REPAIRING THE "CROCKS" OF WAR

Lieut.-Colonel Wilson Tells of the Marvels Done by the C.A.M.C.

The story of modern miracles wrought by the Canadian Army Medical Corps in its salvage work among the physical wrecks that the war has left the nation, was the theme of a very interesting address by Lieut.-Colonel R. Wilson, officer in command of Hart House, before the members of the Royal Canadian Institute in the physics building of the university on Saturday night. The colonel dealt with the marvelous work that is being done in England and Canada in refitting the crippled sons of the country for the purpose of taking their place in civil life again. His statements were a revelation to the large audience of the work that is being done for our disabled soldiers. His subject was announced as "CROCKS—The Story of Salvage Work by the Canadian Army Medical Corps." Col. Wilson described a "crock" as a soldier who, thru disability sustained at the front, was fit only to be invalided to Canada and pensioned from the army.

Several hospitals have been opened in Canada for this work, such as the Campbell Hospital at Halifax; St. Anne de Bellevue, Montreal; St. Andrew's and Whitby, Toronto; Tuxedo Park Hospital, Winnipeg, and military hospitals at Regina, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria. These hospitals are equipped with complete surgical apparatus for training the returning disabled soldiers in the use of their limbs. In addition to these there are several large hospitals, such as the Toronto Dominion Orthopaedic Hospital on Christie street, in the old National Cash Register building, where provision for 300 patients. This building

"Oh, Look!" at Alexandra.

At the Royal Alexandra tonight "Oh, Look!" will be revealed to Toronto playgoers for the first time, and a week of unusually bright entertainment is anticipated. The Dolly Sisters, Harry Fox, and the entire original Broadway chorus will surround the stars and the company. "Oh, Look!" comes here with the approval of Broadway, which enjoyed this piece for months, and with the high praise of Chicago, where it recently closed a record-breaking engagement, which was cut short in its fourth month by the closing of the theatres. Matinees will be Wednesday and Saturday as usual.

Red Triangle Canteens On All Troop Trains

By order from Ottawa, dated Dec. 13, the adjutant-general authorized the placing of Y.M.C.A. representatives on all troop trains carrying men from the ports of disembarkation. A previous order granted this privilege only to troop trains without cot cases, but in future hospital trains will enjoy the Red Triangle service. In addition to carrying the usual stock of stationery, games, literature and a hand organ for car concerts, the Y.M.C.A. secretary will operate a canteen on board the train and will provide tobacco, fruits, candies, etc., at cost price to the men. The order includes permission for "spy" secretaries to accompany returning men traveling by regular trains, although in such cases no canteen supplies will be carried.

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC,

"The Daughter of Mother Machree"

"The Daughter of Mother Machree" a brilliant Irish comedy drama by Edward E. Rose, author of "The Rosary," and other popular successes, is one of the most delightful productions to be seen here this season, and it will be presented for the first time in Canada at the Grand this week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. Every night in a while, like the big apple year and kindred events of uncertain timing, along comes a play that is really worth while, and "The Daughter of Mother Machree" is one of the ablest demonstrations of this fact is staged. It is new and bright and carries a convincing amount of common sense that places it beyond the limit too often set by aspiring playwrights and producers. There is a story of unflinching charm, depicting a wide variety of characters.

Shea's Theatre—Vaudeville

For this week Shea's Theatre presents as the headline attraction Paul Morton and Naomi Glass, two stars popular in Toronto. Among other clever entertainers are Ida Mae Chadwick and her dad, Jack Wyatt and Loew's Weekly Pictures and the "Mutt and Jeff" cartoons conclude the bill.

Commencing with a matinee this afternoon the management of Shea's Hippodrome presents Earle Williams.

Popular Viagraph star, in "The Man Who Would Not Tell." The story deals with the adventure of a British secret service agent in America just before the outbreak of the war. It is replete with thrilling situations. Ferris and Howell are black-faced funsters. The Whiteside Sisters have a sparkling dancing offering. Arthur and Leah Bell have a bright variety offering with some new feats, while Harris and Lyman present a clever comedy sketch. Carroll, Keating and Saye, in a new sketch, complete the bill.

At the Allen. The Allen management sprung a surprise the last performance Saturday night by presenting for the first German Fleet—Regent.

The Regent shows this week, commencing with today's matinee, the surrender of the German fleet, the greatest event in naval history. This picture has been secured at great cost and is the result of one of the most sensational pieces of motion picture enterprise. Special arrangements have been made to accommodate the large crowds. The Regent orchestra will play patriotic numbers while the film is being run. The feature for the week is the successful British play "Inside the Lines."

Fairbanks at Strand.

For the attraction at the Strand the first half of this week will be Douglas Fairbanks, the man with the smile that won't wear off. The vehicle in which he will be seen is "His Picture in the Papers," the very best picture that he ever did. The picture is literally crammed with the funniest situations imaginable and it gives a greater opportunity for displaying the well-known Fairbanks athletic prowess than any other in which he has appeared. All Toronto will be wanting to come and laugh at, and with, the one and only and inimitable "Doug" at the Strand the first half of this week.

German Navy Surrenders. All this week there will also be shown at the Strand the first authentic picture of the surrender of the German navy. Everyone must take care to see these magnificent motion pictures of one of the most memorable events in the world's history.

Parlor, Bedroom and Bath.

"Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," is a farce comedy which A. H. Woods will present at the Royal Christmas week with matinees on Wednesday (Christmas Day) and Saturday. It has scored sensational hits in New York, Boston and Chicago. The story concerns the sports of an innocent young husband to live up to his wife's conception of him as a gay Lothario. Headlined by the wonderful cast which Mr. Woods selected for this comedy, is Miss Florence Moore, who will be assisting her James Spotswood, John Arthur, Tommy Meade, Roy Gordon, Nic Judler, Dorothy Mortimer, Carolyn Lilja, Beth Merrill and Grace Fielding. Seats will be placed on sale for all performances next Thursday morning.

At the Princess.

Unique, novel and entertaining is "Half-Past Eight," the musical revue which will be the Christmas week attraction at the Princess. It is patterned after the entertainment provided by "Rock and White," with new trimmings. Just being born, the costumes are epic and span, and the scenic settings attractive. Pantomime is the key-note, and many minutes of solid laughter are presented without a single word being spoken. Sybil Vane, the wee Welsh prima donna from Covent Garden Opera House, London, makes her American debut in the play.

"Cinderella" Christmas Week. The Christmas week offering at the Grand Opera House will be Stuart Whyte's big English pantomime which scored a big success here earlier in the season. It will be presented with the same great cast with the addition of Miss Inez Lawson, cornetist, and Miss Mae Gates, violinist, from the Boston Symphony Orchestra. During the engagement four matinees will be given—Wednesday (Christmas Day), Thursday (Boxing Day), Friday and Saturday.

MUST SEE MORE OF "THE BETTER 'OLE"

Bairnsfather Classic Goes to Massey Hall to Satisfy Public.

The fact that hundreds of people were unable to gain admission to the Allen Theatre to see "The Better 'Ole," has decided Messrs. Allen to move it to Massey Hall for Christmas week, instead of "Hearts of the World." This screen adaptation of Bruce Bairnsfather's play is a real war photoplay. It is a fascinating interpretation of the spirit which animates and enthuses the men who have fought in the trenches, and which keeps them cheerful in spite of all the terrible hardships they have to endure. It is a reflection in picture form of the actual daily life of boys over there. "The Better 'Ole" is one of those picture plays which affect the higher emotions in a marvelous way. Pathos and laughter crowd each other and make the smiles break out before the tears are dry in your eyes. It gives the public a better understanding of conditions over there in the war zone than perhaps they could get in any other way, and makes the deeds of our brave soldiers, who are a living damn against Prussian barbarism in Belgium and France, seem more glorious than ever. The play centres round the three principal characters, and in vivid flashes portrays Old Bill defying everything to carry out a piece of work single-handed which saved the French from the treachery of a German spy. It is a mingling of humor and true pathos seldom equaled on the screen.

Charles Hook, as Old Bill, portrays this fine character in his masterly way, and Arthur Cleave and Hugh E. Wright as Bert and Alf, respectively, ably support him.

The play will run thru the whole of Christmas week at the same prices as at the Allen Theatre. Reserved seats sale now open at Massey Hall.
