MILK SITUATION WAS DISCUSSED

Question of Pasteurization Taken Up at Special Meeting of the Board of Health.

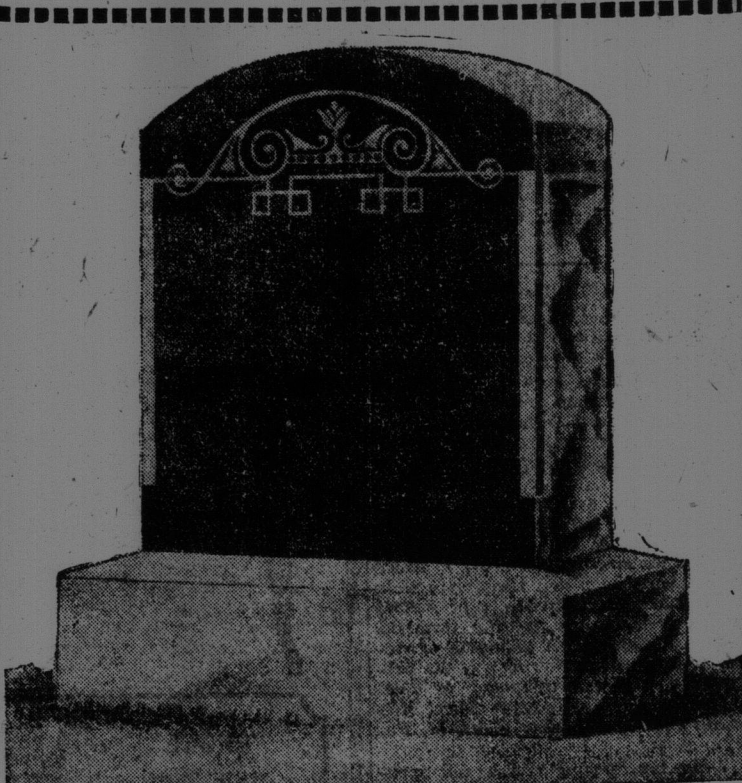

The milk situation was thoroughly discussed yesterday at a special meeting of the Board of Health. Inspector J. F. Tilley was instructed to go ahead and use his own judgment in cases requiring action without referring back to the board. Mrs. Edmund Flewelling, assistant local food inspector, told of cases in which storekeepers had refused to accede to the regulations and had been refused permits to sell milk. Mr. Tilley called the attention of the board to the fact that some of the dealers had not their wagons covered, and this would tend to keep a close check on matters and bring any culprit to speedy justice.

RECEIVE REPLIES ABOUT HYDRO

At a special meeting of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, Local 663, held last evening in the hall in Prince William street, with Alexander Irvine in the chair, a number of reports were received and correspondence read. Replies to letters sent to some Ontario towns were read. One from London told of the city making an offer to buy out the plant of the power company there at $116,000 when hydro was developed, but the offer had been refused. The city had then gone ahead and built its own line, and later the company had sold out to the city at the same price. It was announced that members of the local would hold a fair to help swell the sick fund of the union.

HYDRO WORK PROGRESSING.

The work of excavating for post holes for the electric distribution system in Cranston avenue was completed yesterday. The erection of poles was begun this morning. The line will be carried down Rockland road and Wall street across the bridge to City road, and then be carried north and south along City road. Wires will be strung as soon as possible and meters installed in houses that have been contracted for hydro, so that the benefit of the four-cent rate will be enjoyed in the very near future.

PREMIER VENIOT SPEAKS IN BOSTON

Tells of Resources in Province and About Facilities for Hunting and Fishing—Members Received by Governor Cox.

The New Brunswick Tourist Association's visit to Boston closed with a big meeting last evening in Ford Hall, at which Premier Veniot was the chief speaker. He gave facts and figures, writhed about eloquent language, explaining New Brunswick's situation and telling of what it had to offer. A squad of Boston reporters were at the meeting reporting proceedings, showing the interest the Boston trip had aroused. State Treasurer Jackson expressed the regret of Governor Cox at his inability to be present. J. Frank O'Hare, president of the Boston Intercolonial Club, went over the grim days of the war and added that a wonderful bond had united the two people. He told his audience that no place was more beautiful for a vacation trip than New Brunswick.

R. E. Armstrong, secretary of the Board of Trade, contributed a thoughtful address. He dwelt on the good opportunities for comfortable automobile travel in this province.

Governor Cox received the association members at noon at the State House and shook hands with all. The Governor was invited to visit New Brunswick in July.

The City and Canadian Club gave luncheon to the party at the Bellevue. Fred R. Basley, president, presided. A round of short speeches followed. Mayor Curley was the chief speaker. Others who spoke were: Charles H. McIntyre, a former Kings County man; Frank O'Hare, president of the Intercolonial Club; Howard Conney, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Hon. P. J. Veniot and E. A. Schofield.

About half of the New Brunswick party left for home on the Governor Dingley this morning.

PROSPECTIVE BRIDES ARRIVE

The steamer Athenia, which arrived in Quebec yesterday, brought no less than forty-seven prospective brides who have arrived in Canada to become wives of men located in Western Canada. It was learned from some of the party that they would have married previously in the Old Country but their future husbands preferred coming to Canada first and build suitable homes for their reception. "These homes are now ready and so are we" they remarked.

RED HAIR MAKES FOR POPULARITY, SCIENCE FINDS, BLUE EYES AID

London, May 20.—(By mail.)—It has always been mildly distinguished to have red hair, and science, through the investigation of Professor Karl Pearson into the relation of health and the physical and physical characteristics in school children, has discovered that it is also a short cut to popularity, reports The Westminster Gazette. The path, apparently, is made easier by the possession of blue eyes. Red-haired girls enjoy the advantage to a less marked degree than red-haired boys; but, on the other hand, they gain something in the estimation of their acquaintances by having wavy locks, which, unless a boy's hair is red, it is totally uninteresting to his own kind. Whether, as the professor believes, boys of nineteen feel the same indifference to the locks of a girl, is a little more doubtful, and we should expect a little more discrimination from the red-headed section of the community. Be that as it may, it is at least a less controversial matter than the relation of brains and athletic power. It will be a comfort to many a perplexed and dubious parent to reflect that the two are quite often found together. Though Professor Pearson is a little cautious he gives us to understand that it is the bright rather than the dull child who makes the best athlete—a conclusion which, if it is a little open to question whether intellectual progress follows naturally and inevitably upon the heels of devotion to games given for the red-haired.

AUTOGRAPH TELEGRAMS.
Service Opened Between Paris, Lyons and Strasbourg.

Paris, May 10.—(By Mail.)—The new service of autograph telegrams, by which facsimiles of the handwriting on the original message will be delivered to the addressee, will be opened between Paris, Lyons and Strasbourg on May 15.

The transmitting machine, which was invented by M. Bellini, has been installed in the Rue de Grenelle post office. The telegram is placed on a revolving cylinder. Over the surface of the paper runs a needle, which in its movements breaks and restores an electric current. Special ink is used in writing the telegram, so that the words are in slight relief above the surface of the paper. The delicate needle strikes the obstacle made by the letters, is jerked upwards and interrupts the electric circuit. These interruptions are all registered at the receiving end, and the result is that by an inverse process the exact pattern of the written telegram is reproduced and this "tele-autograph" is delivered to the addressee.

GEDDES NOT LEAVING U. S.
(Special Cable to the New York Times and Montreal Gazette.)

London, June 4.—Ronald McNeill, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, in the House of Commons today gave complete denial to reports that Sir Auckland Geddes was about to leave Washington. Asked by Captain Wedgewood Benn if any proposal had been made for changing the British representative at Washington, if so, who was to succeed Geddes, McNeill replied that the reports which had appeared in the press were entirely unfounded.
