Northumberland had shown that her people understood their own interests in sustaining the government.

The shirreff, Esq, in acknowledging the vote of thanks, said it was particularly gratifying to him to receive it especially as it was moved by the lesing candidate and was therefore a proof at least of the desire he had in this and all other elections to act with fairness by all parties. He appreciated the compliment very much.

This closed the proceedings.

The hall was engaged and paid for by the Chatham government committee. On Friday afternoon live hundred circulars were distributed in town. They were as the had in this and all other elections to act with fairness by all parties. He appreciated the compliment very much.
