CHARGED WITH BREACH OF ALIEN IMMIGRATION LAW

Sub-Contractor For Big Hamilton Tailoring Establishment Arrested—No Temperance Slate.

HAMILTON, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Yesterday afternoon the police took Jacob Rackoff, a sub-contractor for one of the big tailoring establishments here, into custody, on a charge of breaking the alien immigration law. The information was laid by Assistant Superintendent of Immigration E. Blake Robertson of Ottawa, who has been here for several days making an investigation.

It is alleged that Rackoff induced foreigners in New York to come to Hamilton to work and instructed them, when they were turned back at Bridgeburg, to get in via Rochester, Charlotte and Toronto. The agitation against Rackoff was started some time ago by the United Garment Worker. An officer was sent here, but could get no information. S. L. Landers then went to Ottawa, and placed certain information in his possession, before the immigration department, which brought another inspector here post-haste. Rackoff was released on bail.

The Bishop of Niagara gave the congregation of St. Matthew's Church this evening a gentle reminder that they are not making proper contributions to the up-keep of the church and the maintenance of the minister. He regretted that in England, the Anglican Church is endowed, but here it has to fight in competition with all the other churches, and for this reason the congregation was called upon to make contributions to the keep of the religion which they had brought up in.

Richard Whiting of London, formerly pastor of the Canterbury Methodist Church, occupied the pulpit there today, on the occasion of the 52nd anniversary of the church. The Hamilton Temperance Federation met last night to consider what action should be taken in the municipal campaign in January. The provisional committee reported and advised that no action be taken in regard to a majority candidate, as it also decided not to run a temperance slate for aldermen, the support will be lent to men who favor the federation.

The main scheme of the federation will be to make the plebiscite successful, and to defeat the compensation bylaw. W. H. Yates was elected president; George A. W. and W. D. Platt, vice-presidents, and Mr. William G. H. was elected treasurer. A balance of $30 remains after last year's campaign, which cost $100.

Edna Caferty was arrested this evening for stealing coal from the Grand Trunk Railway. Teams of nine picked men a side from the 10th Royal Grenadiers of Toronto and the 13th Regiment of Hamilton, shot a match at the Hamilton ranges, Saturday afternoon, the visitors winning by 11 points. The ranges shot at were 200, 500 and 600 yards, and on each range. Of the eight-

They Actually Do the Work. Food eaten is worthless unless digested—Some stomachs must have help.

Food taken into the stomach, which, from the nature of the food or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement as far as it goes and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue that themselves that because their stomachs do not do their work given them, they must be given less work; in other words, they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help, and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive activity. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach, and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten and carry out Nature's plans for the tenance and maintenance of the body.

BRITAIN WAS FIRM FOR CANADA AT HAGUE

its humiliation, and would have left us in that respect governed from Washington. This was no fanciful possibility that was before us. There was a real and actual thing, in peril of which this country stood. He did not know how far the United States would have gone, but such was the principle of their whole position. All should feel glad.

"I am justified in a feeling of satisfaction, and the people of this country are justified. Each man should shake hands with his neighbor and congratulate each other that this contention has not prevailed; that this tribunal at The Hague has unanimously pronounced as a matter of law that the opposite contention, that the Nova Scotian, the Canadian, the British view is the correct one; that Great Britain, by her parliament, imperial and colonial—and Great Britain alone—has the inherent right, in virtue of her sovereignty and ownership, to enact all laws which may affect this water portion of her territory, equally with those which may affect her land.

"The positions taken by the United States and Great Britain have been accurately marked, and one reading now the correspondence of years ago, could not but wonder how there was room for back down; how there was room for either side to avert the consequences of war, and war alone. And I cannot but think that under the guiding hand of the All-wise Ruler of human events the circumstances that these nations were of the same blood, were of actual kin, speaking the same language and sprung from the same common stock, was the one circumstance which at the time of the war, which would have been a world-wide calamity, that which would have been nothing less than a crime—a war between England and the United States of America.

Britain's Support. In conclusion Mr. Aylesworth said that he had heard murmurs of dissatisfaction among Canadians that Great Britain was not on even terms with the colonies and was lukewarm toward them. He stepped forward to the edge of the platform, his eyes opened, the man seemed to grow larger, and exclaimed: "And all the might and prestige, and power of Great Britain stood by us, and the British Government have defended us with the strength of their right arm, and have gone through this strenuous struggle as a united community, refusing to be separated. Nevertheless, more than one effort on the part of the representatives of United States was made before the tribunal to persuade the tribunal that these were little colonial difficulties, in regard to which the government of Great Britain did not sympathize, in regard to which the home government was not with its colonies.

"I am glad to be able to tell you that from the first to the last of this dispute no spirit of wavering or even hesitancy was manifested, but that the government of Great Britain, and Great Britain herself, in every way in which it could be done, has backed us on this side of the Atlantic, has stood by us and supported us in precisely the same way in which we in Canada tried, to the limit of our ability, to stand by our own colony of Newfoundland.

"And that, gentlemen, is not only a feature of the satisfaction, but it is perhaps one of the things which, in its permanent result, must work for good as between us and the home land. No Separation. "Oh, let there be no doubt—I know there is none in this good old County of York—but let there be no thought in the length and breadth of this land of Canada, of separation from the old flag and the old land. One hundred and thirty years ago this Province of Ontario had the nucleus of its population in the men who descended everything for the sake of the British flag; who left behind their property, their friends, their homes, their brothers—in some instances even their fathers and their sons, and at all cost came here into the wilderness of Upper Canada to make homes for themselves and for their people after them, and thru whose privations we now enjoy this blessed country in which we live.

REOPENING SERVICES AT THE METROPOLITAN CHINESE SENATE ASKS GENERAL PARLIAMENT

Prof. Kilpatrick Calls For a Talk of a Revolution Within Two Years Unless the Throne Surrenders. Cleansing in Canadian National Life—Only One Way.

Both services at the Metropolitan Church yesterday were crowded. It was the re-opening day, as the church has been undergoing repairs for the past five months. Re-opening services will be held on the next two Sundays. It was announced that an ecumenical council, representing the Methodist communities of the world, would be held in the church in October, 1911, to be attended by 500 or more of the most prominent Methodists of the world. The first one was held in London in 1881, the second in the United States in 1891, the third in London in 1901. They take place every ten years. The object is to draw the various branches of the church thruout the world closer together.

The Sunday morning sermon was preached by Rev. Prof. T. B. Kilpatrick, D.D., of Knox College, and that in the evening by Rev. S. F. Rose, D.D., pastor of Sherbourne Street Methodist Church. Prof. Kilpatrick took Matthew 23:13-15 for his text. "When ye stand before a man, do not say, I am clean; but rather say, I am unclean; and when he is come, he will cleanse thee." The Sunday morning sermon was preached by Rev. Prof. T. B. Kilpatrick, D.D., of Knox College, and that in the evening by Rev. S. F. Rose, D.D., pastor of Sherbourne Street Methodist Church.

Evil could not be dealt with in a negative manner. When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man he walketh thru dry places, seeking rest, and findeth none. Then he saith, I will return into my house from whence I came, and when he is come, he findeth it empty, swept, and garnished. Then goeth he, and taketh with himself seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and enter in and dwell there, and the last state of that man is worse than the first. Even so shall it be also unto this wicked generation.

JUDGE'S CHARGE STRONG AGAINST DR. CRIPPEN

Lord Alverstone Spoke Nearly Two Hours and Prisoner Wilted, Tho He Received Verdict Calmly.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The trial of Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen for the murder of his wife Cora, known on the stage as Belle Elmore, ended at about half past two o'clock Saturday afternoon, in his conviction of wilful murder. He was sentenced to be hanged. The jury was out less than half an hour.

The trial of Ethel Clara Lense, the young woman who fled with Crippen to Canada, on a charge of being an accessory to the murder after the fact, will begin on Tuesday, in the same court and before the same judge as Crippen. The summing up of the lord chief justice illustrated the difference in the methods of American and English judges in dealing with murder cases. After telling the jurors that they must be satisfied upon the evidence that the crown had made out their case or otherwise the prisoner was entitled to acquittal, Lord Alverstone said the jury would agree that Crippen, if guilty, was an extraordinary man, who had committed a ghastly crime and had covered it up in the most brutal and callous manner. If Crippen was innocent, as the jury would be asked to find, it would be impossible to fathom his mind. He was, it seemed, absolutely indifferent to the charge of murder.

Not Affected at First. Crippen, whose line of vision included the judge and the jury, showed no signs of nervousness as the cool, calm sentences of the judge stripped his story bare. Perhaps his eyelids flickered a little more frequently than usual, but when the court adjourned for half an hour for luncheon, he ran down the steps of the dock briskly and jauntily. After the brief recess Lord Alverstone proceeded to make a ruthless examination of Crippen's case according to the medical evidence, adding a new fact, that the jury would be shown, under a magnifying glass, the words of a knife along the much-discussed scar. "Coming down to Crippen's conduct after the murder and the prisoner's relation to the closing scenes thereof, his supposed reason for flight to America, the chief justice said: 'Gentlemen, we are not children and he is not a child.' In speaking of the letters which Crippen wrote to various persons announcing the departure, illness and death of his wife, the lord chief justice said: 'They are the most remarkable set of statements that have ever come to my notice.'

His lordship continued on this line for an hour and forty-five minutes, and as he proceeded Crippen's chances seemed to grow darker and darker. He showed signs of the effect of the judge's deadly summing up. He was pale at one time and then ashen gray. Hearing the Verdict. Crippen was again in the dock. He did not flinch at the hearing of the verdict. In fact he showed no nervousness at all until the clerk of arraigns said: 'You have been found guilty of the wilful murder of your wife, Cora Crippen. Have you anything to say?' Crippen nodded his head affirmatively, but showed no physical nervousness, and a swallowing action of the throat.

"Have you anything to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon you?" repeated Lord Chief Justice Alverstone. Then, having regained complete control of his nerves, Crippen, in a clear voice, and without the slightest quiver, in a tone which could be heard distinctly over the whole court, said: 'I still protest my innocence.' The lord chief justice then pronounced sentence of death on the prisoner. "I am going to say, Crippen stood leaning over the dock with his hands resting on the ledge before him. He showed far less nervousness than he did on the conclusion of the judge's summing up. It is hardly too much to say that Lord Alverstone was the chief conductor of the case for the crown and the defence. What little could be suggested in Crippen's favor he pointed out in summing up. What points might be considered debatable—and they were very few—he stated, saying it was for the jury to decide on them. But his whole attitude, as the story from the evidence could not have been more damning had it come from the mouth of the prosecuting counsel.

Francis of Teck Dead. English Court is Again Plunged Into Full Mourning. LONDON, Oct. 23.—Prince Francis of Teck died Saturday. The death will cause a temporary resumption of full mourning at court. Queen Mary has been a devoted sister and King George has always been on intimate terms with the three Teck princes. Like his two brothers, Prince Francis was trained at Sandhurst for a military career, and was converted into a soldier by service in India, Egypt and South Africa. He was the best sportsman in the Teck family, and cared less for the pleasures of society than either of his brothers. Since his retirement from the army he had spent much time in Ireland and Scotland, where he could get fine shooting.

Queen Mary, after the prince's throat had been operated on for an obstruction, insisted on having him visit her at Balmoral, where he could regain his strength in the bracing air. When he caught a severe cold in the Highlands the King's own physician took charge of the case, and he recommended the removal to a nursing home, where he could have scientific treatment. The Queen is overwhelmed with grief over the loss of her favorite brother. There is a full measure of public sympathy for the Teck princes, who have been respected as gallant soldiers who have not shirked their duty to the state. The prince was born at Kensington Palace in 1870. After serving in the army in Egypt and South Africa he returned in 1902 with the title of major.
