The two letters were rolled up in a peculiar way, it. the plan: so that when witness unrolled the plan, the letters remained in witness's hand, and could not very well be seen unless it was previously known they were there—witness asked prisoner what the plan meant?—thinking at first sight it was askethen of a fuling house about which prisoner has specien before this to witness; prisoner answerde, '94 ke knew all about it; 'tait some enemy had done it?', meaning had put the plan and letters among his papers—prisoner could not then have known the contents of the papers yilled up in the plan unless he had been previously acquainted with them—asked prisoner who Roston was ??'—asid 'she did not know.'?
—Witness then told prisoner that from the sature of those letters and papers, he must search his trank—prisoner said he had none—his trunk was at Drummondville—witness had seen a red trunk frequently in prisoner's room before this—witness said that if prisoner was found there, it would be greatly in his favort—but quite the contrary it he refused—did not find the trunk —prisoner when asked what he meant by these papers being put there by an a enemy, replied, "Oh it will all be explained presently."

The rest of the evidence for the Crown went only to corroborate that of Major Ma-Gaarus, with the addition that the prisoner asked to be put orderly at Government House, in February last, which was refused to him.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—On the night of the 3rd instant, a man named Charles Taylor, being rather intoxicated, inquired of a person he met, if he could inform him where he could find lodgings for the night. This person told Taylor, that if he would go along with him he would procure him lodgings; to this he assented, and they proceeded in the direction of the Tanneries, until they came to a lone-some part of the road, he knocked down Taylor and robbed him of 12s. 6d., all the money he had. bed him of 12s. 6d., all the money he had. Or Sunday last, about half past seven into morning, an apparent attempt was made to assassinate Mr. Donald Brown, as he set in his own house, in Nazareth Street, Griffintown. Mr. Brown is well known as a loyal man, and as a Captain of Volunteers, doing duty last winter in Col. Maitland's Battation. The first shot fired passed below Mr. Brown's left arm and right side, struck the stove, and entered the front room. Mr. Brown rushed out at the back door to see who had fired, when a second and right side, struck the stove, and entered the front room. Mr. Brown rushed out at the back door to see who had fired, when a second shot passed close to his face, and was found in a room adjoining the kitchen, about 6 feet from where the first shot entered. Mr. Brown saw the smoke, and discovered four men on the back gallery of another house, who were reloading the discharged pixtol. This they finished, and fired a third shot in the same direction. Mr. Brown having applied to the police, three of the men were at once secured, and ultimately the fourth was found concealed in the garret. They have all lour been committed for trial. The first shot fired very narrowly missed one of Mr. Brown's children. The names of the prisoners are Antoine Laurent, Louis Lacoube, Eugesipe Consineau, and Joseph Langevin, bargemen.—Montreal Transcript of Tuesday.

BEFORE HIS MONOR JUDGE R'LEAR.

Slewart Versus Grogan—Caim. Con.

The Attorney General, for the plaintiff, stated the case—proved the marriage, and that the parties lived happily together as man and wife—put in certain letters in the handwriting of the defendant, from the tenor of which the improper connexion was annatent—the defendant. proper connexion was apparent—'he defend-ant, a Lieutenant in the 32d Regt. of Foot, ant, a Lieutenant in the 32d Regt. of Foot, has no other property than his commission, worth about £720—proved that the issue of the marriage was three children, the eldest four years, the youngest sixteen months—all girls, now in charge of the plaintiff.

The Solicitor General, for the defence, addressed the jury with more than his usual force and elequence in mitigation of damages; the defendant having already met the plaintiff in the field, and stood two shots without returning either; and being desirous to make the unfortunate cause of the action, the only reparation now in his power.

His Honor the Judge charged the jury in a strain of high moral dignity—observing that in assessing damages in such cases, the jury should consider the wrong done to the plaintif—the injury inflicted on society in general—and the loss sustained by the infant children of the fostering care of a mother—and should give such an amount, as might have the effect of deterring others from carrying misery and shame into peaceful and happy families.

The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff with £600 damages.

The case was conducted throughout with a praiseworthy regard to propriety and decorum.—Ibronto Patriot.

The Army. The 71st Highland Light Infantry, we learn,

The 71st Highland Light Infantry, we learn, will leave their present barracks, in town, some day this week, and will proceed to Chambly; but we understand that their head-quarters will move to St. John's during the winter, whenever the new barracks at that post are ready for their reception.—Montreol Gacette.

The arrangement for forwarding two companies of the 11th Regument, by steamboat, to River du Loup on their route to Madawaska, which we noticed on Tuesday, has since been altered. We understand that one company only, augmented to 100 men, is at present to noceed to that quarter, and they will go by land. Their departure is, we believe, fixed for to-morrow (this day.) A Courier arrived yesterday, in the Lady Colborne from Montreal who was said to be the beater of despatches to Sir John Hervey: he preceeded immediately on his road to Fredericton.—Mercury.
