Let us no more seek our own ease, self-agrandizement, and glory, since Jesus sought our salvation through the agony of the cross. 5. Since it cost so much to redeem us from sin, let us hate sin with a holy and perpetual hatred.

... Look at the serpent that the serpent may not harm you. Look at death, that death may not harm you. Look at death, that death may not harm you. But at whose deaths? At the death of him who is the Life. Christ, our Life, died on the cross, and in his death death died; Life by dying destroyed death; Life by dying swallowed up death; Death died in Christ.—Aug.

CLEMENTS, Dec. 28, 1859. This is to certify to the public, that I was taken with typhus fever which brought me very low. I was then under Mrs. Eleanor Gates' care, and taking her medicine; the fever broke, and I was restored to better health than I had enjoyed before. My brother was also taken at the same time with the same complaint.
