Suggestions for Story Telling.

In telling children stories, I have found that if a story is repeated it must be unchanged, and that repetition within a story is pleasing. Children also like a story to be concrete. For instance, if a party is brought into the telling they like to know what games were played, what the guests had to eat, and what prizes were given out. These are simple points of child psychology, but they will make it easier for any one who wishes to be successful in amusing

This Is SCHOOL Week

The Easter Holiday was surely designed for the purpose of outfitting the children for the Spring season. We call it School Week at the store, for we never see so many children as at the Easter Holiday season. Later, they are attracted by the outdoor sports, and it is with difficulty they can be held long enough even to try on a new suit or dress.

We are making special displays of boys' and girls' apparel this week that will be most helpful to mothers in selecting new Spring clothing for the children.

We specialize and take great pride in the selection of our boys' and girls' clothing.
