BADGES GIVEN TO RELATIVES OF SOLDIERS

Patriotic Service in Stone Church last evening - Patriotic Emblems distributed.

A patriotic service for all soldiers' wives and mothers of the city of St. John was held last evening in St. John's (Stone) church concluding with the presentation to the wives and mothers small celluloid cuttings, designed a khaki-clad Canadian soldier at the charge. Owing to a break in the machine which manufactures the buttons which were to be presented these duplicates were sent to the committee here and can be exchanged as soon as the buttons arrive. The buttons are designed with the same cutting but have a superscription reading "I have a man at the front." After the regular service those mothers and wives on presentation of the identification forms as a distinguishing mark of their sacrifice for the Empire received these badges and upwards of one hundred and fifty were given out.

Honorary Capt. Rev. V. R. Jarvis gave the second of his addresses on "The Soul of the Nation." He welcomed and congratulated those present who had sacrificed their boys and husbands to the splendid cause. In his lecture he pointed out that the soul of the nation is at stake and in the soul lies the liberties we cherish and which our forefathers fought for many years ago. "We who cannot go can accomplish much through prayer. The state may call for more men and money but the church calls for a wider revival of prayer."

Other features of the service were organ prelude, Queen of Sheba, pro-cessional march (Gonod), short or- gan recital, Fantasia on "O Sanctissima" from Cecilia Marners' hymn (Luz), "Moonlight" (Finckel), anthem "The Day is Past and Over" (Marby), postlude grand offertorio in D (Battiste). God Save the King was sung as the closing hymn. D. Arnold Fox, organist.

Major McLean, D.S.O. According to an Ottawa despatch to the Montreal Evening News, Major C. W. McLean received the Distinguished Service Order for his skill in commanding "A" Battalion of the Royal Horse Artillery during the recent great British drive. It is understood that an important consideration was the fact that, although Major McLean was wounded in the arm, he remained on duty at the observation post for two days. Then he went to England to have his injury looked after. He was entitled to two months' leave, but he declined to take it, rushing again to the front after an absence of only four days. Major McLean is a true soldier.

Recruiting Saturday Five applications for enlistment were made at the recruiting rooms in Hill street on Saturday. The unfavorable weather probably caused a falling off of the number seeking enlistment, but it is thought that in view of the increasing interest in the present campaign a good number of men will sign on this week. William Marshall of St. John and Alexander Howe of Weisford were amongst those who enlisted on Saturday in the 104th Battalion which it is anticipated will soon be up to full strength.

PATRIOTIC ADDRESSES AT MEETING YESTERDAY

Opera House filled with enthusiastic crowd which hears many things concerning the cause of England—Patriotic Songs.

There was a fairly large gathering at the recruiting meeting in the Opera House yesterday afternoon. Addresses were given by Ven. Archdeacon Raymond and Magistrate Ritchie. A. Belding presided. A pleasing feature of the evening was the singing of patriotic songs which, under the leadership of E. Scott Peacock, sang three patriotic numbers. "O Canada," "The Battle Song," and "Rule Britannia," the audience joining in the chorus of the latter. Recruiting officers and a medical examiner were present but no recruits were signed on.

Mr. Belding before introducing Dr. Raymond, said he had spent some time at the recruiting office during the day to see the men of the 52nd Battalion, who had been supplied with refreshments and were much pleased with the reception given to them. "They are a nice looking body," he remarked, "and the Governor General says they are one of the finest battalions mobilized in Canada. About half of them are native born Canadians. There are also many English, Irish and Scotch in their ranks as well as several men from the United States, who have come back to fight for Canada and a number of Indians. I hope every citizen will use them as well as possible. We are told that another 4,000 men must come from New Brunswick before the spring and I feel sure the province will be equal to the task."

Dr. Raymond said in part: "This is not so much a time for words as for deeds. There was a time when a man would wear the King's uniform for no very special reasons, but this is a time when the uniform may be worn for a great and well-defined purpose; the time has come for serious work. It may be that men of even sixty years would be called upon to fight the enemy. I have been much struck by the form. I have been much struck by the form. I have been much struck by the form."

The bugle calls for action, for our country needs men. Many have been thinking lightly of the facts presented to us, but they have begun to realize the danger confronting us. We can never allow the German cause to prevail in Canada. The same old flag that waves over other parts of the Empire must not be allowed to fall here. The honor of the nation is at stake. The dominating ambition of the Kaiser has been proved to us in the logic of events brought forward since the war began. It is necessary that we should understand the unscrupulous character of those who are opposed to us. But we are not afraid of man to man to face the Germans anywhere, but it must not be forgotten that they are trained soldiers.

"Today the navy is still mistress of the sea; today that 'contemptible little army' is still ready for the fray. It is a question of our national existence now; we must keep hammering away at getting into the minds of our people that there can be no holding back. Mothers, wives, fathers, all of us, must be willing to make sacrifices. We must bring the people face to face with the question: 'Will you, or will you not, play the man?' If there are any who will not do so they may be made to play the part. As to the conscription bill it never will come to St. John, and I am glad to think how much we have been encouraged of late by greater and more active interest in our responsibilities. The best soldiers have often been the very men who have experienced a difficulty in coming forward, but once accustomed to the conditions of warfare they have proved themselves to be men in every way.

"Canada's day as a part of a great Empire is in the balance. If we do our part now, engage to sink or swim for that Empire I believe the end of the conflict will be in eight within twelve months. Should we not, then, rise to the occasion and put into the cause every effort within our power? Every business man should realize that he has got to do something for the cause. We cannot help thinking that we are not doing everything possible. Our feelings in future will be either those of satisfaction or humiliation according to what we have done. Will you be able to say 'I did my little bit?' I believe the men who will follow those who have already gone will do as well as they have done. Many of our boys who go forward may never come back they will not have died in vain. Let us give up our jobs and in God's good time victory will be ours."

For Greed Magistrate Ritchie in the course of his address said, "In the scripture reading this morning the words 'an enemy hath done this' much impressed me. What has the enemy done? Was it for equality, righteousness, Christianity? Was it not for greed? Against whom has Germany been planning? Against nations that have done nothing against that country. She had been preparing for this war for a long time; she intended to have war and so went to work. She knew she had a treaty with Belgium, but it was only a 'scrap of paper' they said. What did Great Britain say? This: 'Don't put one foot on Belgian soil because if you do you will have to account to us.' There was the treaty and Protestant England came forward and said: 'Don't you dare to interfere with little Catholic Belgium.' This is no time because England hasn't pleased everybody in bringing up and little old grudges. We should think now only of what England has done for us."

"Whether the war is a good or in different war we want every man to feel that it is a war and that Canada, including New Brunswick are at war. This is no time to discuss all the causes of the conflict. Isn't the Kaiser a murderer, a baby killer. We have no time for anything now except the business of Great Britain. If any people have good reason now to stick to their country and their country's flag it is ourselves. We are the freest country on earth and as loyal a people as any in the world, but democratic, a 'common people.' If you take out of the country the 'common people' you won't have much good stuff left."

"When the 26th marched through the streets I could not help thinking what a fine body of men they were. Don't you think those men deserve your praise. They have already shown that they know their duty. What can anybody do but duty? If the individual does his duty should we not put him on the back and say 'Well done?' But I believe some of our boys have not taken the present situation seriously. I would say to you who are hesitating: 'Think if St. John were attacked how would it be with us?' Germany was offering $100,000 to the city and would come here if she could. Then enlist under the old flag with its crosses of St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick—emblems of Christianity."

The meeting terminated with a few remarks from the chairman and the national anthem.

Given a Wrist Watch Gunner Walter G. Campbell of the Siege Battery was the recipient of a handsome wrist watch with illuminated dial on Saturday morning from his former employer, A. W. Adams. Gunner Campbell was in the employ of Mr. Adams for several years and was well known and liked throughout the city and will carry with him when he goes the best wishes of all his friends for success and a safe return.

With 52nd Now Among the officers who were heartily welcomed to St. John on the arrival of the 52nd Battalion yesterday morning was Lieut. B. C. Churchill. About five years ago Lieut. Churchill was a member of the editorial staff of one of St. John's newspapers and when he enlisted with the 52nd last spring he resigned from an excellent position on the News at Port Arthur.

Given Signet Ring A very pleasant evening was spent on Friday when friends of Gunner Albert Drake of the No. 4 Overseas Siege Battery met at the home of Miss Elsie Martin and presented him with a beautiful signet ring on the eve of his departure for overseas. The presentation was made by W. Thompson. After games and refreshments the party broke up after wishing Gunner Drake all good luck and a safe return home again.

MR. SAUNDERS TELLS STORY OF THAT BRIDGE

Terms of Contract were not carried out—Payment held back on that account

A week or two ago the Times in an endeavor to make political capital, printed a story with regard to the construction of a bridge a couple of years ago in No. 1 division of the Parish of Greenwich, Kings County. The intimation was that Edgar M. Day, who had built this bridge, was unjustly refused payment by the Provincial Government, and charges were made at the time reflecting on the reputation of certain people involved. The supervisor of that parish, J. T. Saunders, has given The Standard a statement with respect to the matter which puts the affair in a very different light. Mr. Saunders says that "through the efforts of George B. Jones, of Apohaqui, a special grant was secured for the construction of a bridge over 'Weldon Hollow' in Greenwich parish, and that in the usual way this job was sold by Mr. Saunders at auction and was secured by Edgar M. Day, 'who had done a considerable amount of work in the past years for different governments. A contract was signed by Mr. Day, but this contract he did not see fit to observe. The specifications called for the construction of a bridge eighteen feet wide. Mr. Day built a bridge four feet narrower than was specified. The wall is 'faced' instead of being laid with cement. The return wall to the bank is not laid with cement as was required. The stringers are not eighteen feet long as ordered, but are some feet short of that measurement. They are not smoothed on top as required by the contract."

"The approach is not of laid stone and cement as specified, but is of sawdust and mud. Inspector Edward Webb of Kings County described this 'bridge' as the poorest job he had ever seen, and declared that the contractor was not justified in receiving one cent of money because of the fact that the contract and specifications were absolutely ignored."

"A group of men from Brown's Place, who made it their business to visit this bridge, and who know something of what is required, expressed similar opinions. This bridge should have been finished on July 10th, 1913, but on July 20th, ten days after the expiration of the contract, it was necessary for persons attempting to pass over it to remove stones from the roadway in order to let the teams get by. Mr. Saunders declares that Mr. Day's statement to the effect that 'extra work was required on this bridge' is utterly false."

The contract price was $104.00 and in order to have the matter closed up Mr. Saunders has offered Mr. Day $60.00 in settlement although not admitting any liability whatever on the part of the parish. In so far as the government is concerned no members of the government had any knowledge of the work done. It was a matter of detail in road construction and would not come before the government until the bills were paid."

Judgment Reserved. F. R. Taylor, K. C., has returned from Ottawa where he had been before the Supreme Court with the appeal case of Jones vs. Burgess. Mr. Taylor appeared for Mr. Burgess, who appealed from the N. B. Court of Appeal; D. Mullin, K. C., appeared for Mr. Jones. Judgment was reserved.

FUNERALS YESTERDAY. The funeral of the late Miss Jane Lockhart took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of Mrs. O. H. Warwick, 11 Orange street. Service was conducted by Rev. W. H. Sampson and Rev. Hammond Johnston, interment being at Fernhill.

The funeral of Charles Frederick Larkins, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Larkins, took place yesterday afternoon from 244 Duke street, West St. John. Service was conducted by Rev. W. H. Sampson, interment taking place in Cedar Hill cemetery.
