SMALL SCHOONERS SCARCE

The scarcity of small schooners was never so noticeable along the eastern Maine coast as this fall, when many freights have been offered in vain.

In some of the ports, such as Bangor, where there is plenty of water, the larger vessels serve all purposes, and the lack of the little two-masted is little or no hardship, but in ports such as Machias, where only vessels of small draft are available, much trouble has been experienced by men who wanted to ship away lumber, stone or other cargoes.

The passing of the two-masted coaster is perhaps more noticeable this year than ever before, on account of the brisk demand, but in spite of this demand, there seems to be little chance that new coasters will replace the old ones or that anything will be done to replenish the fast diminishing fleet. The demand for small vessels, while not so great as 20 years ago, is still considerable. Nevertheless no additions have been made to the fleet in twenty years, while every year sees a dozen or more wrecked or abandoned.—Bangor Commercial.

A TOTAL WRECK

HONG KONG, Sept. 20.—The British reserve sloop, Phoenix, which was reported ashore yesterday, is a total wreck.

QUIET IN THE FISH MARKET

Oyster Season is About to Commence—General Fish Supply is Only Fair.

"Only fair" can be said of the fish supply for this week, and Friday shoppers will have to look sharp for the "fast day" dinner. Mackerel are very scarce and the supply is rather doubtful, no figures being quoted for the present.

The oyster season is now about to open and raking will begin next week. The catch is governed entirely by the weather, and the price as well. The raking season will continue until the ice makes, when it will close again for a time.

DETAINED IN BOSTON

Armless and Legless Man who was Deported from Saint John Held Up at the Hub.

Held a virtual prisoner at the detention rooms on Long wharf, by the immigration authorities, awaiting papers from Washington, D. C., to admit him to the country for abolition purposes, is Randle, a Hindoo born without arms or legs, whose talents are considered wonderful. "Randle" was discovered about 12 months ago by Captain John Lewis Demarara, who, seeing the man's wonderful feats determined to exhibit him in the United States. When Randle arrived at St. John, N. B., he was ordered deported last February, and was taken back to Bermuda. Arrangements were then made with Colonel Stone of Austin & Stone's museum, and the man was brought to this city, this time on the Admiral Schley, only to be held up because the officials had no right to admit him under the law, which forbids a person from landing within one year from the date of his deportation as a contract laborer.

BOOM FOR ST. ANDREWS

Granite Works to be Established There—Another Granite Plant for Chamcook.

(St. Andrews Beacon) It is very probable that the plant of the Messrs. T. & M. O'Connell granite works of St. George will be removed to Chamcook.

R. T. Wilmot, who is organizing a company to take over the plant, was at Chamcook last week negotiating with Mr. Ransome for a lease of the site. There is a good water power at the place. It is also convenient to the railway and to the black granite quarries, from which it will likely draw its chief stone supply.

Messrs. S. L. Lynton and R. Keating, of Red Beach, Me., (formerly of St. George) have less than a year ago, at St. Andrews and intend entering upon the stone business. Both are expert granite men and know all the details of the trade.

OBITUARY

Thomas B. Mildon

The death occurred at his home at Weymouth N. S. last week of Thomas B. Mildon. He was the oldest resident of western Nova Scotia, being 90 years of age, and he has enjoyed the use of his faculties until recently. A remarkable fact is that death has not removed one of his children or grandchildren, all of the former having been present at the time of his death. Two of his sons—Frederick R. S. and W. S. were in business in Yarmouth for some years and married sisters, daughters of the late Nathaniel Travis, of Kemptville. W. S. Mildon is now a merchant of Eastport, Me.
