Colonel Wilfred Bovey,
McGill University
Montreal.

Dear Colonel Bovey,

I have received a letter today from Mr. W.W. McLaren, Secretary of the Williamstown Institute of Politics sending me a circular with regard to a Round Table to be conducted by Lionel Curtis at the forthcoming session of the Conference in August and indicating that he is afraid there will be little, if any, Canadian representation. Do you not think it would be worth while, both on general principles and with regard to the importance of this subject to have McGill represented. I am writing to Queens, Toronto and elsewhere and take the liberty of bringing the matter also to your attention. I should have thought that Corbett would make a most distinct contribution at such a gathering.

Yours faithfully,

John A. Russell
