

FIFTY YEARS ON THE ROAD MANY STORIES TO TELL

Reminiscences of Mr. Robt. Turner, Who Holds Canadian Record as the Oldest Commercial Traveller.

Pew men are so generally known throughout Canada as Mr. Robert Turner, who at eighty-two years of age is living retired at 113 Bleeker street, Toronto. Mr. Turner's kindly face and genial ways have made him a great favorite, and everywhere he is welcomed as a veteran of the grip.

MR. ROBT. TURNER.

Like most commercial men, he is a good talker and can recall very many incidents of unusual interest which have come to his attention during his extensive career on the road. On receiving a copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes, Mr. Turner was reminded of his acquaintance with the famous Receipt Book author many years ago, and, believing that his recollections of Dr. Chase would be interesting to many thousands of people in Canada, he wrote the following letter for publication:

Toronto, Feb. 21, 1912.

Dear Sirs,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your Dr. Chase's Recipes, for which please accept thanks. You ask me if I knew Dr. Chase personally. The question rather amused me at first, until I remembered that I am now in my eighty-second year, and that it is fifty-six years that I kept a general store in the village of Norwich, and that Dr. Chase used to make regular appointments to meet his patients at many of the towns and villages between Buffalo and Detroit. Our nearest place to meet him was at Ingersoll, where people flocked to consult him from all the neighborhoods for many miles around. I knew Dr. Chase with his kind face and long flowing beard? Why almost everybody knew and believed in him, and he cured the most of them. He refused his advice and remedies to none that consulted him, and many a poor family could only pay him by blessing, but could not pay him in money. None were refused, and as to people's confidence in his skill I will illustrate this by a couple of instances that came under my own observation.

I drove up to a hotel to feed my team and have dinner. I knew the landlady and his wife, and inquired of their little 8 or 9 year old son where they were. "Gone to Ingersoll to see Dr. Chase." "What's the matter?" "Oh, mother has kidney trouble." "And do you think Dr. Chase can cure her?" "Yes, he's bound to cure her, or out in trying," said the boy.

Another instance. A man told me his father was being treated for bladder trouble by Dr. Chase, and if he could not cure him nobody else could. I knew of dozens of such cases that he cured. Dr. Chase's name was a household word, and hundreds regretted when his business got so large that he had to discontinue his trips. When he issued his first Receipt Book I bought one, and so did nearly everybody else that knew the kind old Dr. Chase, and that Receipt Book was consulted and acted on a great deal oftener than the family Bible.

I could mention many other instances of his wonderful cures, but think the above will convince anyone that Dr. Chase was a great successful medical doctor in his day, and this I was known then by thousands of people. The writer is personally known by thousands of people of the present day from Fort William to Montreal and from Niagara Falls to Chatham.

I have retired from business now and am the oldest commercial traveller in the Dominion, having been on the road from May, 1850, to June, 1910, fifty years, and the original manufacturer of "Turner's Tonic Bitters."

Yours truly, Robert Turner.

From the many who knew Dr. Chase personally there comes the same report. He was undoubtedly in love with his profession and ready and anxious to relieve all who came to him for help. Kindly in manner and upright in character, Dr. Chase made friends wherever he went, and by his wonderful success as a physician held the confidence of all who came in contact with him.

Victoria Bouquet for the Bride

The bride's bouquet is the crown point in her attire. The very elaborate bouquet of previous seasons has been supplanted this year by the prim Victoria bouquet with their quaint lace paper. So the up-to-the-minute June bride of 1912 will carry one. The bouquet illustrated is made of roses and lilies completely enclosed by maidenhair. The old fashioned lace paper is a sort of outside frill and holds the flowers and ferns closely in place.

The satin ribbon shower, the length of which depends somewhat on individual taste, is caught with lilies of the valley and maiden-hair sprays.

WEDDINGS

Goggin-Graves.

Albert, June 12.—One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place on the 12th inst., at the residence of Harvey Graves, when his daughter, Adella Etta, was united in marriage to Charles Guy Goggin, of Elgin. The ceremony which took place on the lawn beneath an arch of apple blossoms, was performed by Rev. J. M. Love. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Jer. W. Graves, looked very lovely in a gown of white satin de chene with lace bodice and veil, with orange blossoms, carrying a bouquet of white carnations, and attended to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, effectively rendered by Miss Grace McLennan, preceded by the little flower girls, Gardie Graves and Helen Tingley, both in white with pink bonnets. The maid of honor was Miss Bessie A. Graves, sister of the bride. She was charmingly gowned in pink silk veiled in beaded net and tiny pink roses. She wore a pink picture hat with large pink roses and carried a bouquet of apple blossoms. The groom was supported by his brother, Coy Goggin.

The popularity of the couple was testified by the numerous and valuable gifts. Among them were a cheque from the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Goggin, a silver service large parlor clock, and many other costly and beautiful from their many friends. The groom's present to the bridesmaid and flower girls, were pearl rings. They left next morning by train for Elgin where a reception was tendered them by the parents of the groom, the bride's travelling suit being Copenhagen blue and white picture hat with large willow plume.

The death of Mrs. Kingdon, wife of the Rt. Rev. Dr. Kingdon, who was for some years Bishop of Fredericton, will be heard with deep regret by many friends in Fredericton and St. John. Mrs. Kingdon's bright, unselfish disposition endeared her to all who came in contact with her and much sympathy goes out to her mother, Mrs. Beverly Robinson, her daughter, Mrs. Clements, and Miss Kingdon. The funeral took place from the Mission church, St. John the Baptist, on Wednesday afternoon. Interment at Fredericton. The many beautiful floral tributes showed the loving esteem in which she was held by her numerous friends.

Mrs. Alfred Porter was hostess at the tea hour on Tuesday afternoon in honor of one of Halifax's fair June brides, Mrs. Woodill. Mrs. Porter received her guests in the large parlour, the table being decorated with a garland of opalescent trimming and touches of lace. Mrs. Woodill wore a very handsome white satin veiled in white tulle, a violet toque with large white asps. The prettily appointed tea table was decorated with red and white tulips and was presided over by Mrs. Clarence B. Allen, who was gowned in black satin with white lace on the bodice, large black hat with pink roses and was assisted by Miss Hazel McLeod, and Miss Edith Smith. In the parlour were Miss Ethel McAvity, Miss Ruth Knight, Miss Nora Knight, Miss Lily Kimball, Miss Vera McLaughlin, the Misses Perkins, Miss Helen McAvity, Mrs. Kent Scovill, and Miss Stone.

The First Bride Cake.

The bride cake is an institution of extreme antiquity. In the early Roman period the principal part of a marriage ceremony consisted of the taking by two contracted parties of a cake made of flour, salt and water in the presence of a high priest and ten witnesses.

Nowadays there is a slight difference between the bride's cake, which is cut at the supper, and the wedding cake, which is given or sent to friends in small pasteboard boxes.

for which he has never been able to prove that he had given service. When these gentlemen tried to gloss over the short-comings of Mr. Copp, they showed their absolute insincerity in dealing with public matters.

Mr. Murray then announced that while he had carefully refrained from dealing with any personal matters during the campaign, and had never once said anything about his opponents, he could not forget how unduly Mr. Jones had been attacked by Dr. Pearson. Mr. Murray claimed that Dr. Pearson, according to his (Dr. Pearson's) own statement, supplied in a letter sent to the press had no quarrel with the Conservative party. He had had difference of opinion with persons who claimed to be the Conservative leaders of Sussex, but none with the party. Now he has brought his petty, personal quarrels into public affairs and asked the people of Kings to endorse his action. Mr. Murray declared that a full explanation of the acts was due from Dr. Pearson.

In closing Mr. Murray regretted that he did not have time to deal with some of the large issues before the public, and that he had been called upon to devote so much of his time to the ridiculously small questions which were being discussed by the opposition.

Great Victory.

He predicted a greater victory for the government on June 20th than in 1908, and advised those who wished to hear the great questions of the day discussed to attend the big political picnic at Long Reach. Mr. Murray was loudly cheered at the conclusion of his great address.

Dr. Pearson was the next speaker, and spent his time in trying to defend his position and trying to explain the statements he had made previous to his nomination, that the roads of the County of Kings were in good condition. The crowd, however, did not accept the reason given by Dr. Pearson at the value for which he placed it, and laughed as he tried to squirm out of it.

During the rest of his speech he again made certain further references to Mr. Jones, who made a spirited reply of five minutes. This brought the meeting to a close.

The hemorrhage proved to be of a very serious nature and she bled to death before medical aid could be summoned. Dr. P. D. "SALT RHEUM"

Had It On Hands For Two Years.

ITCHED SO DID NOT KNOW WHAT TO DO.

Tried Three Doctors and Went to Hospital.

All skin diseases are more or less occasioned by a bad state of the blood, and no one can expect to be free from some form or other of skin trouble unless the blood is kept in good shape. All skin diseases can be very easily cured by the wonderful blood cleansing properties of Burdock Blood Bitters.

This is due to the unrivalled purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters on the blood, coupled with the thorough manner in which it cleanses and expels the impurities from the body.

Mrs. Richard Conine, White Head, Que., writes—"I have been bothered with salt rheum, on my hands, for two years, and it itched so I did not know what to do. I tried three doctors, and even went to Montreal to the hospital without getting any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got three bottles, and before I had the second used I found a big change, and now to-day I am cured."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for about 35 years and is manufactured only by The T. M. B. Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

I went to the Islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon and met an old fisherman named La Pape. His limbs were stiff from Rheumatism and I gave him some Gin Pills. I met him again in a few days and he told me he could lift his arm, which he had not been able to do for ten years."

Mr. Murray then took up the question of the public debt, and showed that while the debt of the province had been increased by about eight hundred and eighty thousand dollars, the greater part of that amount was to meet obligations fastened upon the province by the old government. Mr. Hazen had found these contracts waiting him when he assumed office and there was nothing else for him to do but to carry them out to the letter. As far as the present government is concerned it had only increased the public debt by one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000), an amount which was expended on permanent bridges throughout the province.

Mr. Murray then took up the matter of what was said about his friend Mr. Jones, and submitted that they were unfair. He had known Mr. Jones to be one of the cleanest men in the County of Kings, and he knew of the great sacrifice he had made on behalf of his county. While the opposition candidates had attacked Mr. Jones for supplying certain articles, the getting of which resulted in great saving to the county, they want to forget that Mr. Copp, their King, and the Moses who was to lead them out of the desert, had been one of the biggest grafters under the old regime, and a constant defender against the independence of parliament act.

A lawyer, and one not generally expected to deal in lumber, he supplied ties for the Intercolonial Railway, had been in bridge construction for the provincial government; had been paid for legal services from several sources, and had drawn an amount from the Central Railway
