STILLMAN ESTATE LEFT TO FAMILY

Will of Broker Disposes of Propery Estimated at About $45,000,000 -Trust Funds for Children

The last will, testament of Jan Stillman, chairman of the Board of Directors of the National City Bank, New York, who died on March 16 last, was filed for probate this week. Disposing of an estate estimated to be worth from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000, the will creates five trust funds to be administer by four trustees for the benefit of Mr. Stillman's five children. Each of his two daughters, Elsie G. Rockefeller, wife of William G. Rockefeller, and Isabel G. Rockefeller, wife of Percy A. Rockefeller, is to have a life income from a trust fund of $8,500,000. These funds having been provided for, the trustees are then directed by the testator to divide all the residue and remainder of the property, both real and personal, into as many equal shares as Mr. Stillman had sons living, each share to constitute a trust living, each share to constitute a trust fund from which each son shall be paid a life income.

Mr. Stillman's sons are James A. Stillman, Charles Chauncey Stillman, and Ernest G. Stillman. Although the will does not specify the exact amount of the funds to be held in trust for the sons as it does in the case of the daughters, it was understood that the three trusts funds for the sons on the equal division of the residuary esate, after the funds for the sons on the equal division of the residuary esate, after the payment of the state and federal tax, would amount to about $7,500,000 each. Should the value of the estate prove to be not more than $40,000,000 the Federal tax will amount to $9,222,000 and the New York State tax to $1,600,000. 000. If on the final appraisal of the state, which is to take place within a year after the death of the deceased, the estate is valued at $50,000,000, the Federal tax will amount to $11,722,000 and the New York State tax $2,014,000.

No Bequests to Charity. The testator's widow, Mrs. James S. Stillman, is not mentioned in the will. It was said that Mr. Stillman more than It was said that Mr. Stillman more than a year ago had made a settlement on her which was more than equal to what her dowry would have amounted to in the present estate. No provisions are made for charity or to persons outside of the testator's five children. With the exception of $8,000, which the deceased directs the executors to expend in the proper preservation and care of his burial plot in Woodlawn Cemetery, the will keeps all the property of the estate, real and personal, in the possession of Mr. Stillman's immediate family. The personal property of Mr. Stillman, including personal effects, jewelry, and pictures, &c., is to be distributed according to the terms of the will personal effects. cording to the terms of the will per stirpes and not per capita, among Mr. Stillman's five children.

KEEP A PIG

It will help keep you, or pay for a Victory Bond

During the summer of 1917 conferences were held at various points in Can-ada for the purpose of discussing in-creased bacon production. Farmers and breeders were everywhere urged to keep live stock commissioner reports that we may confidently expect the number of hogs to be increased by 25 to 30 per cent during 1918. The first step towards an increase in our bacon supply has thus already been taken.

The next step is to see that these extra pigs are fed and fattened. The feed situation is acute. Many farmers who have been able to breed and winter an extra sow or two will not be in a positon to feed to a proper finish all the extra pigs. There are numerous house-holders in Canada who could help relieve this situation by keeping one or two pigs, which could be bought at weaning time, fed during the summer largely upon the garden and kitchen refuse, and finished off in the fall upon an increased meal ration.

There are thousands of people around towns and villages and in small settlements who could, and should, help in this way. It is past the time for "doing your bit;" it is now time to "do your utmost." Do not allow kitchen refuse, or garden weeds and waste to go unused. Feed them to a pig. A properly cared for pig is not a menace to public health. What you do in this matter may mean life or death to somebody "over there." Decide now and begin to get a place to keep a pig.

Time to Re-tire. Prospective Employer—Why did you leave your last place?
Chauffeur—The guy I worked for went crazy. Started shingling his house when his car needed new tires.
