Used Strong Expressions at BERLIN BELLES ROB Today's Meeting of the Alliance---Mr. Hatheway Ably Explained the Proposed New Arbitration Law.

The monthly meeting of the Evangelical Alliance was held in St. Andrew's church this morning. Rev. David Lang presided. At 10.30 o'clock the ministers transacted the routine work. Reports from the churches were received and other matters of minor importance discussed.

At 11 o'clock the meeting was opened to the public, and W. Frank Hatheway led in a very interesting and instructive discussion on "The Industrial Disputes Investigation Act." The purpose of the discussion was to consider the advisability of supporting this act which is now before the federal parliament. Mr. Hatheway thinks the act directly affects St. John, It would have done much good had it been in force when the recent 'longshoremen's have made it clear that many of these more and other caspenters, plumbers and other laborers of this class, but would be effective with the ship labore ers and other conditions of this proposed act, a board of arbitrators is chosen. This board has the power to examine witnesses and also to impose fines on any witness refusing to appear. The board is empowered to find a verdict, which is to be made public. No lawyers are to be allowed to take any part in the proceedings unless both sides agree that they be engaged.

Mr. Hatheway gave details of several clauses in the act. Any employe who goes on strike, contrary to the act, can be fined $10. No employe can go on strike unless the board of arbitration permits. This clause has been entered

The members of the board of arbitration will be given $15 per day while they had any question under consideration. The finding of the boards is not bound to be accepted by either party. The speaker said that the board of trade had taken this matter up a few years ago, but nothing definite was decided on.

The body of George S. Palmer, who met his death yesterday while temporarily insane, was discovered this morning shortly before eleven o'clock by George McKay, watchman of the Fertilizer Co.

PARIS, Feb. 3—An agricultural laborer named Joseph Sadon, of Tintury, in the department of Nievre, is reported to have won the $100,000 prize in the any part in the proceedings unless both sides agree that they be engaged.

Mr. Hatheway gave details of several clauses in the act. Any employe who goes on strike, contrary to the act, can be fined $10. No employe can go on strike unless the board of arbitration permits. This clause has been entered in order to prevent strikes while the board has the matter under consideration.

Persons who incite a strike are liable to a fine of 10 in the spot in the full view of the should not be as man because he joins a union, he is liable to a fine of $50. If an employer of sea man because he joins a union, he is liable to a fine of $50. If an employer of sea man because he joins a union, he is liable to a fine of $50. Mr. Hatheway here stated that men earning $2.50 and $3.00 a day could not pay these heavy fines, so the laborer's penalties should not be as heavy as the employer alike.

The last clause entitioned deals with a strike before the board of arbitration takes the matter up. The speaker then mentioned that it is a recognized fact that unlonism has been beneficial to the employe and employer alike.

The last clause cited by Mr. Hatheway was worded in a manner against unionism, If a company brings a party of foreigners here to work on the winders.

Another "hyena of charity" was detected in the act of pocketing money, and was compelled to dissorge her spoils on the spot in the full view of sortike are liable tools from the folds of her dress, and even irom the building amid body to strike a strike are liable to a fine of $50. If an employer so so not strike one of not less than $30 or more than $100. If an employer discharges a man because his employer engages a non-union man, he can be fined $50. Mr. Hatheway last could not pay these heavy fines, so the laborer's penalties should not be as heavy as the employer alike.

The last clause enterted the total to a fine of $50. If an employer strike with the secure parts and to fine of the winning ticket have not of the winning ticket have not of the winning ticket have Ormesson Consumptive Hospital lot-tery. His two tickets cost him 40 cents.

"I have most complete evidence," said Mr. Hatheway, "that the arbitration law which is in force in New Zealand has done much good for that country," said Mr. Hatheway, mentioning the fact that young girls are working in factories here for $1.50 per week. This, he says, is a disgrace to St. John.

In closing Mr. Hatheway said that in closing Mr. Hatheway said that in longshoremen's strike here a year ago, was justified.

Judge Forbes here claimed that no strikes were justified. Labor unions are disastrous to the community, said Hishonor. "I don't object to the men having a scale of wages, but I do object to the union picking out the men. If I have a house painted, I cannot choose the painter I want, the union does that."

which is exciting so much comment in London.

It is called "Blind," and is by Carl Hellem and Paul d'Estoc. A blind man has turned out of doors his son by a first wife because he suspects him to be in love with his second wife. The son returns, and is having a stormy love scene with his stepmother, when his father comes into the room.

The woman and her stepson remain motionless, and the blind man hears nothing, but he sits down just in front of the only door leading out of the room. He talks to his wife about his son, and from her nervousness guesses that something is wrong. "There is somebody in this room," he says, and he insists on his wife preceding him to the door which he locks behind him.

The son tries to get away, but his biind father, who was listening outside, rushes in with a revolver and shoots. He misses, but his shot brings in an old servant, who involuntarily calls out the son's name. "Then my suspicions were founded on truth!" cries the unhappy father, and he shoots him self.

The plece, which was admirably acted, made a very painful impression; but it is in order to receive painful impressions that people go to the Grande Guignoi.

THREE FIREMEN KILLED FOUR OTHERS INJURED

In a Bad Blaze Last Night at White

All Witnesses, Excepting Expert Alienists, Sent Out of Court----A Brief Address Opened the Case for the Prosecution.

PARIS, Feb. 2.—An extraordinary account of the desperate and successful struggle of a man of $5 with two burglars was given at the Assize Courts here yesterday.

M. van der Nest, who lives next door to Baron Rothschild at Bourlogne-surseine, was sleeping alone in his house, when he was awakened by the noise made by two burglars. In spite of his great age, he got out of bed, snatched up two revolvers and met the burglars at the top of the staircase.

The old man fired, wounding one of the burglars. He then flung the other weapon in the face of the other man, and immediately dashed at him. In the course of the desperate struggle which followed the old man was badly knocked about, but when neighbors, who heard the noise, arrived they found him sitting on one burglar and holding the other down by the hair. M. van der Nest had twenty-two severe bruises on his head and face, inflicted with a "life preserver."

In court yesterday, the old man, who was warmly complimented by the Judge, declared that he suffered no ill effects from his encounter. Except for a little deafness, he had never been

"The defendant turned and facing the audience held his revolver aloft with the barrel upside down to indicate that he had completed what he had intended to do. The big audience understood. There was no panic."

Mr. Garvan concluded by giving the details of the arrest of Thaw and his indictment by the prosecution.
