REBUILDING AND ALTERATION SALE 228, 230, 232 Dundas Street.

LONDON'S CHEAPEST STORE

Our Grand Rebuilding Sale

THIS HEADLINE TOWERS ABOVE EACH OF OUR ADVERTISEMENTS the same as the Union Jack Notable Weddings in London - Deadtowers above all other flags in the Dominion. It's a beacon which leads you to the greatest shopping center of the city. It tells you of a sale which has been in progress for the last three months with glorious results to the public. It will continue in that sphere until we are ready to throw open to the people of London an establishment which would do credit to a larger city. It's no idle boast when we announce that more room is needed, and that the builders are pushing us for more space to get towards the front part of the building, to complete the work. In the meantime our sale goes on, bringing the people here for goods and prices they cannot get else-

The Season of Shirt Waists

Winter has lingered and the season of Shirt Waists has been somewhat delayed. The late season is responsible for the unusual prices on handsome waists that we advertise here. Such patterns have never been shown before for the price we are asking for this special line of Ladies' Waists. Call and see them, the price is only 50c each.

OUR DRESS GOODS

Qualities are as fixed as the points of the compass. Our prices are the possibilities of our vast resources. Gauge bargains-not by price but by quality. Whiskard's bargains are real bargains and here are

If There Are Beings on Mars, They Have Queer Lungs.

The discovery of the philosopher's stone, supposing that phrase to imply a working scheme for transmuting an inferior metal into gold, would probably produce nothing beyond a period terrible economic perhaps, a vast and disastrous, because over-rapid, transfer of property, but the attainment of certainty that Bentient beings with corporeal incasements, acting by effort and not by pure volition, existed in any one other planet, would only enlarge the range of human imagination. Such a certainty would either increase to an exthe Creator-for we are all so limited that we reverence powers which exerted more than powers which we know in theory must exist-or would compel materialists to revise and widen their whole theory of the relation of matter to mind, it being evident that sentience could exist un der conditions hitherto deemed im-

In Mars itself there is some potency at work, which, to the despair for the moment of terrestrial science, pro-duces warmth where cold ought to reign permanently supreme. It is as certain as any deduction from analogy can be that air in Mars, though it exists, is as rarefied as it would be at the top of a mountain twice as high as Mount Everest, and that consequently the normal and permanent degree of cold ought to be terrible. degree of cold ought to be terrible.

The thermal income of Mars is less than half of the earth, and its theoretical mean temperature is consequently—taking into account its low "albedo," or reflective power per unit of area—30 degrees Centigrade below freezing. Yet the actual climate of Mars is mild. Snow certainly melts rapidly—that is patent to the telescope—vapor certainly rises—that is clear from the spectrum analysis—

His rings was missin', he handn't a nickle, water flows, and there are indications, tion follows the sudden thawing of the snow. What warms the air is unknown, but it is warmed past all questions, but it is warmed past all questions.

All we can say with certainty is that, if sentient beings with corporeal frames exist in Mars, the relation of the lungs to the body cannot be identical with their relation in man, which, as we are aware of fishes, is not an impossible exercise of the imagination .- [London Specta-

But la mere proposes et la fille disposes. The irony of fate generally upsets the most carefully arranged plans. Besides it is generally the case, that those who marry for money, or at least with the expectation of possessing that desirable article, are apt in this country, to be sadly disappointed. It is very seldom in this land of ups and downs, that riches remain long in one family; and young people with great expectations generally find when they are middle-aged that they have neither the substance nor even the shadow remaining, their only inheritance being extensive tastes and a dis-inclination or want of will power to
