The only matter debated at length was Mr. Davis' bill respecting county councils, ished, although Mr. Tucker moved a ent plan being for a line 460 to 495 six months' hoist in amendment. At in length. © o'clock the Premier proposed an adjournment for the evening, and the proposition was gladly accepted by Mr. Rich Red Blood, Whitney. The House will probably adjourn this evening for the Easter holidays, reassembling on Tuesday. At 5 o'clock, after several bills had been advanced a stage, Hon. Mr. Davis' bill to amend the act respecting county councils, by providing for local option as to the constitution of councils, was taken up. The bill, which was first introduced last session, allows individual municipalities, if they so desire, to go back to the old method of electing county councils, making them consist of the reeves of townships and villages, and the mayors of towns, instead of representatives of the county council divisions constituted under the In reply to a query from Dr. Barr. the Premier replied that the bill would not go into practical effect until two years from next January. Mr. Whitney protested against what he styled this shiftless way of dealing with the question. He believed that the proper time had come to take some definite and reasonable action would put a stop to continued meddling with the constitution of county councils. He was strongly in favor of going back to the old system, with perhaps some modification as to deputy

LONDON'S ARMORY BEFORE HOUSE

cuss Cost of the New Edifice.

Ottawa, March 29. - In the Commons today the Premier moved that after next Tuesday the Grand Trunk Pacine Railway resolutions should take precedence of all other business. Mr. Borden objected to this, claiming the private bills legislation would be greatly retarded. Mr. Borden called the attention of the Prime Minister to that portion of the correspondence between the Government and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in which reference was made to an agreement concerning the terms for the purchase of the common stock, and he asked if this agreement could

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that there were no agreements outside of the terms of the contract, which had been presented to the House in full.
