THE WHOLE BODY NEEDS PURE BLOOD

The bones, the muscles, and all the organs of the body depend for their strength and tone and healthy action on pure blood.

If the blood is very impure, the bones become diseased, the muscles become enfeebled, the step loses its elasticity, and there is inability to perform the usual amount of labor.

The skin loses its clearness, and pimples, blotches and eruptions appear.

Hood's Serravallo makes pure blood. It is positively unequalled in the treatment of scrofula and other humors, catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling. Be sure to get Hood's and get it today. All druggists.

SENATOR ON WITNESS STAND IN BOLO CASE

M. Panoon testified as to the financial domestic wrongs committed against him by Bollo Panoon, and Madame Panoon corroborated him. The prisoner seemed to be deeply moved by the testimony of the Panoons, and said: "I have inflicted great wrongs upon the Panoon family, but the Panoons have forgiven me, and I have forgiven them. I have forgiven them, and I have forgiven them."

The attitude of Darius Panoon, co-defendant with Bollo, has remained the same throughout the trial. Since the trial began he has been granted a certificate of sanity by a doctor who examined him, but he still appears to be defective. Stole Uanon's Wife.

M. Panoon, who is an artist, testified that he had known Bollo since he was ten years old. He became Bollo's partner in various undertakings in Marselles, where he lost his fortune of 100,000 francs when Bollo disappeared with Panoon's wife, leaving Panoon liable for debts aggregating fifty thousand francs. The witness said he had paid off the debts.

Sixteen years later when he was penniless, Panoon testified he again met Bollo, and was weak enough to sign a paper declaring that he and not Bollo, had swindled a cherochoman.

Bollo, he swore, sent him to New York in March, 1917, to obtain from the A. M. Sinec Bank and Adolph Pavenstadt a statement of Bollo's account from 1914 to February, 1917. Panoon said he was asked by the prisoner to send Bollo this message: "We send your account from the first transfer in May, 1914, of $1,600,000 or $1,700,000 to the transfers of February, 1918, to the Royal Bank of Canada for the creation of a Cuban bank."

Pavenstadt told him, Panoon testified, that Bollo's request for the cablegram was impossible, and warned Panoon against Bollo. Panoon, whose wife returned to him after Bollo had abandoned her, concluded his testimony by saying: "Thanks to all this publicity my wife has lost twenty-six of the thirty pupils she had. She is almost blind and ruined, thanks to that citizen"—pointing to Bollo.

Admitting that he had done wrong to the witness Bollo contended that Pavenstadt had bribed Panoon. He then accused Panoon of being a traitor, and was reproved by the court.

The court room became silent as Madame Panoon was led to the stand. She is an instructor in elocution. Madame Panoon described how her infatuation for Bollo had ruined her life, how brutally Bollo had treated her, and how she won her husband's pardon.

President Voyer asked the witness if she recognized Bollo. She replied: "I am blind. I cannot see him now you."
