BASEBALL.

The Cockneys squared off their account with Guelph yesterday. At no stage was the result of the game in doubt. The game was notable from the fact that for the first time this season London's hits required two figures to record them. Both Damoth and Kostal proved pretty easy picking for the Cockneys, nearly everybody taking one or two hits.

London's superb fielding, as usual, made the batting of the visitors ineffectual. Crow pitched a good, steady game throughout, and Umpire Dailey's sending him to the bench in the ninth looked rather like a rough practical joke. But the joke helped the Leafs to two additional runs.

A three-bagger by Jones gave Lon-don two runs in the first inning. A spiendid single by Cope and a bad muff NATIONAL LEAGUE-THURSDAY. by Cogswell in the right field contributed two more in the third. Two bases on balls, an error by the shortstop, singles by Jones and Crow, and a two-bagger by Cope, let the Cockneys count five more runs in the seventh. Every one of the Leafs' five runs was earned by nice clean hits, with the exception of one in the ninth, when exception of one in the ninth, when St. Louis 4 8 0 Carey got first on Ladles, stole second, Philadelphia 8 13 1 and came in on Lafleur's hit to secon .. ST. THOMAS LOST TO HAMILTON. yesterday. Although the latter played an errorless game, and made more hits than their opponents, they were unable to land the game. Hamilton got two runs in the first inning. Two men had been retired and the sacks were unoccupied, when Schrall sent an easy one between first and second. Pears made a pretty stop, but Hardy, in his anxiety to cover first bag, got in front of Frank and prevented him from making a putout. Then Elton knocked a high one towards Knight. The latter got under it, but the ball just dropped over the fence, which on an ordinary diamond would have been an easy out. The locals got a man across the plate in the first, and in every inning, except the ninth, had men on bases, but they seemed to be unable to shake their hoodoo, and lost the

A FAMOUS DISH.

With a New and Savory Flavor.

Chop beef, mutton or pork into a Take a quantity of Grape-Nuts equal to half the amount of meat. Mix into the Grape-Nuts a raw egg and what milk it will take up. Salt and pepper to taste.

Now thoroughly mix meat and all into a hash, form into patties like sausage and place in a hot skillet with only enough butter on top to prevent eticking. Place cover over the skillet and cook until done.

Put a little piece of butter on top of each patty if they tend to become dry, but do not use enough to make greasy. Serve hot, and you will discover that the meat has acquired a most savory flavor from the Grape-Nuts, and at the same time it has been rendered easily digestible, and the elements in the Grape-Nuts furnish most valuable nourishmen? for athletes, as well as invalids. Classed Among the

Immortals. An Epic Heroine-The Horror of the

Dreyfus Case. [Louisville Courier-Journal.]

When we read and read again the dismal story of man's inhumanity to man-when we reflect upon those martyrs to the world's progress who have been pursued by fanaticism to the dungeon and the stake-when, wandering through the corridors of time, now illuminated like an avenue in some great city, we look in upon the Valhalla cloisters which give perpetual shelter to the immortals, from Socrates to Servetus, from Aristotle to Galileo-we are disposed to thank God that we live in better and happier times; that the torch and the rack are unknown among us; that the prison and the gibbet menace only the murderer and the thief; that, in short, we live under the rule of tolerance and law, according Christian usage. But is it so indeed? What has the world ever witnessed more hideous or more tragical than this Dreyfus business? Did power ever exploit itself more savagely? Was ever the mob more unreasoning and turbu-We may console ourselves as much as we please with the reflection that only Latins and savages are capable of such atrocities; but there is no knowing whose turn may come next, or in what country, where passion, supported by numbers, happens to get the upper hand.

Meanwhile, in France at least and in spite of all, real justice sems about to be rendered, Dreyfus is no longer a hopeless captive on Devil's Island. He is restored to his rank and title. They have sent a warship to bring him home. He will come as an officer and a gentleman should come. He will have an honest trial and be honorably acquitted. Zola is back again in Paris. He, too. shall have his reward. The unspeakable Esterhazy is a fugitive. The villain Paty du Clam occupies the dungeon into which he caused the innocent Dreyfus to be thrust. It reads like a leaf out of Dumas, like a chapter out of the mid-dle ages, does it not? Does it not exceed in dramatic interest and intensity the story of the Man in the Iron Mask? After this, where shall the writers of the tour de force go to find imaginary subjects equal to its reality? All homage to the people who have brought about so wondrous a denouement; to Picquart, the self-sacrificing and upright soldier; to Zola, the intrepid and the irrepressible; to the rugged peasant-president, the brave Loubet; but more than all others, to the noble wife-who, fearless and tireless-daytime and nighttime-a very angel of fidelity and love-a heroine out of an epic poem—has never ceased for a moment to make France resonant with her appeals for justice, whilst the world looked on in wonder and admiration. the republic and restore the glory and power and renown of France among the nations. But, as for Madame Dreyfus, we need not hope or pray for her. God has her in his keeping; and when at the last the roll is read and the chosen one are called, the name of this glorious woman—this goddess-like wife -fit to be listed in the book of books along with the name of Joan the Maid -will even, like that of the good Ben Adhem of old, LIFE SAVED-Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians.

his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine. and less than half a bottle cured me I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

Youthful Recklessness.

The natural exuberance of youth often leads to recklessness. Young people don't take care of themselves, get over-heated, catch cold, and allow it to settle on the kidneys. They don't realize the significance of backache-Uthink it will soon pass away-Dbut it doesn't. Urinary Troubles come, then Diabetes, Bright's Disease and shattered health.
