THE LABOR CONGRESS.

We cordially welcome the delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian

Trades and Labor Congress. Our visitors will find London a pleasant place of abode, and they will be charmed with its surroundings. We can assure them that a very large proportion of the citizens of London are vitally interested in their deliberations, and sympathize with every legitimate effort made to improve the conditions under which the great mass of the people earn their daily bread. Those of the delegates who were in the city on Labor Day must have been convinced of that fact, for no other holiday, in all the eight of the year which are legal, has been observed with greater unanimity. The day was honored by people of every rank and condition of life and without regard to sex. Few people, therefore, will fail to sympathize with the aims of the Congress, for the overwhelming proportion of us are toilers.

It is in the best interests of us all that no man or woman should be compelled to work for less than a living wage, or to toil in drudgery all the hours of the day that can be spared from sleep.

Every man and woman should be given time for mental and moral improvement. It is highly undesirable that any man, or body of men, should be enabled by law to illegitimately profit at the expense of the real producers. For these reasons, the deliberations and findings of this body of men, representatives of a large section of the workers of the country, possess more than a passing interest. The "Advertiser" will keep its many readers fully apprised of them.

REVOLUTION IN STREET TRAVEL

The Toronto Telegram points out that one result of the bicycle and the trolley is to change the business habits of the people. Once the sidewalks were crowded and the pavement comparatively empty, but now the sidewalk is the roomiest part of the roadway.

Sidewalks which were once thronged by people going on foot have been deserted for the roadways, where the people go on wheels of all kinds. Stores which depended for trade upon the attractiveness of their shop windows to people passing on foot cannot catch the eyes of thousands who now whirl past in electric cars or on bicycles.

This change is radical, permanent and serious. Good business stands have lost trade because people with money to spend are carried past stores which they used to enter because they saw something they liked in the windows.

The advertising columns of the family newspaper, our contemporary explains, are now the shop window which the merchant can use to bring what he has to sell before the eye of the purchasing public. In London, up till now, we have had the bicycle side of this picture presented to a limited extent.

When we have the trolley and the asphalt pavement in our business centers, the advice of our shrewd Toronto contemporary will apply to London as well as to its rival city. Happily it is a change for which enterprising merchants have already an effective remedy, as our columns testify.

HONESTY PAYS.

The United States consul at Belfast,

Ireland, sends to his Government information that is of peculiar interest to Canadian agriculturists and fruitgrowers. He says:

"The charge is made that American ham is too heavy and the meat too pigs in a condition that will warrant this designation in the future, and there will be almost unlimited demand for their products at a price in advance of that obtainable for heavy, fat pork. As to apples, we know that again and again Canadian fruit has been brought into disrepute through some unscrupulous packer of apples sending forward scrub stock as first-class goods. It seems that Canadians have learned a lesson from past disaster resulting from thus imposing on old world dealers, and the sharp Yankee, who, last year, had to come to Canada for a large quantity of his apples, is now finding out how quickly all are punished for the misdeeds of a few. Our fruit-growers and dealers should be even more careful to send their best products to the British markets, bearing in mind that any attempt to represent second-class fruit as the best will bring disaster to the trade all along the line.

POINTS.

The police officer who believes that it is wrong to make public the fact that burglars have been operating in a given neighborhood apparently holds that the burglar does not know that he has committed a crime, and will take no means of concealing the fact, or of clearing out, unless he sees the announcement in print!

Only by all who are opposed to monopoly ruling pulling together will monopoly exactions be got rid of.

Toronto can never organize another boom till she ceases to rent her thousands of vacant lots as cow pastures.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto World (Conservative) volunteers the information that though Mr. Patterson, M. P., has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, "there will not likely be any bye-election in West Huron." Then, is there to be no sixth session of Parliament before a general election? West Huron has been practically unrepresented in Parliament for some time, and if Parliament meets in January, or before it, surely the electors will have an opportunity to choose a representative.

In old London a severe epidemic of smallpox is alarming the civic authorities, the more so because cold weather is approaching, and it is much more difficult to handle the epidemic when the houses are closed and ventilation and cleanliness are not so easy to obtain. The Lancet, in discussing this matter, explains the prevalence of the malady by stating that at no time within the present generation has there been in England such gross and criminal carelessness in enforcing obedience to the vaccination laws as within the last six years. This, in turn, is due to the fact, that a royal commission, appointed in 1889 to investigate the whole subject of vaccination, has done its work with such amazing deliberation that even now it is not ready to make a report. Public opinion being divided on the effect of vaccination, the Boards of Guardians have been very lax in performing their duty. This experience reminds us of Montreal in 1885. London should take warning by the experience of the Canadian city. So far vaccination is the only known preventive of smallpox, and we doubt if the royal commission will report differently.

Some papers are asking why the N. P. does not raise the price of wheat now. Don't be impatient, friends. Wait until the wheat is all gone and then look for a jump.

Labor Day was observed throughout the whole of Canada and in 28 neighboring States of the republic yesterday. That's a very substantial majority.

A recent traveler asserts that he found the best roads in Europe. The principle followed in their building is, first, a proper foundation, made hard by drainage. Then there is placed a layer of broken stone, and the top surface is usually made of small stones, which are watered and rolled by immense stone rollers, until the surface is as solid as a rock and smooth as possible. The improvement in the machines for making roads has advanced and is still advancing. The roads of all Europe are so extremely good and are so well built that there is not a country which a bicycle rider cannot tour in its entirety, no matter how wet or how dry and warm the weather may be. The engineers of Europe consider asphaltum the best material for building streets, and this is used very extensively both in Paris and in London. Wood pavements have also been very extensively used, but several prominent physicians hold that wood pavements catch and hold the germs of disease, and that they should be done away with.

The last issue of the Petroleum Advertiser was printed in bright blue. It was a cycling edition, and a fine specimen of literary and press work.

PROGRESS IN BRITAIN.

Woman's suffrage makes steady progress in Great Britain, and the right of woman to some say in the making of the laws which she, in common with man, must obey, is likely to be conceded ere long. The British National Society for Woman Suffrage has made a list of the members of Parliament who have announced themselves as favorable to the cause. The list comprises 222 men. Among them are included such men as the two Balfours, Sir John Gorst, Justin McCarthy, Sir Stafford Northcote, Mr. Courtney, Sir F. Lockwood, Sir John Lubbock, Sir A. K. Rolitt, Mr. George Wyndham, and many others almost as well known. A bill extending the suffrage will doubtless be offered, as it has been at every session since 1867, when John Stuart Mill championed it, and the chance for its passage seems excellent at this distance. The bill introduced by Sir A. K. Rolitt in the 1892 Parliament was read a second time and only defeated by a small majority. If A. J. Balfour does not go back on his former protestations, the measure to be introduced in this Parliament will pass the House of Commons, for in that body the word of the Government leader on a matter of this kind is law. But if the bill does pass the House it will still have to run the gauntlet of the House of Lords, and past experiences lead us to believe that the reactionary privileged chamber will not soon consent to its becoming law.

A BOSTON IDEA.

Just press the little black button on your elbow when you want to get off one of the new West End electric cars and the motorman will do all the rest.—Boston Globe.

A WORD TO THE WISE.

Marshall Field, it is reported, "made $7,000,000 in the drygoods trade last year. And yet it was a dull year." Marshall Field is a wide-awake newspaper advertiser.—Saginaw Courier-Herald.

SAFETY IN RUBBER.

Perhaps it's only a little "ad" for the rubber man, but if so, it's a good one. Scientific folk now aver that a man in a mackintosh or a pair of gums will be able to dodge lightning, for the good reason that rubber is a non-conductor of electricity.—Cincinnati Post.

In the September number of the Delinquent, which is called the autumn announcement number, the display of fashions for the coming season is exceptionally large, and the styles are handsome enough to suit the most exacting taste. The issue is also notable for the variety and quality of its reading matter. The newest books are reviewed. In knitting, netting, tatting, and crocheting, new designs are illustrated, with descriptions for making. Published at 33 Richmond street west, Toronto.

The Atlantic Monthly for September opens with an installment of Gilbert Parker's "The Seats of the Mighty," which is followed by an admirable, and in view of the coming celebration, timely—paper on "Chickamauga," by Bradford Torrey. William Cranston Lawton writes of the "Plot of the Odyssey." Bliss Carman tells (in verse) of "A Sailor's Wedding." Charles Egbert Craddock contributes the opening chapter of a new story, "The Mystery of Witch-Face Mountain." John Fiske tells of "John Smith in Virginia." Agnes Repplier attacks one of the nuisances of travel in "Guides." "The Contributors' Club" is full of bright, clever things. (Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co.)

Outing for September is a gem of artistic illustration and seasonable text, a beautiful double frontispiece shows the fleet rivals Defender and Valkyrie III. in full racing trim. The choice illustrations include the crews of Defender and Valkyrie III, scenes at the canoe camp, polo, Lenz's tour a'wheel, coon hunting, muscullonge fishing, shooting and running rapids.
