

practical, and is worthy of being accorded a warm and abiding welcome. Having examined and carefully gone over it from cover to cover, we have no hesitation in saying that anyone wishing to secure a good practical grasp of the subject of the treatment of fractures—especially the general practitioner—that he should at once possess himself of a copy of this really excellent book.

Essentials of Medical Diagnosis. (Saunders' Question Compends, No. 17.) Prepared especially for students of medicine. By SOLOMON SOLIS-COHEN, M.D., Professor of Clinical Medicine and Therapeutics in the Philadelphia Polyclinic; Lecturer on Clinical Medicine in Jefferson Medical College; Physician to the Philadelphia Hospital and the Rush Hospital for Consumptives, etc., and AUGUSTUS A. ESHNER, M.D., Professor of Clinical Medicine in the Philadelphia Polyclinic; Physician to the Philadelphia Hospital, etc. Illustrated. Second Edition Revised and Enlarged. Philadelphia: W. B. Saunders. Toronto: J. A. Carveth & Co., Canadian Agents. Price, $1.00.

Saunders' Question Compends Series are now known to everyone. Indeed, so large is their distribution that we are told that over 175,000 of them have been sold. This work under consideration, we take it, will appeal especially to the student and the young practitioner. Here will be found the different ailments arranged in the form of questions and answers in a manner at once so lucid and compact and concise that very little trouble will be experienced in gaining the desired information one might want in consulting a handy volume of this character. While it is not at all intended that it shall take the place entirely of larger works on medicine, it can be safely recommended as a useful adjunct, which it will undoubtedly prove itself to be. The prominent and salient symptoms are given, and in addition the differential diagnosis from the most likely diseases the condition would simulate. We consider these "helps" essentially valuable.

Reprints Received

"Observations on the Treatment of Cancer." By A. R. Robinson, M.D., L.R.C.P. (Edin.), New York.

"Non-Malignant Gastric and Duodenal Ulcers." With Illustrative Cases. By Thos. E. Satterthwaite, M.D., New York.