan occupied the chair in the absence of the President.

Messrs. Wm. Peters and A. Soper were appointed auditors.

The local preachers and class leaders' committee reported. The discussion will conclude when the state of the work is before the Conference.

Approval was given by Conference for the appointment of Revs. D. Bond, Chas. Lench and Wm. J. Morris for a fifth year.

At 12.15 Rev. Dr. Pedley gave the last of his addresses. The subject, "Henry Ward Beecher; Memories and Reflections." Dr. Pedley spoke of the great American divine as one who knew him intimately. He had sat at his feet; had heard him preach and very frequently. He divided his subject into two heads, Memories and Reflections. He first heard of the great Henry Ward Beecher when he was in St. John's. During the American Civil War the three great names were Lincoln, the Statesman; Grant, the soldier; Beecher, the prophet. He first met him in Montreal in 1876. "My first opportunity," said the Doctor, "was in the winter of 1876-1877. That is a long time ago, but the impression abides." He concluded at the time of his death in 1887 that the world without Beecher was a mutilated world. He was like a gleaner in the harvest field. Beecher made Plymouth Church. He began with 25 members. In 1876, after 29 years of service, the church accommodating 3,000 worshippers, was always filled.

His introduction to the first sermon he preached was: "Lord what a wretched land is this! Wherein is no supply; No beautiful flowers, no wholesome fruits, No streams of living joy." After delivering this doleful verse he paused a moment or two and said, "The man that wrote them didn't deserve any." He beautifully described Beecher's New Year's Eve Sermon at the outgoing of a ship never to return and the incoming of a ship representing a new year. The Friday Evening Lectures were described briefly. There were four classes of workers. He referred to a meeting at the time of the death of Vanderbilt. He, Beecher, made a comparison between the great millionaire and Philip Bliss. Lyman Abbott, another great divine was present, and reminded the audience that Vanderbilt when dying requested the singing of "Rock of Ages" and "Jesus Lover of my Soul." Beecher replied, "Better he had sung those hymns forty years before."

Beecher called upon his congregation to visit him on New Year's Day. High and low, rich and poor, great and small, white and black were invited, and the doctor said, "that was where I saw my opportunity." Reflections:—It may discourage us to come too near to great men; and like Peter we say, "Depart from me for I am a sinful man, O Lord." There was in many things the inimitable. Beecher had inexhaustible vitality. He had a marvellous range of intellectual gifts. He had great facility and fullness of speech. Dr. Dewart had said, "Give me time and I could write something like Dr. Punshon, but I couldn't come near Henry Ward Beecher." There was the inimitable. We may imitate some of the aspects mentioned. Beecher's care of his body, the training of his mind, and also his industry. And more fully in the higher realm imitate his sympathy with men and his fellowship with Christ. This man so well equipped, so abounding in force, had at the centre of his life the Christian motive.

Dr. Pedley closed with a most beautiful reading from the writings of Henry Ward Beecher.

Rev. Dr. Bond moved a resolution expressing sincere appreciation of the Conference. Rev. Dr. Curtis seconded, and Rev. Swann and other supported the motion.

The Station Sheet for 1920-21 was read after the afternoon session had been opened. At 4 p.m. the Board of Governors met and presented the report of the Board for the past year. The election resulted as follows: Hon. R. K. Bishop re-elected Chairman; Hon. R. A. Squires, Secretary; Joseph Peters, Treasurer. Other business being transacted the Board adjourned to meet at 4 p.m. to-day.

Two young men were ordained to the full work of the ministry at the Ordination Service held in the Conference Church last night. President Fenwick conducted the service. The candidates, Benjamin Mallalieu and Thomas J. Pitt, related their experience and call to the ministry. Both are Englishmen and men of excellent promise.

Rev. Dr. Bond delivered an excellent charge. His text, "And he gave some Apostles," was the basis of sound and practical admonition. Reminiscently he referred to the years 1886 and 1889 when he had also given the charge to the candidates for ordination. The man and the message was the gift of the sermon, and fundamental and essential truths were emphasized in the development of the message.
