CONFERENCE OVER GERMAN PRISONERS IN AMHERST

(Amherst News)

General Otter accompanied by Major Oulton, Mayor Douglas and E. N. Rhodes, M. P., held a conference in Amherst this week with regard to the employment of the German prisoners on road work and on public property that would not interfere with local labor. J. L. Ralston, M. P., and R. S. Carter, M. P. P., also arrived and the matter was further discussed with them.

While final arrangements have not as yet been made we understand that there is a possibility of German labor being employed on the Dickey Park, the Hospital grounds, and some of the outlying streets of the town. This is work that would not in the ordinary course of events be reached in the next ten years by the town of Amherst. The prisoners are paid a nominal wage by the Imperial government which is charged to Germany and the final adjustment will be made after the war. A number of them may also be employed on the Experimental Farm, and, if the Loval Government so desires the labor can also be utilized on the roads in Cumberland. The town authorities, the local government or the Dominion government will not be asked to pay anything except perhaps to furnish the implements of labor. They will not be put at any labor that will in any way interfere with local labor, for instance, at the Experimental Farm they may be employed in clearing land from stumps and underbrush, work that would not otherwise be done.

Paper gloves and stockings have appeared in the principal European cities. It is said that the stockings are as durable as the ordinary articles. The paper of which they are made is, during the process of manufacture, rendered into a substance closely resembling wool, and is then woven and treated as ordinary wool.

MORE ARMY BOOTS MADE IN CANADA

Montreal, July 5—Ames Holden McCready, Limited, report that their factories are busy on war orders for the Canadian soldiers. These orders are a portion of those recently placed with various Canadian manufacturers by the War Purchasing Commission at Ottawa for Canadian troops now being outfitted.

This company have submitted a new pattern of army boot to the government, which has been approved and adopted as being the most suitable in point of fitting, comfort, and wearing qualities for the requirements of our Canadian soldiers. The boot in question is made of tan calfskin with double soles and Goodyear Welt sewn, and a steel plate on the heel.

It is expected that further orders will be placed at an early date, not only for the soldiers now being trained in Canada, but also for Canadians at the front who are requiring more boots and who, it is understood, much prefer the Canadian boot for comfort and service. Such action on the part of the authorities will be much appreciated by Canadian labor.

PARTED FRIENDS

There's no use in weeping,
Though we are compelled to part;
There's such a thing as keeping
A remembrance in one's heart.

There's such a thing as dwelling
On the thoughts ourselves have nursed,
And with scorn and courage telling
The world to do its worst.

In the evening when we're sitting
By the fire, perchance, alone,
Then shall heart with warm heart meeting
Give responsive tone for tone.

So there's no use in weeping,
Bear a cheerful spirit still;
Never doubt that fate is keeping
Future good for present ill.

BOSTON DOCTOR TELLS OF VICTIMS OF THE GERMAN POISON GAS

How intensely the English soldiers suffer who have been "gassed" by the Germans, is described by an eyewitness, Dr. Charles S. Butler, 257 Newbury street, Boston, who recently saw several victims at the Casino Hospital, Boulogne. He writes:

"At the 'Casino' Hospital in Boulogne, when I visited it in May, some gas cases had died; many other cases had improved enough to permit their evacuation to England; but others were yet under treatment. The colonel, medical officer in charge, explained to me the early difficulties in devising treatment for them; as well as the suffering of the men, during the week after being "gassed". He said the martality on the field of battle, in the trenches, had been over ten per cent., that those severe cases surviving long enough to be removed by stretcher bearers, were blue or black in the face; gasping for breath, and continually and painfully coughing from the poisonous gas irritation, and that if the stretchers were so lifted that the feet their heads were lower than their legs and body, then the lung secretion poured in a stream from the patients' mouths.

"When I passed through this hospital, delightfully situated on high ground overlooking the sea, the large, well ventilated wards were a pleasure to enter; the wounded were cheerful and under good care of the English nursing sisters. We soon came to a bed almost entirely canopied, where we saw a man propped up, breathing in short, shallow, difficult breaths, as if the next would be his last. He, the medical officer said was a mild case. His face slightly blue, his frequent cough and anxious expression made clear how he suffered. In reply to my question, he whispered with great difficulty that he was better today, but had much pain all around his chest, with every breath. Another soldier, a youth of eighteen years, showed worse effects, although 'gassed' six days before. His face was a dusky hue; his breathing, or better his gasping, was interrupted by painful coughing in a whisper he asked the doctor for something for greater relief.

"The medical officer said that these cases, seen that day, were, by comparison, mild; that many cases wheu first received from the front, were agonizing to watch; that no method of treatment could do more than partially relieve the acute suffering, andf that not one o these 'gassed' soldiers had a scratch or wound on his skin. The one thought of the men seemed to be that they had not had a fair chance to fight their enemy.

"The treatment of the gas poisoning is varied in different hospitals. At the 'Casino' at Boulogne, the patients have been kept in enclosed cages or under canopies and given oxygen and moist steam with menthol vapor. In severe cases the poison gasses have probably destroyed the delicate lung tissues, and little can be done for permanent cure."

The regular use of Abbey's Salt means relief from stomach trouble—it means bounding health and renewed mental vigor.

Abbey's Effer-vescent Salt

The "Salt of Salts"

is a highly palatable, granular preparation of salts extracted from juices of pure fresh fruits, containing in concentrated form the universally known medicinal value of those fruits.

A spoonful of Abbey's Salts taken on arising means 100% normal physical and mental efficiency for the day. Abbey's is the one effervescent Salt that will not make you choke or sneeze—for the Abbey granules sink to the bottom of the water and carbonise it from the bottom up. Powdered salt "fizzes" on the surface of the water. Test Abbey's for yourself. Sold by all druggists and guaranteed to give relief.
