A Young Lady's Soliloquy.

Uselessly, aimlessly drifting through life, What was I born for? "For somebody's wife." I am told by my mother. Well, that being true, " Somebody" keeps himself strangely from view; And if naught but marriage will settle my fate, I believe I shall die in an unsettled state. For, though I'm not ugly-pray, what woman

You might easily find a more beautiful phiz; And then, as for temper and manners, 'tis plain He who seeks for perfection will seek here in

For the Provincial Weslevan. Bible Riddle.

" Qual in Buccam venerit scribits."-CICERO. Hitherward-Hitherward. List to my story, Full of deep wonder, Ancient and gory! Full of God; glory! Riddle my riddle, And I will excuse you But if you're not able Perhaps I'll abuse you:

My master was lowly To whom I belonged Still I am exalted By fine trumpet-tongued. None ever knew him Or heard of his name ; Yet long as the world lasts

Shall be my fame. Despised and destroyed. And clean cast away, 'Twas a prophet who rais'd me From the dust where I lay. I was not my own.

But belong'd to another, Was bone of his bone, And so was my brother We worked night and day And ground all our bread. The' I was not myself Until I was dead Then God did exalt me. And gave me such power,

That it made me a wonder From that very hour. When living I drank water more and more, When dead I yielded it but not before; When I ving I was harmless as could be, When dead my teeth were gorg'd with human that, and gore.

And what is more of the mystery I saved the prophet's life, When he fainted from the strife, Though he had flung me away L ke a broken-handled knife. Yet he spike of my name, And gave me my fame, For by me he'd saved Israel from fetters and from shame. So riddle my riddle Which needs but small brains, And if you can't guess it I am yours for your pains. Jacksonville, N. B.
