THE sense of ownership takes a strong hold on a boy in his early "teens." It is the wise father and mother who will provide "a room of his own" for their boy—a "den" where he can entertain his chums, play games or do his studying.

An attic room can be prepared very quickly and at little expense by the use of GYPROC wallboard. GYPROC comes in broad, ceiling-high, panels which can be readily cut with a saw, to suit the occasion. Although sheets of solid rock, GYPROC is light in weight, easy to handle and can be nailed with ordinary nails as readily as lumber. You'll be surprised how quickly a room can be prepared with GYPROC. Call in your carpenter and get his figures and you will be amazed at the low cost. Read the list of the many other uses to which GYPROC can be put advantageously.
