GLOBE OFFERS SOLUTION OF POLITICAL DEADLOCK

Leading Editorial Seems to Point Way to Coalition of the Parties.

PROF. GOLDWIN SMITH'S VIEWS

Some Conservative Politicians, However, Say It Will Be Fought to a Finish.

The atmosphere of provincial politics was greatly disturbed Thursday by an interview with Prof. Goldwin Smith in The Globe on the standing of the Ross administration in connection with the electoral law and more particularly the editorial thereupon by that paper, which created a copious field for speculation as to just what its definite views are in regard to the situation.

The editorial in question discusses the views of Dr. Ross on the present political situation, but on the subject of a non-party system of government, which the doctor suggests, dissents from the opinion that questions important enough to justify party divisions cannot arise in Ontario. There is, however, argues The Globe, no great issue between the parties in Ontario at the present time, but there is room for fair and honest difference of opinion as to the ability of two sets of administrators. Naturally the Globe believes that the province is better governed by Mr. Ross and his colleagues than by any set of men Mr. Whitney would gather around him.

"Do not want," it says, "to see Mr. Ross and his colleagues holding office under conditions which would be unjust to themselves. We must have some ministry in Ontario, call it Reform or Conservative, or coalition, or by any other name with a fair working majority." The editorial on this article goes on, the Ministers ought not to be under the necessity of begging or intriguing for votes. The legislature should say plainly whom it desires to administer the affairs of the province, and then give its nominees a fair support.

The Globe sees no warrant for calling the legislature together at an unusually early period. It does not think that the province is in a state of emergency during the few months that will elapse before the usual time of meeting. As for the fears that the intervening months may be used in intrigue or wrong practices, it says that the privilege of governing Ontario is worth any such practices on either side.

In conclusion the Globe says if the country is to be governed by a fair government, it is not other than what is now in power. It is not other than what is now in power. It is not other than what is now in power.

"That efforts be made to have the assessment laws amended.

"That the government be petitioned to obtain control of the telephone system.

ENTERPRISE WHOLLY REORGANIZED

President McNaught a Powerful Factor in the Splendid Prosperity.

The retirement of H. J. Hill from the position of manager of the Exhibition at the end of the year, has been the most generally discussed topic in Toronto today. Among the officers of the enterprise, its friends throughout the city, and the people generally, the question is an animated theme. The directors found it necessary Thursday to issue an official statement in relation to the matter. The quibbling over the wording of the resolution practically dispensing with the former manager's services, as to whether it should appear that Mr. Hill has resigned, retired, or been dismissed, was not, it does not seem to be of prime importance. The fact is that the resolution granting Mr. Hill six months' leave of absence was passed by the directors a week ago, but the information was not made public until Thursday, for fear it would have a bad effect upon the Exhibition. The resolution provides for a leave of absence for six months, the salary attaching only continuing until the close of the year.

There is the greatest sympathy for the former manager among the officials, but it is not considered an injustice to anyone nor a reflection upon the enterprise as a whole. The fact is that the success of the enterprise is due to the fact that Mr. Hill's management, with its aims and purposes, ceased because of his frail health he had not been a factor in the present situation. In fact, Mr. Hill's usefulness in the enterprise has ceased, but they are not ready to admit that the presence of any individual is necessary to the success of the enterprise. As President McNaught declared, "The directors and I are not going to give up the Exhibition until we have it for ever."

President McNaught, in retiring, has really been the great guiding spirit in the enterprise. He has been the driving force behind the enterprise, and he has been the driving force behind the enterprise, and he has been the driving force behind the enterprise.

Thieves Who Got His Valuables.

DRAGGED HIMSELF TO THE BANK

Had a Few Drinks and His Recollection of Affairs is Slightly Dimmed.

William George Johnston of Novar came to the city on Tuesday to see the Exhibition, and, though he cannot swear to it, there is evidence that he fell among thieves. He had been in town long before he started out to see the red lights and things. Johnston boarded a West Queen street car and went as far as a five-cent fare would take him. That was to Sunnyside, and when the jumping place was reached he looked around and concluded that it was time to take a drink. He had a few, and the glimmer started to make his head go round. Johnston cannot remember anything more. He had $450 in cash, a watch and chain and a ring when his lights went out.

Wednesday morning a man was found lying on the bank of the Hubber, near the railway crossing. He was lying on his back, his head on the ground, and his arms outstretched. He was wearing a dark suit and a hat. He was lying on the bank of the Hubber, near the railway crossing. He was lying on his back, his head on the ground, and his arms outstretched. SEEK ASSISTANCE FOR NEEDY

Boer Generals Give Expression of Loyalty to Their New Government.

THEY PRAISE THE DUTCH PREMIER

And State That If England Wishes
Their Allegiance It Must Carry Out Its Engagements.

Amsterdam, Sept. 11.—The Boer generals, Botha, Dewet and Delarey, accompanied by Messrs. Wolmarans, Wessels and Reitz, arrived here today from the Hague and were given a hearty welcome. Replying to an address Gen. Delarey said he and his colleagues did not come here in the character of political persons, but solely to obtain assistance for destitute Boer families.

At the reception of the generals at the town hall Gen. Dewet in reply to the burgomaster's speech, said:

"We have come to ask for help for the widows and orphans and other necessitous persons. Upon assistance of this kind from England the Boers cannot count."

The general also remarked:

"If England wishes to have the Boer descendants as subjects before God, I am willing to be a loyal subject before God until the day of God shall come. We wish to be loyal to the new government, and we will carry out its engagements."

A subsequent luncheon, Gen. Botha declared that peace, which had brought them all they had desired, was due to the mediation of the Dutch premier, Dr. Kuyper, who had thus rendered service to the Boers.

Gen. Botha also thanked Holland for the manner in which it had welcomed the Boer delegates.

Gen. Botha, speaking again, said:

"We have lost our independence and have endeavored to obtain compensation from the new government. We have every reason to believe no compensation will be forthcoming. It is absolutely necessary to prevent the ruin of thousands."

HON. MR. TARTE ANSWERS ALL HIS TARIFF CRITICS

Declares That He Voices the Opinions of the Liberal Party in Canada.

OPPOSITIONS NOT UP-TO-DATE

The Globe and The Montreal Herald
Do Not Understand Appraisations of Country.

Montreal, Sept. 11.—Hon. Mr. Tarte's answer to Liberal newspapers appears in La Patrie today in the shape of an interview with the Minister of Public Works.

"Let me tell you at once that I do not acknowledge that Mr. Brisson of The Herald has the right to define the policy of the Liberal Party. It is free to express the opinions he chooses. He does not any more express the opinions of the Liberal Party than he usually expresses the opinions of the City of Montreal. I believe that I know my duty and my responsibility."

Speaks for Canada.

"In speaking as I do, and in asking that the tariff be more and more a tariff in the interests of Canada, I assure that I voice the opinions of the great majority of the country, and the opinions of the Liberal Party. Let it be well understood that in all this there is no personal question. For example, my colleague, Mr. Sifton, and myself have never had any misunderstanding and our relations have always been friendly and cordial."

His Idea is Brief.

"No person is asking that the tariff be changed along the line. My belief, and the belief of the Manufacturers' Association, is purely and simply that the tariff of this country should be readjusted on certain points for the greater development of our national industries, so as to create a profitable and permanent market for the agricultural classes to give more and more work to laboring classes and to activate the trade between the different provinces and the different parts of the Empire."

How do you explain the attitude of The Globe and The Herald?

"I admit these newspapers are excellent, but they are edited by men belonging to an old school, which, though respectable, seems not to understand the aspirations of this country."

He asked why we should buy from the United States and Germany, who close their market to us in things we can manufacture here and sell as cheaply if we had a tariff which would permit us to manufacture them?

Present Cabinet Not Bound.

Mr. Tarte was asked if the Liberal Party was not asked to lower the tariff and to discriminate in duties.

"Undoubtedly, but in many things we said in the sense in days gone by. It is formally denied that the present cabinet ever took any engagements in this sense. The revision of the tariff is a subject which has been brought to the attention of the government, and it was hardy any revision of the tariff was increased against foreign countries."

Mr. Tarte remarked that The Globe, The Herald and The Witness were still unfortunately theorizing, that they should have learned the teachings of the political history of Canada.

Has Nothing to Withdraw.

Mr. Tarte was asked if he regretted the speeches he had already made. He replied he had nothing to withdraw. He did not believe in the constitution, and he was sure he was in harmony with the thoughts and aspirations of the great majority of the people of Canada.
