Voters List--1915

Municipality of the Township of Warwick, County of Lambton.

Dated at Warwick this 28th day of July, A.D., 1915.

N. HERBERT,
Clerk of Warwick.

Newspaper Extras

One the prevalent misconceptions regarding the war is that "it is a good thing for the newspapers." The observation thing for the newspapers." The observation is the result of a prevalent conviction that there is money in newspaper "extras." Nothing could be further from the truth. There is no money in sale copies of newspapers at any time, because the sale price seldom covers the cost of white paper alone, and when "extras" are issued after regular hours, involving special telegraphic tolls, over-"extras" are issued after regular nours, involving special telegraphic tolls, overtime for printers and the rest, the loss is very considerable. For the average newspaper the war makes great additional extractions and the contractions of presented and the contractions of presented and the contractions of the contraction newspaper the war makes great admitton-al expense, with loss of revenue occasion-ed by the disturbance of business, and consequently is anything but a welcome visitor.

BATTLES AND DOWNPOURS.

There Is No Connection Between Gunfire and Rainstorms.

So far as the records are available, the rain accompanying or immediately following great battles is not unlike that which might have been expected in the course of natural events, says a writer in the Popular Science Monthly. Bearing in mind the fact, already stated, that throughout large areas rain occurs on an average once in three or four days and also the subjective fact that rain associated with July 4 celebrations or with battles would doubtless not have been remembered had it not been for such associations, the hypothesis appears to have no foundation In 1892 the United States government disproved the idea by experiments in which violent explosions of dynamite were produced within clouds by means of kites and balloons, with no rain following as a direct or even as an indirect result. The practice, still followed in various European countries, of attempting to prevent hail by bombarding approaching clouds or of projecting vortex rings of smoke upward also is without scientific basis. The relatively feeble convectional currents resulting from these artificial attempts to influence the weather are too meager to have any appreciable effect upon the massive convection accompanying storms and are wholly inadequate to influence precipitation.

SWISS MILITARY SYSTEM.

Tests All Youths Must Pass Before They Become Soldiers.

The Swiss system is ultra militaristic and probably would never be acceptable to the United States. But it is interesting, nevertheless, as indicating how the problem of defense has been met and apparently solved by the earnest and patriotic people of a republic like our own.

The Swiss system is compulsory and begins with the early schooling of each He does not drill or handle fireboy. arms, however, until he is twenty years old, when he reports to federal authorities for physical and literary examination. He must be able to read and write and figure, and answer questions in elemental Swiss history and geography.

The physical tests require that the applicant shall cover at least eight feet in a running jump, lift a weight of thirty-seven pounds in both hands at least four times, and run eighty yards in fourteen seconds. Those who fail in these tests are given an extension of time for further training, not to exceed four years, and if physically disqualified at the end of that period they are obliged to pay a tax, or to take some assigned position which they can fill.-Kansas City

Miller's Worm Powders are not surpassed by any other preparation as a vermifuge or worm destroyer. Indeed, there are few preparations that haye the merit that it has to recommend it. Mothers, aware of its excellence, seek its aid at the first indication of the presence of worms in their children, knowing that it is a perfectly trustworthy medicine that will give immediate and lasting elief. elief.

The German Temper

Perhaps the most salient weakness of the common mind of Germany is the persistent judgment of the mind of other nations by its own standard. Because Germans have convinced themselves, or rather, have allowed themselves to be indoctrinated with the notion that they are the salt of the earth they are convinced that every other people is ready to welcome them as the heralds of a new and higher civilization. They actually present themselves as the apostles of freedom and, to all appearance, imagine that the waiting world is ready to herald their advent with sword and fire as the dawn of liberty. When they find that their peculiar brand of "kultur" is detested rather than appreciated, this does not abate one particle of their conceit. German rule, if not accepted, he is, his tongue would get him in must be imposed. trouble still.—SOLOMON.

That in brief is the notion that had been assiduously instilled into the German mind. With Germans it has become an article of faith that they have been created to dominate everything and everybody. According to their idea they are the embodiment of super-humanity, the flower of mankind. Therefore, they assume, in order to establish their dominion they are justified in using all means lawful and unlawful, in pursuing a premeditated policy of frightfulness, and in violating all law, human and divine. If this is the end of civilization then civilization has proved a curse rather than a blessing, and freedom, right, honor, names not realities, reached only to be found apples of Sodom.

Help the Wounded

One thing this country absolutely owes to the men who are fighting its battles in France and Belgium. Those who are so wounded as to be in any way incapacitated or to lose any part of their earning power must be provided for out of the national funds. There must not be the faintest shadow of a possibility that any man who has lost a limb or had his nerves shattered in his country's service will become dependent upon

The war has been in progress for a vear. Many of our men have been at the front for six months and longer, and the problem of providing for the crippled is already arising. It must be faced, thoroughly and promptly. Canadian self-respect will make short work of any Government which fails to do its full duty on this score. There is no reason why the men should be a burden on the community; there are many trades at which they can earn a good living and feel themselves independent, if the necessary training is provided for them and they are supported while receiving it. The time for action is now.

Buying at Home

I bought some rags of Tailor Scragg's and paid him when I got 'em; he wept with glee; "For now," says he, "I'll pay my bills, dod rot 'em." So on the run he took the mon, and paid the corner grocer. whose trade was bad, and who was sad, because the wolf drew closer. This made him smile, and for a while the man of teas and sages. thought cheerful thinks, forget the kinds, and paid his clerk with wages. And Billiam Burk, the old head clerk, put up some thankful phrases his wife was ill—his druggist's bill had worried him like blazes. The druggist cried, "Doggone your hide, The I thank you for your roubles: I'm in a hole and need a roll to ease my weight of troubles." The druggist paid that winsome maid, his first assistant, Annie, and just for luck she blew a buck for roller skates for granny. And thus my scads brought help to lads and girls beyond the counting; much trouble ceased, and joy increased, and kept on mounting, mounting. You see, my friend, if you should spend your coin with local dealers, you're spreading glee and ecstasy to beat the sunshine spielers.

His Own Enemy

There are men reading these words who can from experience say the writer of Proverbs knew what he was talking about when he said, "A man of great wrath shall sufferer punish-from his disposition by reasoning with him. He needs a walloping to bring him to his senses. The man who is always aching for a fight will never get the lust for conflict out of him until somebody licks it out of his body. The quarrelsome, meddle-some fellow who jaws and laws everybody will never get sense until it costs him enough to make it hurt. There is the litigious old farmer who "lawed" until he lost his homestead and had to go at last to work for his day's pay. He is not as fond of law, although it is just as hard to say what he might do if he had enough money to tempt a lawyer. There is that business man who quarreled with his neighbors and friends until they let him alone and his business died with dry rot. He is clerking at ten dollars a week and no doubt if he hadn't to keep his mouth shut where
